The Films of Fred Schepisi Brian McFarlane, 2021-11-15 Fred Schepisi is one of the crucial names associated with the revival of the Australian film industry in the 1970s The Films of Fred Schepisi traces the lead up to his critical successes in feature filmmaking via his earlier award winning success as a producer in advertising commercials in the 1960s and the setting up of his own company Unlike some directors he derived from this experience a sure sense of the commercial aspects of filmmaking as well as its aesthetic considerations The volume also considers stories of his early education in a Catholic seminary which he drew on in his semiautobiographical film The Devil's Playground the success of which launched him as an exciting new feature director The volume expands on Schepisi's success story to chart his development as a director in demand in other countries notably in the US and the UK as well as continuing to make major films in Australia Brian McFarlane argues that Schepisi's career is symptomatic of Australian directors who have made their presences felt on the international stage Whereas other key directors of the Australian film revival such as Peter Weir and Bruce Beresford have been the subject of book length critical studies Schepisi's career has not to date been so explored McFarlane takes a critical account of Schepisi's film output including such standouts as The Chant of Jimmie Blacksmith Plenty Roxanne Six Degrees of Separation Mr Baseball and Last Orders and he augments analysis with interviews with the director By discussing the production histories and both critical and popular receptions McFarlane's study shines a new light on Schepisi's work and his rise to prominence in the global film industry

The Film Encyclopedia Ephraim Katz, 1979 An encyclopedia of world cinema listing American British and international subjects and horror of Tideland it critically examines the variety and richness of Gilliam's sometimes troubled but always provocative output. The book situates Gilliam within the competing cultural contexts of the British, European and American film industries, examining his regular struggles against aesthetic and commercial pressures. He emerges as a passionate, immensely creative director whose work encompasses a dizzying array of material: anarchic satire, childhood and adult fantasy, dystopia, romantic comedy, surrealism, road movie, fairy tale and the Gothic. The book charts how Gilliam interweaves these genres and forms to create magical interfaces between reality and the illuminating, frightening but liberating worlds of the imagination.

Scrutinising the neglected importance of literature and adaptation in Gilliam's career, this study also observes him through the lenses of auteurism, genre, performance, design and national culture, explaining how someone born in Minnesota and raised in California came to be one of British television and film's most compelling figures. From Silent Film Idol to Superman Jonathan Croall, 2023-06-08. A popular romantic actor with a fan club rivalling that of Ivor Novello, John Stuart was frequently mobbed by his adoring fans. He starred in films by Alfred Hitchcock and G. W. Pabst, played opposite British stars such as Madeleine Carroll, Fay Compton, Gracie Fields and German actor Conrad Veidt, and was also the first actor to ever speak on screen in Britain. Yet despite a film career lasting six decades and 172 films, his name and achievement are little known today. With access to Stuart's private archive, his surviving films, press cuttings, film reviews, interviews, profiles, features and gossip columns, his son Jonathan Croall presents a detailed account of an actor who made a significant contribution to the British film industry of the 20th century. Historical Dictionary of Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2010-03-19.

Film noir, literally 'black cinema', is the label customarily given to a group of black and white American films, mostly crime thrillers, made between 1940 and 1959. Today there is considerable dispute about what are the shared features that classify a noir film, and therefore which films should be included in this category. These problems are partly caused because film noir is a retrospective label that was not used in the 1940s or 1950s by the film industry as a production category, and therefore its existence and features cannot be established through reference to trade documents. The Historical Dictionary of Film Noir is a comprehensive guide that ranges from 1940 to present day neo noir. It consists of a chronology, an introductory essay, a bibliography, a filmography, and over 400 cross-referenced dictionary entries on every aspect of film noir and neo noir, including key films, personnel, actors, cinematographers, composers, directors, producers, set designers, and writers, themes, issues, influences, visual style, cycles of films, e.g. amnesiac noirs, the representation of the city and gender, other forms, comics, graphic novels, television, and videogames, and noir's presence in world cinema. It is an essential reference work for all those interested in this important cultural phenomenon. The Concise Routledge Encyclopedia of the Documentary Film Ian Aitken, 2013. This reference work explores the history of the documentary film. It discusses individual films and filmmakers, examines national and regional filmmaking traditions, elaborates on production companies, organizations, festivals, and institutions, explores themes, issues, and representations, and describes various styles, techniques, and technical issues.
