Gaza In The Early Sixth Century:

Christian Gaza In Late Antiquity Brouria Bitton Ashkelony, Arie Kofsky, 2004-01-01 This valuable collection of thirteen studies provides an overview of recent research on central issues concerning the history of late antique Gaza. Several essays address various aspects of the continuity of pagan culture in Christian Gaza: festivals, spectacles, and the classical legacy of the fifth and sixth centuries, thus highlighting the public life of the city as a unique synthesis of the new and old worlds. Several articles deal with central topics pertaining to the monastic life developed in the region of Gaza and its vicinity between the fourth and seventh centuries. More specifically, they explore the rich correspondence of Barsanuphius and John, the spiritual leaders of this monastic community. Two papers furnish an archaeological survey of the monasteries of Gaza and a discussion on the geographical and administrative aspects of its territory. Certain articles focus on the anti-Chalcedonian resistance of this monastic center in the wake of the council of Chalcedon, while others tackle the change of its stance in the time of Emperor Justin (518-527). In sum, this book covers a relatively neglected chapter in the complex and fascinating Christian history of the Holy Land.

This period saw the re-establishment of the Roman Empire, its conversion to Christianity, and its replacement in the West by Germanic kingdoms, the continuing Roman Empire in the Eastern Mediterranean, the Persian Sassanian Empire, and the rise of Islam. Consisting of over 1.5 million words in more than 5,000 A-Z entries and written by more than 400 contributors, it is the long-awaited middle volume of a series bridging a significant period of history between those covered by the acclaimed Oxford Classical Dictionary and The Oxford Dictionary of the Middle Ages. The scope of the Dictionary is broad and multi-disciplinary, across the wide geographical span covered from Western Europe and the Mediterranean as far as the Near East and Central Asia. It provides succinct and pertinent information on political history, law, and administration, military history, religion, and philosophy, education, social and economic history, material culture, art, and architecture, science, literature, and many other areas.
