Encounters With Difference Student Perceptions Of The Role Of Out Of Class Experiences In Education Abroad:

Encounters with Difference Michael Laubscher, 1994-03-23 Laubscher explores how students use their out of class time to enhance their learning about cultural differences while enrolled in a formal academic program abroad Taxonomic analysis of the interview data using the means end semantic relationship postulated by James Spradley supports the hypothesis that when left to their own devices students abroad naturally employ ethnographic methods to learn about the host culture This suggests that students abroad will gain more from the out of class domain if that domain includes programmed opportunities for participant observation and personal interaction and if the students have the skills and guidance to capitalize upon those opportunities fully The students detailed discussions of their activities and experiences provide insights upon which educators can base their development of a programmatic approach to making the noncurricular dimension of education abroad a more integral part of the overall learning process By combining ethnographic method with the principles of experiential learning students abroad can reconceptualize the world around them and gain a greater appreciation of the existence of cultural differences in a multicultural world Intercultural Encounters in Education Ulla Kriebner, Roberta Maierhofer, Hermine Penz, 2014 What kind of cultural encounters enhance cultural awareness and intercultural competence in educational contexts This volume highlights the potential of different types of inter cultural encounters for intercultural learning and developing critical cultural awareness in education The book s articles explore the potential of critical reading of classical and other culturally relevant texts as well as physical or virtual encounters with people from other cultures as part of course activities for the development of intercultural competence Series Intercultural Education Interkulturelle Padagogik Vol 13 Subject Education Cultural Studies The Romance of Crossing Borders Neriko Musha Doerr, Hannah Davis Taieb, 2017-01-01 What draws people to study abroad or volunteer in far off communities Often the answer is romance the romance of landscapes people languages the very sense of border crossing and longing for liberation attraction to the unknown yearning to make a difference This volume explores the complicated and often fraught desires to study and volunteer abroad In doing so the book sheds light on how affect is managed by educators and mobilized by students and volunteers themselves and how these structures of feeling relate to broader social and economic forces Study Abroad and the Quest for an Anti-Tourism Experience John J. Bodinger de Uriarte, Michael A. Di Giovine, 2020-12-16 With contributions from anthropologists and cultural theorists Study Abroad and the Quest for an Anti Tourism Experience examines the culture and cultural implications of student travel Drawing on rich case studies from the Arctic to Africa Asia to the Americas this impressive array of experts focuses on the challenges and ethical implications of student engagement service and volunteering immersion research in the field local community engagement and crafting a new generation of active engaged global citizens This volume is a must read for students practitioners and scholars For more information check out this presentation by Michael A Di Giovine coeditor of Study Abroad and the Quest for an Anti Tourism Experience or these
