International Catalogue of Scientific Literature [1901-1914], 1902 Epioptics John F. McGilp, Denis Weaire, Charles Patterson, 2012-12-06 The study of condensed matter using optical techniques where photons act as both probe and signal has a long history It is only recently however that the extraction of surface and interface information with submonolayer resolution has been shown to be possible using optical techniques where optical applies to electromagnetic radiation in and around the visible region of the spectrum This book describes these epioptic techniques which have now been quite widely applied to semiconductor surfaces and interfaces Particular emphasis in the book is placed on recent studies of submonolayer growth on well characterised semiconductor surfaces many of which have arisen from CEC DGJGII ESPRIT Basic Research Action No 3177 EPIOPTIC and CEU DGIII ESPRIT Basic Research Action No 6878 EASI Techniques using other areas of the spectrum such as the infra red region IR spectroscopy in its various surface configurations and the x ray region surface x ray diffraction x ray standing wave are omitted The optical techniques described use simple lamp or small laser sources and are thus in principle easily accessible Epioptic probes can provide new information on solid gas solid liquid and liquid liquid interfaces They are particularly suited to growth monitoring Emerging process technologies for fabricating submicron and nanoscale semiconductor devices and novel multilayer materials whether based on silicon or compound semiconductors all require extremely precise control of growth at surfaces In situ non destructive real time monitoring and characterisation of surfaces under growth conditions is needed for further progress Both atomic scale resolution and non destructive characterisation of buried structures are required International Catalogue of Scientific Literature, 1902
