The Neo-Assyrian Empire in the Southwest Avraham Faust, 2021-01-18 The Neo

Assyrian empire the first large empire of the ancient world has attracted a great deal of public attention ever since the spectacular discoveries of its impressive remains in the 19th century The southwestern part of this empire located in the lands of the Bible is archaeologically speaking the best known region in the world and its history is described in a plethora of texts including the Hebrew Bible Using a bottom up approach Avraham Faust utilises this unparalleled information to reconstruct the outcomes of the Assyrian conquest of the region and how it impacted the diverse political units and ecological zones that comprised it In doing so he draws close attention to the transformations the imperial take over brought in its wake His analysis reveals the marginality of the annexed territories in the southwest as the empire focused its activities in small border areas facing its prospering clients A comparison of this surprising picture to the information available from other parts of the empire suggests that the distance of these provinces from the imperial core is responsible for their fate This sheds new light on factors influencing imperial expansion the considerations leading to annexation and the imperial methods of control challenging old conventions about the development of the Assyrian empire and its rule Faust also examines the Assyrian empire within the broader context of ancient Near Eastern imperialism to answer larger questions on the nature of Assyrian domination the reasons for its harsh treatment of the distant provinces and the factors influencing the limits of its reach His findings highlight the historical development of imperial control in antiquity and the ways in which later empires were able to overcome similar limitations paving the way to much larger and longer lasting polities Recent Excavations in Israel Seymour Gitin, William G. Dever, 1989 The Fruit of the Vine Carey Ellen Walsh, 2018-07-17 The practice of viticulture from planting vines to drinking wine in Israelite culture is the focus of Walsh's investigation Viticulture no less than drinking marked the social sphere of Israelite practitioners and so its details were often enlisted to describe social relations in the Hebrew Bible These features of everyday life offer important clues for the reconstruction of Israelite social history the literary constructions of the oral transmitters authors and redactors and for thematic and theological meanings attached to biblical representations of the vine and wine imagery Herod Antipas in Galilee Morten Hørning Jensen, 2010 Originally presented as the author's thesis doctoral University of Aarhus Aarhus Denmark 2005 Volume 4. Sennacherib and the War of 1812 Paul S. Evans, 2023-01-26 This volume investigates the question of how both Assyria and Judah could remember the war of 701 BCE as their respective victory Whilst surveying available evidences for historical reconstructions Paul S Evans compares the Sennacherib's Third Campaign with the War of 1812 between Canada and the USA as an example of disputed victory from military history Evans examines Assyrian and biblical texts to evaluate the conflict and argues that rather than being intentionally deceptive in their accounts of the events both sides had reasons to perceive the war as a victory This examination of military narratives also illustrates how the fluctuating support for wartime leaders in 1812 is analogous to positive and negative oracles regarding Jerusalem's leadership during the war years. With differing opinions regarding the success of the Sennacherib's Third Campaign, this book presents an interesting discussion of the events and demonstrates how our understanding of the war between Assyria and Judah can be illuminated by military history. Imperial

Peripheries in the Neo-Assyrian Period Craig W. Tyson, Virginia R. Herrmann, 2019-01-15. Though the Neo-Assyrian Empire has largely been conceived of as the main actor in relations between its core and periphery, recent work on the empire's peripheries has encouraged archaeologists and historians to consider dynamic models of interaction between Assyria and the polities surrounding it. Imperial Peripheries in the Neo-Assyrian Period focuses on the variability of imperial strategies and local responses to Assyrian power across time and space. An international team of archaeologists and historians draws upon both new and existing evidence from excavations, surveys, texts, and material culture to highlight the strategies that the Neo-Assyrian Empire applied to manage its diverse and widespread empire, as well as the mixed reception of those strategies by subjects close to and far from the center. Case studies from around the ancient Near East illustrate a remarkable variety of responses to Assyrian aggression, economic policies, and cultural influences. As a whole, the volume demonstrates both the destructive and constructive roles of empire, including unintended effects of imperialism on socioeconomic and cultural change. Imperial Peripheries in the Neo-Assyrian Period aligns with the recent movement in imperial studies to replace global, top-down, materialist models with theories of contingency, local agency, and bottom-up processes. Such approaches bring to the foreground the reality that the development and lifecycles of empires in general and the Neo-Assyrian Empire in particular cannot be completely explained by the activities of the core. The book will be welcomed by archaeologists of the Ancient Near East, Assyriologists, and scholars concerned with empires and imperial power in history. Contributors: Stephanie H. Brown, Anna Cannav, Megan Cifarelli, Erin Darby, Bleda S. D. Ring, Avraham Faust, Guido Guarducci, Bradley J. Parker. The Archaeology of Israelite Samaria. Volume 2: The Eighth Century BCE Ron E. Tappy, 2018-08-14. In this comprehensive study, Professor Tappy rounds out the study of the Iron Age strata at Samaria that he began with the first volume of this work published in 1992, The Early Iron Age through the Ninth Century BCE. Tappy's goal is to provide a thoroughgoing analysis of prior archaeologists' work at this important north Israelite site with a view to providing a complete reconstruction of the depositional history of the site during the Iron Age. The two volumes together are important not only for the history of the city of Samaria but for the archaeological sequences of the Iron Age in northern Israel. The Art of Siege Warfare and Military Architecture from the Classical World to the Middle Ages Michael Eisenberg, Rabei Khamisy, 2021-01-13. The papers in this book present for the first time the world of warfare, both defensive and offensive, from the Classical periods to the end of the Middle Ages in one collection. These scholarships have attracted ancient writers and generals, and nowadays historians, archaeologists, and researchers of poliorcetics. Military historiography and ancient manuals are well familiar from the Classical period throughout the Hellenistic great battlefields until the end of the Middle Ages; the chronological scope of this

codex The current book is the first to encompass this long array of time while trying to enrich the reader with the continuity development and regression in the different periods and spheres of the ancient poliorcetics and beyond the papers presented here are focusing on the physical fortifications besieging and defense techniques development and efficiency of ancient projectiles and sieging machinery battlefields and the historiographical evidence The X papers of the book are written by some of the best scholars in their field presenting here for the first time the results of their research in the west and in the east

Temples and Sanctuaries in the Roman East Arthur Segal, 2013-10-31 This lavishly illustrated volume presents a comprehensive architectural study of 87 individual temples and sanctuaries built in the Roman East between the end of the 1st century BCE and the end of the 3rd century CE within a broad region encompassing the modern states of Syria Lebanon Israel and Jordan Religious architecture gave faithful expression to the complexity of the Roman East and to its multiplicity of traditions pertaining to ethnic and religious aspects as well as to the powerful influence of Imperial Rome The source of this power lay in the uniformity of the architectural language the inventory of forms the choice of styles and the spatial layout of the buildings Thus while temples have an eclectic character there is an underlying unity of form comprising the podium the stairway between the terminating walls antae and the columns along the entrance front in other words the axiality frontality and symmetry of the temple as viewed from outside The temples and sanctuaries studied in this volume demonstrate individual nuances of plan spatial design location in the sanctuary and interrelations with the immediate vicinity but can be divided into two main categories Vitruvian temples derived from Hellenistic Roman architecture and Non Vitruvian temples those with plans and spatial designs that cannot be analysed according to architectural criteria such as those defined by Vitruvius The individual descriptions presented focus solely upon the analysis of the external and internal space of the temples of all types and do not involve any cultural or ethnic discussion

A Future for the Past Stuart Laidlaw, 2016-09-16 Flinders Petrie known for his extensive work in Egypt was also a pioneer of scientific archaeology in Palestine early in the 20th century through his excavations at Tell el Hesi Tell el Ajjul and elsewhere This volume offers a critical analysis of Petrie's contributions to the archaeology of Palestine and the role his collection of artifacts plays in modern studies of the ancient Near East It also includes a full color catalog of 270 objects dating from Chalcolithic to Ottoman times excavated by Petrie

A Historical Archaeology of the Ottoman Empire Uzi Baram, Lynda Carroll, 2006-03-16 Archaeology in the Middle East and the Balkans rarely focuses on the recent past as a result archaeologists have largely ignored the material remains of the Ottoman Empire Drawing on a wide variety of case studies and essays this volume documents the emerging field of Ottoman archaeology and the relationship of this new field to anthropological classical and historical archaeology as well as Ottoman studies

Lahav III: The Iron Age II Cemetery at Tell Halif (Site 72) Oded Borowski, 2013-09-26 In 1965 excavation work for a new swimming pool at Kibbutz Lahav discovered the first in a series of tombs from an Iron Age cemetery on the hillside south of Tell Halif In 1972 as bulldozers worked to widen the road along the hill's lower flanks three additional burial caves were exposed and in the years that followed various explorations identified still more tomb sites along the ascending slopes. With the initiation of the Lahav Research Project's excavation and survey work at Tell Halif in 1976 the cemetery area was designated as Site 72 and in 1977 in company with a LRP summer campaign at the site another three tombs were excavated. Now based on further reconnaissance and reinvestigations at the cemetery by Oded Borowski in 1988 Lahav III provides a comprehensive study of the Site 72 cemetery remains. Although the tombs are in general typical for the period their architecture illustrates a significant range of variations and adaptations. Pottery from sealed deposits dates use of the cemetery to the Iron II era from ca 900 to 675 B C E and the tomb population thus mirrors the dating of Iron Age occupation on the tell. The volume also explores the cultic associations and customs reflected in the burial processes. Lahav III is the third volume in the LRP series of final reports.

Lahav IV: The Figurines of Tell Halif Paul F. Jacobs, 2015-04-30 This volume appears as the fourth in a series of reports on the investigations of the Lahav Research Project LRP at Tell Halif located near Kibbutz Lahav in southern Israel. The book and CD also titled The Figurines of Tell Halif contain the publication of the terra cotta and stone figurine assemblage discovered in the Phase III excavations by LRP. The book presents the text of the report including relevant archaeological contexts while the CD is the primary source for detailed information about the figurines. It presents color photographs of each artifact as well as artist's drawings and QuickTime movies along with descriptions and a working typology of the mixed Iron II Persian and Hellenistic period terra cottas. Together book and CD offer the entire corpus of 794 figurine and statue fragments and provide an invaluable addition to the corpus of Levantine figurines.
