Handbook Of Social Services For Asian And Pacific Islanders:

Handbook of Social Services for Asian and Pacific Islanders Noreen Mokuau, 1991-11-30 This handbook emphasizes culturally sensitive social services for Asian and Pacific Islanders. It integrates conceptual information with concrete hands-on application of skills. The book is divided into three parts: 1 the nature and scope of social services for Asian and Pacific Islanders, 2 Asian and Pacific Islander populations, and 3 special issues and problems. The first section establishes a foundation for culturally sensitive practice through an overview of all Asian and Pacific Islander groups. It presents a framework for appropriate intervention with these populations and details the interface of western and eastern psychologies. Section two specifically focuses on seven of the largest Asian and Pacific Islander populations in the United States: the three largest Asian American groups (Chinese, Filipino, and Japanese), the three largest Pacific Islander groups (Native Hawaiians, Samoans, and Chamorros), and the newest refugee group (Vietnamese). The contributors provide in-depth information on topics critical to culturally sensitive practice, such as history, sociodemographic description, values, and behavioral norms, and profiles of social and psychological problems. They then discuss appropriate social service intervention. Finally, section three addresses special problems and issues confronting Asian and Pacific Islanders in contemporary society, such as family violence, aging, and social literacy. It is projected that in the year 2030, one of every three Americans will be a person of color. It is essential that social and human service educators and providers begin to examine critically those components that constitute culturally sensitive practice for a historically neglected population. This book will be an essential part of that process. Handbook of

Mental Health and Acculturation in Asian American Families Nhi-ha Trinh, Yanni Chun Rho, Francis G. Lu, Kathy Marie Sanders, 2009-01-21 Asian Americans are the fastest growing minority group in the United States. When Asian immigrants arrive in the United States, they regularly encounter a vast number of difficulties integrating themselves into their new culture. In Handbook of Mental Health and Acculturation in Asian American Families, distinguished researchers and clinicians discuss the process of acculturation for individuals and their families, addressing the mental health needs of Asian Americans and thoroughly examining the acculturative process, its common stressors, and characteristics associated with resiliency. This first of its kind, multi-dimensional title synthesizes current acculturation research while presenting those concepts within a clinical framework. In addition to providing an in-depth look at both past and present research and offering directions for future topics to explore, the book also offers a range of practical tools, such as research scales to measure levels of acculturation, interview techniques, and clinical approaches for special populations, including children, the elderly, and their families. Thought-provoking and informative, Handbook of Mental Health and Acculturation in Asian American Families will enhance the understanding of the clinical and sociocultural problems Asian Americans face, providing clinicians with all the necessary insights to better care for their patients. Responding to Pacific Islanders, 1998 Asian and Pacific Islander Americans Daya Singh Sandhu, 1999 Scholars of psychology, education, social work, and counseling examine such topics as transracial adoption women's issues substance abuse and the racial experiences of 43 different ethnic groups often statistically lumped together Among the specific topics are Asian Indian women's bicultural experience political ethnic identity versus cultural ethnic identity ethnic variations in the adaptation of recent immigrant Asian adolescents regarding and sexual abuse

Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Barbara Berkman, 2006-02-09 The Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging is the first reference to combine the fields of health care aging and social work in a single authoritative volume These areas are too often treated as discrete entities while the reality is that all social workers deal with issues in health and aging on a daily basis regardless of practice specialization As the baby boomers age the impact on practice in health and aging will be dramatic and social workers need more specialized knowledge about aging health care and the resources available to best serve older adults and their families The volume's 102 original chapters and 13 overviews written by the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars in the United States and across the world provide social work practitioners and educators with up to date knowledge of evidence based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and their families new models for intervention in both community based practice and institutional care and knowledge of significant policy and research issues in health and aging A truly monumental resource this handbook represents the best research on health and aging available to social workers today

Asian American and Pacific Islander Children and Mental Health Frederick T. Leong, Linda Juang, Desiree B. Qin, Hiram E. Fitzgerald, 2011-05-26 This first of its kind two volume set examines physical psychological social and environmental factors that undermine or support healthy development in Asian American children How do skin color culture racial and ethnic identities politics economics and environment influence children's mental health and academic success Asian American and Pacific Islander Children and Mental Health spotlights these forces and more This unique two volume work examines a wide range of factors that affect children including family conditions and economic status child abuse substance abuse gangs and community stability as well as prejudices such as the common expectation that Asian Americans are a model minority and their children whiz kids Since education is key to success contributors consider the factors affecting Asian American children largely in the context of educational readiness and academic adjustment However the set is not limited to exploring problems It also looks at factors that help Asian American children be mentally healthy engaged and successful at school and in later life Volume one of the set explores development and context while volume two looks at prevention and treatment

Handbook of Domestic Violence Intervention Strategies Albert R. Roberts, 2002-03-28 Public awareness regarding the life threatening nature and intense traumatic impact of domestic violence has substantially increased in the past decade. At the same time, dramatic changes have taken place regarding criminal justice and social work policies and practices applied to domestic violence intervention. And while the prevalence of domestic violence has declined slightly, national estimates still indicate that every year approximately eight million women are abused, battered, stalked, or killed by their husbands, boyfriends, and other intimate partners. Featuring cutting edge research and expert intervention strategies, the Handbook of Domestic Violence Intervention: Strategies, Policies, Programs, and Legal Remedies is designed to prepare professionals to swiftly and compassionately meet the multiple needs of women and children who have suffered from domestic violence. This original and indispensable volume focuses on the numerous advances in legal remedies, program developments, treatment protocols, and multidisciplinary perspectives. It is a comprehensive guide to the latest research, public policies, and legal and criminal justice responses covering federal and state legislation as well as trends in police and court responses to domestic violence. This is the first book to include court-based technology developments and new research related to the duration and intensity of woman battering. Highlighting actual cases and promising programs, the handbook also addresses important social work issues including risk assessment protocols, a new five-level continuum of woman battering intervention methods, and treatment models. The book also examines the myriad legal issues and health problems facing the most neglected and vulnerable battered women. Written by expert practitioners and leading scholars in the field, the book's 23 chapters provide rich insights into the complexities and challenges of addressing domestic violence. This timely and definitive handbook is recommended for students, clinicians, policy makers, and researchers in the fields of social work, victim services, criminal justice, hospital administration, mental health, counseling, public health, pastoral counseling, law enforcement. In fact, this volume is a critical resource for all helping professionals who are assisting abused women in escaping and remaining free from violent relationships.

Best Practices for Social Work with Refugees and Immigrants Miriam Potocky, Mitra Naseh, 2019-10-29

Social work practice with refugees and immigrants requires specialized knowledge of these populations and specialized adaptations and applications of mainstream services and interventions. Because they are often confronted with cultural, linguistic, political, and socioeconomic barriers, these groups are especially vulnerable to psychological problems such as anxiety, depression, alienation, grief, and post-traumatic stress disorder, as well as concerns arising from inadequate health care. Institutionalized discrimination and anti-immigrant policies and attitudes only exacerbate these challenges. The second edition of Best Practices for Social Work with Refugees and Immigrants offers an update to this comprehensive guide to social work with foreign-born clients and an evaluation of various helping strategies and their methodological strengths and weaknesses. Part 1 sets forth the context for evidence-based service approaches for such clients by describing the nature of these populations, relevant policies designed to assist them, service delivery systems, and culturally competent practice. Part 2 addresses specific problem areas common to refugees and immigrants and evaluates a variety of assessment and intervention techniques in each area Using a rigorous evidence based and pancultural approach Miriam Potocky and Mitra Naseh identify best practices at the macro meso and micro levels to meet the pressing needs of uprooted peoples The new edition incorporates the latest research on contemporary social work practice with refugees and immigrants to provide a practical up to date resource for the multitude of issues and interventions for these populations Social Work Practice with Immigrants and Refugees Pallassana R.
