The Lasting Picture Show James Combs, 2018-10-01 This work is the continuation of a sustained inquiry into moving pictures, conducting with an awareness of their prominence and prevalence in the contemporary world. L. Frank Baum, 2016-07-15 The Gift of the Face Shamoan Zamir, 2014-08-14 Edward S. Curtis's The North American Indian is the most ambitious photographic and ethnographic record of Native American cultures ever produced. Published between 1907 and 1930 as a series of twenty volumes and portfolios, the work contains more than two thousand photographs intended to document the traditional culture of every Native American tribe west of the Mississippi. Many critics have claimed that Curtis's images present Native peoples as a vanishing race, hiding both their engagement with modernity and the history of colonial violence. But in this major reappraisal of Curtis's work, Shamoan Zamir argues instead that Curtis's photography engages meaningfully with the crisis of culture and selfhood brought on by the dramatic transformations of Native societies. This crisis is captured profoundly and with remarkable empathy in Curtis's images of the human face. Zamir also contends that we can fully understand this achievement only if we think of Curtis's Native subjects as coauthors of his project. This radical reassessment is presented as a series of close readings that explore the relationship of aesthetics and ethics in photography. Zamir's richly illustrated study resituates Curtis's work in Native American studies and in the histories of photography and visual anthropology. Explore & Experiment Jeannine Perez, 1988 The New Lives of Images Adrian J. Ivakhiv, 2025-09-30 In this ambitious new work, eco-philosopher and cultural theorist Adrian Ivakhiv presents an incisive new way of thinking about images and imagination. Drawing upon an immense range of materials, Ivakhiv reassesses the place of imagination in cultural life, analyzing how people have interacted with images in the past and the ways that digital media are profoundly altering these relationships today. The book contributes powerfully to the study of visual culture and digital media and provides provocative interpretations of a range of important artists and media movements, from the work of photographer Edward Burtynsky, the ambitious multi-screen installations of John Akomfrah, the abstract art of Swedish spiritualist Hilma af Klint, and the Afrofuturism of jazz musicians like Sun Ra and poet Alexis Pauline Gumbs to the ever expanding universe of animal videos on YouTube Along the way the book delves into animacy and religious imagery iconophilia and iconoclasm divination and prophecy truthiness and enchantment networks online communities and artificial intelligence the political and affective economies of digital media and the role of utopian futurism in the present climate colonial Anthropocene predicament The result is a vital contribution toward a more empowering conception of the creative imagination and its possibilities in today s emerging digital ecology

Przyblyski, 2004 This Reader brings together for the first time key writings about the nineteenth century a key period in contemporary discussion of visual culture Exploring such topics as photographs exhibitions and advertising the editors suggest that modernity rather than modernism is a valuable way of understanding the changes particular to the visual culture of the time and they investigate a variety of nineteenth century images technologies and visual experiences With three specially written essays about definitions of visual culture as an object of study the book examines genealogies and introduces key writings about culture from writers living in the nineteenth century itself or from those who scrutinized its visual culture from early in the twentieth century such as Walter Benjamin and Siegfried Kracauer The Nineteenth Century Visual Culture Reader is organized around key themes technologies of vision practices of display and the circulation of images cities and the built environment visual representations of the past visual representations of categories of racial sexual and social differences spatial configurations of inside and out private and public Selections include well known authors and new research by younger scholars to produce a well balanced and comprehensive collection

Absolute Music and the Construction of Meaning Daniel Chua, 1999-11-25 This book is born out of two contradictions first it explores the making of meaning in a musical form that was made to lose its meaning at the turn of the nineteenth century secondly it is a history of a music that claims to have no history absolute music The book therefore writes against that notion of absolute music which tends to be the paradigm for most musicological and analytical studies It is concerned not so much with what music is but with why and how meaning is constructed in instrumental music and what structures of knowledge need to be in place for such meaning to exist From the thought of Vincenzo Galilei to that of Theodore Adorno Daniel Chua suggests that instrumental music has always been a critical and negative force in modernity even with its nineteenth century apotheosis as absolute music

charism and institution in modern society Judith A Merkle analyzes the interaction and tautness between the concept of powerful grace through baptism and the institution in the life of the modern church Weber asserts that freedom and creativity in modern society only become manifest within social relations Since these highly valued modern experiences do not exist outside the institutional framework they exist in tension with the constrictive and creative aspects of the institution Judith A Merkle offers the reader perspective on this contemporary experience in the church
