Handbooks of the Flora of Papua New Guinea John S. Womersley, E. E. Henty, 1978 Handbooks of the Flora of Papua New Guinea, 1981 Handbooks of the Flora of Papua New Guinea E. E. Henty, 1981 Trees of Papua New Guinea Barry J Conn, Kipiro Q Damas, 2019-04-10

The island of New Guinea has a high diversity of species and a high level of endemism containing more than 5 percent of earth's biodiversity in just over one half of a percent of the land on the earth. New Guinea supports the largest area of mature tropical moist forest in the Asia Pacific region. Papua New Guinea consists of the eastern part of the island of New Guinea plus the islands of the Bismarck Archipelago, Bougainville, and the Milne Bay Province. There are between fifteen thousand and twenty thousand species of vascular plants in Papua New Guinea with at least two thousand species of trees. The most important challenge for Papua New Guinea is the protection of biological diversity against the pressures resulting from global climate change, inappropriate destructive conversion of natural communities, unsustainable exploitation of forests, national economic development and societal demands including a fair sharing of the nation's wealth and law and order issues. There are very few resources available to natural resource managers, environmental scientists, nongovernment agencies and various extractive industries, most importantly the timber industry that will assist in the identification of major tree species within Papua New Guinea. It is hoped that the publication of these three volumes will enable those who are responsible for natural resource management to improve their knowledge of the trees in these forests so that they can fully appreciate the richness of these biologically diverse forests. The forests of Papua New Guinea need to be managed sensitively and sustainably based on advanced evidence-based knowledge. The Trees of Papua New Guinea publication provides a comprehensive treatment of 668 species of trees: Volume 1: 257 species, Volume 2: 246 species, Volume 3: 165 species that will assist in the identification of the trees of Papua New Guinea.

Handbook Flora of Papua New Guinea. Vol 1, 1975 Handbooks of the Flora of Papua New Guinea John S. Womersley, 1978 The Flowering Plants Handbook James W. Byng, 2014-10-16

This plant book aims to help identify flowering plants to genus and family level anywhere in the world. In 2014 there were very few available works which were both comprehensive and up to date for all the flowering plants families and genera of the world. The Flowering Plants Handbook is an easy to use identification guide to the world's flowering plants designed for both specialists and non-specialists and from beginner to expert. The book contains descriptions of all currently recognised flowering plant families, morphological notes for 6656 genera, all current genera for 398 413 families and over 3000 images and illustrations. Flowering plants can be identified using the book to family and much of the world's generic diversity in four easy steps. Some plants will be identified correctly quickly whilst others may require some retracing of steps and take a little more time. The advantage of this book is that it helps the user learn about the classification system and plant diversity during the identification process. This work was compiled and developed using the living library and herbarium collections at the University of Aberdeen, Royal Botanic Gardens Edinburgh and Royal Botanic Gardens Kew Guide to Standard Floras of the World David G. Frodin, 2001-06-14 This 2001 book provides a selective annotated bibliography of the principal floras and related works of inventory for vascular plants The second edition was completely updated and expanded to take into account the substantial literature of the late twentieth century and features a more fully developed review of the history of floristic documentation The works covered are principally specialist publications such as floras checklists distribution atlases systematic iconographies and enumerations or catalogues although a relatively few more popularly oriented books are also included The Guide is organised in ten geographical divisions with these successively divided into regions and units each of which is prefaced with a historical review of floristic studies In addition to the bibliography the book includes general chapters on botanical bibliography the history of floras and general principles and current trends plus an appendix on bibliographic searching a lexicon of serial abbreviations and author and geographical indexes

Ecology of Indonesian Papua Part One Andrew J. Marshall, Bruce M. Beehler, 2011-07-19 The Ecology of Papua provides a comprehensive review of current scientific knowledge on all aspects of the natural history of western Indonesian New Guinea Designed for students of conservation environmental workers and academic researchers it is a richly detailed text dense with biogeographical data historical reference and fresh insight on this complicated and marvelous region We hope it will serve to raise awareness of Papua on a global as well as local scale and to catalyze effective conservation of its most precious natural assets New Guinea is the largest and highest tropical island and one of the last great wilderness areas remaining on Earth Papua the western half of New Guinea is noteworthy for its equatorial glaciers its vast forested floodplains its imposing central mountain range its Raja Ampat Archipelago and its several hundred traditional forest dwelling societies One of the wildest places left in the world Papua possesses extraordinary biological and cultural diversity Today Papua's environment is under threat from growing outside pressures to exploit its expansive forests and to develop large plantations of oil palm and biofuels It is important that Papua's leadership balance economic development with good resource management to ensure the long term well being of its culturally diverse populace

Topics covered include taxonomy, botanical name and synonyms, common English and vernacular names, origin and distribution, agro-ecological requirements, edible plant part and uses, botany, nutritive and medicinal, pharmacological properties, medicinal uses and current research findings, non-edible uses and selected cited references

The Purari — tropical environment of a high rainfall river basin T. Petr, 2012-12-06 One of the major river systems of our country, the Purari River finds its outlet to the sea in the Gulf of Papua on the southern coast of Papua New Guinea. All highlands provinces contribute to this mighty river: the Erave of the Southern Highlands Province joins with the Kaugel and Wahgi Rivers. Western Highlands the Tula River, Simbu and Asaro and Aure Rivers of the Eastern Highlands Province to make the Purari the third largest river in PNG. Unlike its rivals the Fly and the Sepik, the distance between its escape from the mountains and its entrance to the sea is short. After winding its way mostly through deep gorges flanked by high mountains, the river leaves the foothills of the southern slopes of the central cordillera barely eighty kilometers from the sea. The energy potential of such a river is enormous. Could the waters be utilised in any way to the advantage of the nation? Twelve years ago the Electricity Commission of Papua New Guinea proposed an answer to this question: the building of a dam across the river in the Wabo area of the Gulf Province. The generation of vast quantities of hydro-electric power could be fed into a national distribution grid and heavy industries could be established in the Gulf Province and other suitable localities to benefit from this power

Handbook of the Territory of Papua Miles Staniforth, Cater Smith, 1909

Anti-Fertility Plants of the Pacific RC Cambie, AA Brewis, 1997-01-01 There is a growing appreciation of traditional medical systems as a source of considerable knowledge of the medicinal properties of plants. Traditional medicines have the potential to offer leads to identifying potentially valuable chemicals that can be developed into new and more effective drugs.

including safer contraceptives The Pacific region is an excellent arena in which to search for such chemicals as the area contains plant species not found elsewhere there is every indication that many of the plants used more generally in traditional Pacific medicine may be efficacious of 74 plants surveyed in one study 86% showed pharmacological activity and in many Pacific traditions knowledge of medicinal use is transmitted between generations as part of an inherited body of ethnomedical knowledge This book documents all the available information on plants that have been used traditionally for anti fertility and fertility purposes in the Pacific region and indicates which of these plants hold the most promise for providing new anti fertility agents It also records instances in which the plant has been used outside the region Families and Genera of Spermatophytes Recognized by the Agricultural Research Service Charles R. Gunn,1992 Bulletin of the Indo-Pacific Prehistory Association ,2004 Plants of New Guinea and the Solomon Islands Robert Höft,1992 This dictionary has been prepared primarily for professional botanists and for students of biology and forestry in Papua New Guinea It is based on the Dictionary of the Generic and Family Names of Flowering Plants and Ferns of the New Guinea and South West Pacific Region Botany Bulletin No 3 March 1973 It includes the genera found in Papua New Guinea with the islands in West Papua Irian Jaya and in the Solomon Islands Also included are introduced plant genera and those of economical importance This book reprints the 1992 publication of the Wau Ecology Institute Handbook Number 13 Atlas of the Vascular Rainforest Plants of the Northern Territory D. T. Liddle,1994
