Desert Encroachment on Arable Lands United States. Agency for International Development. Office of Science and Technology, 1972 The Encroaching Desert Independent Commission on International Humanitarian Issues, 1986

The Encroaching Desert Independent Commission on International Humanitarian Issues, 1986 The Encroaching Desert, 1986 Ascetics, Society, and the Desert James E. Goehring, 1999-05-01

Through rigorous examination of papyrological documentary sources archaeology and traditional literary sources James Goehring gradually forces a new direction in understanding the evolution of monasticism He ably transforms these sources into a clear narrative thereby infusing the history of Egyptian monasticism with renewed energy Desert Edens Philipp Lehmann, 2024-12-17 How technological advances and colonial fears inspired utopian geoengineering projects during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries From the 1870s to the mid twentieth century European explorers climatologists colonial officials and planners were avidly interested in large scale projects that might actively alter the climate Uncovering this history Desert Edens looks at how arid environments and an increasing anxiety about climate in the colonial world shaped this upsurge in ideas about climate engineering From notions about the transformation of deserts into forests to Nazi plans to influence the climates of war torn areas Philipp Lehmann puts the early climate change debate in its environmental intellectual and political context and considers the ways this legacy reverberates in the present climate crisis Lehmann examines some of the most ambitious climate engineering projects to emerge in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Confronted with the Sahara in the 1870s the French developed concepts for a flooding project that would lead to the creation of a man made Sahara Sea In the 1920s German architect Herman S rgel proposed damming the Mediterranean in order to geoengineer an Afro European continent called Atlantropa which would fit the needs of European settlers Nazi designs were formulated to counteract the desertification of Eastern Europe and Central Asia Despite ideological and technical differences these projects all incorporated and developed climate change theories and vocabulary They also combined expressions of an extreme environmental pessimism with a powerful technological optimism that continue to shape the contemporary moment Focusing on the intellectual roots intended effects and impact of early measures to modify the climate Desert Edens investigates how the technological imagination can be inspired by pressing fears about the environment and civilization Desert Kingdom Toby Craig Jones, 2011-03-15 Oil and water and the science and technology used to harness them have long been at the heart of political authority in Saudi Arabia Oil s abundance and the fantastic wealth it generated has been a keystone in the political primacy of the kingdom s ruling family The other bedrock element was water whose importance was measured by its dearth Over much of the twentieth century it was through efforts to control and manage oil and water that the modern state of Saudi Arabia emerged The central government s power over water space and people expanded steadily over time enabled by increasing oil revenues The operations of the Arabian American Oil Company proved critical to expansion and to achieving power over the environment Political authority in Saudi Arabia took shape through global networks of oil science and expertise And where oil and water were central to the forging of Saudi authoritarianism they were also instrumental in shaping politics on the ground Nowhere was the impact more profound than in the oil rich Eastern Province where the politics of oil and water led to a yearning for national belonging and to calls for revolution Saudi Arabia is traditionally viewed through the lenses of Islam tribe and the economics of oil Desert Kingdom now provides an alternative history of environmental power and the making of the modern Saudi state It demonstrates how vital the exploitation of nature and the roles of science and global experts were to the consolidation of political authority in the desert Putnam's Magazine of Literature, Science, Art, and National Interests ,1868 Putnam's Magazine ,1868 Putnam's Magazine. Original

Papers on Literature, Science, Art, and National Interests ,1868 Desertification Monique Mainguet,2012-12-06 After UNCED United Conference on Environment and Development Rio de Janeiro July 1992 a second edition of

Desertification was necessary About 150 corrections amendments and additions take scientific progress into account The author also presents an updated chapter in which the results of UNCED are analyzed This book aims at an understanding of what is commonly called desertification a term which is proposed to be replaced by land degradation Each level of technology excessive or insufficient creates its own mismanagement This is reflected in an increase in land degradation and eventually a decrease in soil productivity The benefit to the reader is an awareness of the ecozones and a global overview of the phenomena mechanisms and existing solutions The Monastic Landscape of Late Antique Egypt Darlene L. Brooks Hedstrom,2017-11-23 This book traces changing perceptions of Egypt s monastic landscape through an analysis of archaeological and documentary evidence from late antiquity Holy Bishops in Late Antiquity Claudia Rapp,2005 Between 300 and 600 Christianity experienced a momentous change from persecuted cult to state religion One of the consequences of this shift was the evolution of the role of the bishop as the highest Church official in his city from model Christian to model citizen Claudia Rapp s exceptionally learned innovative and groundbreaking work traces this transition with a twofold aim to deemphasize the reign of the emperor Constantine which has traditionally been regarded as a watershed in the development of the Church as an institution and to bring to the fore the continued importance of the religious underpinnings of the bishop s role as civic leader Rapp rejects Max Weber s categories of charismatic versus institutional authority that have traditionally been used to distinguish the nature of episcopal authority from that of the ascetic and holy man Instead she proposes a model of spiritual authority ascetic authority and pragmatic authority in which a bishop s visible asceticism is taken as evidence of his spiritual powers and at the same time provides the justification for his public role In clear and graceful prose Rapp provides a wholly fresh analysis of the changing dynamics of social mobility as played out in episcopal appointments The End of Desertification? Roy H. Behnke,Michael Mortimore,2016-04-12 The question in the title of this book draws attention to the shortcomings of a concept that has become a political tool of global importance even as the scientific basis for its use grows weaker The concept of desertification it can be argued has ceased to be analytically useful and distorts our understanding of social environmental systems and their resiliency particularly in poor countries with variable rainfall and persistent poverty For better policy and governance we need to reconsider the scientific justification for international attempts to combat desertification Our exploration of these issues begins in the Sahel of West Africa where a series of severe droughts at the end of the 20th century led to the global institutionalization of the idea of desertification It now seems incontrovertible that these droughts were not caused primarily by local land use mismanagement effectively terminating a long standing policy and scientific debate There is now an opportunity to treat this episode as an object lesson in the relationship between science the formation of public opinion and international policy making Looking beyond the Sahel the chapters in this book provide case studies from around the world that examine the use and relevance of the desertification concept Despite an increasingly sophisticated understanding of dryland environments and societies the uses now being made of the desertification concept in parts of Asia exhibit many of the shortcomings of earlier work done in Africa It took scientists more than three decades to transform a perceived desertification crisis in the Sahel into a non event This book is an effort to critically examine that experience and accelerate the learning process in other parts of the world

Macro-engineering Seawater in Unique Environments Viorel Badescu, Richard Cathcart, 2011-02-09 The subjects refer to histories of ancient and modern use of seacoasts possible macro projects capable of massive changes in the coastlines of the Dead Sea Red Sea and Persian Gulf caused by canal and massively scaled hydropower dam installations relevant macro projects for the Black Sea and Baltic Sea possibilities of refreshment of the Aral Sea and Iran's Lake Urmia with seawater or river freshwater importation macro projects potential rehabilitation of some vital arid zone regions now dominated by moving or movable surface granular materials using unique and unusual macro projects seawater flooding of land regions situated below present day global sea level harnessing energy and obtaining freshwater from the world's salt laden ocean by modern industrial means various macro projects designed specifically for the protection reduction of vulnerability of particular Earth geographical regions The Arid Lands Diana K. Davis, 2016-03-25 An argument that the perception of arid lands as wastelands is politically motivated and that these landscapes are variable biodiverse ecosystems whose inhabitants must be empowered Deserts are commonly imagined as barren defiled worthless places wastelands in need of development This understanding has fueled extensive anti desertification efforts a multimillion dollar global campaign driven by perceptions of a looming crisis In this book Diana Davis argues that estimates of desertification have been significantly exaggerated and that deserts and drylands which constitute about 41% of the earth's landmass are actually resilient and biodiverse environments in which a great many indigenous people have long lived sustainably Meanwhile contemporary arid lands development programs and anti desertification efforts have met with little success As Davis explains these environments are not governed by the equilibrium ecological dynamics that apply in most other regions Davis shows that our notion of the arid lands as wastelands derives largely from politically motivated Anglo European colonial assumptions that these regions had been laid waste by traditional uses of the land Unfortunately such assumptions still frequently inform policy Drawing on political ecology and environmental history Davis traces changes in our understanding of deserts from the benign views of the classical era to Christian associations of the desert with sinful activities to later neo colonial assumptions of destruction She further explains how our thinking about deserts is problematically related to our conceptions of forests and desiccation Davis concludes that a new understanding of the arid lands as healthy natural but variable ecosystems that do not necessarily need improvement or development will facilitate a more sustainable future for the world s magnificent drylands ENVIRONMENTAL MONITORING -Volume II Hilary I. and affective dimensions of solitude in the late medieval and early modern periods a hitherto largely neglected topic Its focus is on the dynamic qualities of space and place which are here understood as being shaped structured and imbued with meaning through both social and discursive solitary practices such as reading writing studying meditating and praying Individual chapters investigate the imageries and imaginaries of outdoor and indoor spaces and places associated with solitude and its practices and examine the ways in which the space of solitude was conceived of imagined and represented in the arts and in literature from about 1300 to about 1800 Contributors include Oskar B tschmann Carla Benzan Mette Birkedal Bruun Dominic E Delarue Karl A E Enenkel Christine G ttler Agn s Guiderdoni Christiane J Hessler Walter S Melion Rapha le Preisinger Bernd Roling Paul Smith Marie Theres Stauffer Arnold A Witte and Steffen Zierholz Children and Family in Late Antique Egyptian Monasticism Caroline T. Schroeder,2020-09-17 This is the first book length study of children in one of the birthplaces of early Christian monasticism Egypt Although comprised of men and women who had renounced sex and family the monasteries of late antiquity raised children educated them and expected them to carry on their monastic lineage and legacies into the future Children within monasteries existed in a liminal space simultaneously vulnerable to the whims and abuses of adults and also cherished as potential future monastic prodigies Caroline T Schroeder examines diverse sources letters rules saints lives art and documentary evidence to probe these paradoxes In doing so she demonstrates how early Egyptian monasteries provided an intergenerational continuity of social cultural and economic capital while also contesting the traditional family s claims to these forms of social continuity The Manners and Customs of the Ancient Egyptians J.
