Encyclopedia of Archaeology Tim Murray, 2001-06-28 Written by the most authoritative scholars from around the world, a massive treasurehouse of information on all aspects of archaeology from prehistory to the present day. Encyclopedia of Archaeology: History and Discoveries explores the archaeologists' sites, debates, techniques, methods, and issues that are central to the global practice of archaeology. Three richly illustrated volumes trace the development of the field from the ancient Greeks to the present day. Through detailed tours of major excavation sites from all over the world—Chichen Itza, Machu Picchu, Ephesus, Pompeii, the tomb of Tutankhamun, as well as more obscure sites like Brzesc Kujawski in Poland—readers gain an appreciation for the inherent challenges all archaeologists share in locating, recovering, and making sense of evidence of past human lives. The Histories and Discoveries volumes profile significant archaeologists such as the indefatigable Gertrude Bell, an expert on Arab affairs during World War I and Iraq's director of antiquities in the 1920s. Additional entries ranging from the Dead Sea scrolls and rock art to techniques like dating and remote sensing round out this watershed in the history of archaeology. Includes 500 A-Z entries on pioneers such as J. Desmond Clark, sites including Chichén Itz in Mexico, remote sensing, and other concepts and techniques, periods, regions, organizations, and museums. Contributors include some of the world's most eminent archaeologists. Includes maps depicting key points of reference like ethnic groups in the West Indies at the time of Columbus. Contains photographs of excavation sites such as an ancient burial ground in Chile, shields, petroglyphs, and other artifacts.

The Lost Legions Alistair Paterson, 2008-01-17 The Lost Legions offers a discussion of the interaction between Australian Aborigines and the first European pastoralists, with comparisons to similar interactions elsewhere around the world.

African Historical Archaeologies Andrew M. Reid, Paul J. Lane, 2014-10-28 This volume explores the range of interactions between the historical sources and archaeology that are available on the African continent. The contributions, written by a range of experts on different aspects of African archaeology, present the underlying issues such as the conflict and collaboration in the foundation of modern Africa, African trading communities maintaining their independence from Europe, the impacts of the Atlantic slave trade. This represents the first consideration of historical archaeology over the African continent as a whole and therefore provides an important review for African archaeologists and historians. This seminal volume also explores Africa's place in global systems of thought and economic development for historical archaeologists and historians alike.
