Teaching English Don Gutteridge, 2000 Donald Gutteridge describes the unique way we read poetry and fiction and offers concrete ideas about how English can be best taught in schools He argues that students should read literature in the same spirit in which it is written aesthetically Similarly students should be encouraged to create their own stories and poems through a poetic writing process Teaching English presents six aesthetics based principles for teaching literature and includes sample lesson plans and annotated lists of resources Drawing on recent work in psycho linguistics rhetoric an learning theory Teaching English offers a refreshing method for bringing students closer to the English language

Exploring Aging Masculinities D. Jackson,2016-05-31 This book explores the lived embodied experiences of aging men as a counterpoint to the weary stereotypes often imposed on them Conventionally in Western cultures they are seen as inevitably in decline The book challenges these distorted images through a detailed analysis of aging men s life stories

Language, Literacy, and Learning in Educational Practice Barry Stierer,Janet Maybin,1994 Language and literacy are highly contested areas of the curriculum Questions of what should be taught how it should be taught and who should control such decisions are increasingly subjected to public scrutiny debate and challenge in a manner which is often more reflection of competing social and political values than of theory and research evidence In recent years there has been a rapid development of new conceptual frameworks for understanding language literacy and learning from such diverse fields as anthropology cultural studies social psychology and critical linguistics The papers in this collection have been chosen because they will help readers to consider ways in which these new developments in theory and research may be applied to everyday practice

Teachers' Ethical Self-Encounters with Counter-Stories in the Classroom Teresa Strong-Wilson,2021-04-21 Offering unique theoretical perspectives autobiographical insights and narrative accounts from elementary and secondary educators this monograph illustrates the need for teachers to engage critically with counter stories as they teach to issues including colonization war and genocide Juxtaposing Pinar s concept of ethical self encounters with theories of subjective reconstruction multidirectional memory and autobiographical narration this rich volume considers teachers ethical responsibility to interrogate the curriculum via self reflection and self formation Using cases from workshops and classrooms conducted over five years Strong Wilson traces teachers and students movement from implicated subjects to concerned subjects In doing so she challenges the neoliberal dynamics which erode teacher agency By working at the intersections of pedagogy literary theory and memory studies this book introduces timely arguments on subjectivity and ethical responsibility to the field of education in the Global North It will prove to be an essential resource for post graduate researchers scholars and academics working with curriculum theory and pedagogical theory in contemporary education

Literacy for a Changing World Frances Christie,Australian Council for Educational Research,1990 This book takes a fresh look at the basic idea of literacy and proposes some new definitions to take us into the twenty first century It brings together nine Australian scholars of distinction They argue that schools must teach explicitly the nature of language and that students must be given clear criteria for and support in achieving excellence in controlling the different types of written language used in their various fields of study Teachers need a clear sense of the changing nature of literacy of the differences between speech and writing and of the characteristic patterns of discourse used in the school subjects they teach The arguments about literacy are made using examples selected from students writing and textbooks and demonstrate in a pleasing way the benefit to education of some selected linguistic research This book is essential reading for educational policy makers and curriculum writers as well as for teachers of all levels and disciplines The Use of English ,1984

Readers, Texts, Teachers Bill Corcoran,W. D. Emrys Evans,1987 The Experience of Reading John Clifford,1991 This collection of original essays by some of the most respected reader response theorists here and abroad focuses on the work of Louise Rosenblatt Her Literature as Exploration has for some fifty years had a significant effect on the way literature is taught in our schools Only in the last decade however has the importance of her ideas about the transactional nature of reading been understood and appreciated by teachers and literary theorists The Experience of Reading explores Rosenblatt's literary theories from her seminal study in 1938 to her widely praised The Reader the Text the Poem The Transactional Theory of the Literary Work 1978 The essays will demonstrate to both high school and college English teachers that Rosenblatt's emphasis on the centrality of the reader makes her a teacher's theorist as do her insights nearly forty years ahead of her time into the social nature of all learning and the democratic possibilities of reading Readers will get a compelling sense of Rosenblatt's importance in the history of teaching literature and will see that her theories on reading are fresh and provocative and offer our best hope for a humane and effective pedagogy Writing, Schooling, and Deconstruction Pam Gilbert,1989 Pam

Gilbert presents an intelligent and clear critique of popular assumptions about the teaching of writing and literature and proposes alternative positions derived from post structuralist theories of textuality Provoking Curriculum Encounters

Across Educational Experience Teresa Strong-Wilson,Christian Ehret,David Lewkowich,Sandra Chang-Kredl,2019-08-15 This book collects recent and creative theorizing emerging in the fields of curriculum studies and curriculum theory through an emphasis on provoking encounters Drawn from a return to foundational texts the emphasis on an encountering curriculum highlights the often overlooked pre conceptual aspects of the educational experience these aspects include the physical emotional and spiritual dimensions of teaching and learning The book highlights that immediate components of one's encounters with education across formal and informal settings comprise a large part of the teaching and learning processes Chapters offer both close readings of specific work from the curriculum theory archive as well as engagements with cutting edge conceptual issues across disciplinary lines with contributions from leading and emerging scholars across the field of curriculum studies This book will be of great interest to researchers academics and post graduate students in the fields of curriculum studies and curriculum theory Secondary Education Journal ,1984 Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature ,1922 Teaching Literature in the Secondary School Richard Beach,James Dennis Marshall,1991 The book's response centered approach engages the student with literature Contains in depth discussions of multi cultural literature and the uses of drama and film in the classroom that will enhance the understanding of literature      Understanding Teenagers' Reading Jack Thomson, 1987 This book is about the theory and practice of reading and teaching literature It examines critical theory for any insights that might be used to improve the practices of reading and teaching and it reports the discoveries of a research project devised to investigate what secondary school students read why they read or do not read and how they go about reading The book is addressed primarily to English teachers It aims to assist teachers to clarify their own role in teaching novels by providing a model of how pupil response develops ideas about ways to connect teaching with pupil response and suggestions about the kind of language appropriate for exploring and communicating response

Classroom Voices David Booth, Larry Swartz, Meguido Zola, 1994 This book uses a structure that can be best described as half textbook half novel Presenting language arts information in a straightforward yet engaging manner it reflects realistically the state of today's classrooms      Investigation of Illegal Or Improper Activities in Connection with 1996 Federal Election Campaigns, 1999      The English Quarterly, 1986
