Aquaculture: Ocean Blue Carbon Meets UN-SDGS David Moore,Matthias Heilweck,Peter Petros,2022-03-26 This book presents a solutions based approach to reducing and removing CO₂ from the atmosphere transforming it into solid crystalline CaCO₃ through the ability of marine organisms such as molluscs crustacea corals and coccolithophore algae The overwhelming advantage of this approach is that it promises enhanced climate mitigation in comparison to planting forests industrial engineering carbon capture and storage process It also provides a sustainable food resource Furthermore it would improve the ocean's biodiversity at the same time as the excess atmospheric CO₂ released by our use of fossil fuels is returned to the place it belongs as a present day fossil safely out of the atmosphere to the distant future If the level of finance and global effort that are readily foreseen for forest management and flue gas treatments were applied to expansion of global shellfish cultivation curative amounts of carbon dioxide could be permanently removed from the atmosphere within a few decades The concept presented in this book could have a profound influence on the life of the planet International

Processing Aquatic Food Products Fredrick Warner Wheaton,Thomas B. Lawson,1985 This is the first up to date comprehensive overview of current techniques for processing aquatic food products Employing a systems approach it emphasizes principles of processing transporting and preserving fish crustaceans plants and other food products produced from the aquatic environment Closing of the Frontier John G Butcher,2003-08-01 This book is the first on the history of the marine fisheries of Southeast Asia It takes as its central theme the movement of fisheries into new fishing grounds particularly the diverse ecosystems that make up the seas of Southeast Asia This process accelerated between the 1950s and 1970s in what the author calls the great fish race Catches soared as the population of the region grew demand from Japan and North America for shrimps and tuna increased and fishers adopted more efficient ways of locating catching and preserving fish But the great fish race soon brought about the severe depletion of one fish population after another while pollution and the destruction of mangroves and coral reefs degraded fish habitats Today the relentless movement into new fishing grounds has come to an end for there are no new fishing grounds to exploit The frontier of fisheries has closed The challenge now is to exploit the seas in ways that preserve the diversity of marine life while providing the people of the region with a source of food long into the future
