Reid, Paul J. Lane, 2014-10-28 This volume explores the range of interactions between the historical sources and archaeology that are available on the African continent The contributions written by a range of experts on different aspects of African archaeology present the underlying issues such as The conflict and collaboration in the foundation of modern Africa African trading communities maintaining their independence from Europe The impacts of the Atlantic slave trade This represents the first consideration of historical archaeology over the African continent as a whole and therefore provides an important review for African archaeologists and historians This seminal volume also explores Africa's place in global systems of thought and economic development for historical archaeologists and historians alike Cattle and People Catarina Ginja, Elizabeth Wright, 2022-05-01 This volume originates in a conference session that took place at the 2018 International Council of Archaeozoology conference in Ankara Turkey entitled Humans and Cattle Interdisciplinary Perspectives to an Ancient Relationship The aim of the session was to bring together zooarchaeologists and their colleagues from various other research fields working on human cattle interactions over time The contributions in this volume reflect well the breadth of work being undertaken on the ancient relationship between humans and cattle across the continents of Europe Africa and Asia and from the late Pleistocene to postmedieval period Almost all involve the study of archaeological cattle remains and use different zooarchaeological methods but the combination of these approaches with that of ethnography isotopes and genetics is also featured Author Interview The Mobility Imperative Augustin F. C. Holl, 2022-09-23 This work explores the long term evolutionary implications of the Mobility Imperative the foundational nature of mobility for human beings and their societies The author puts forward a parsimonious but comprehensive model based on Extended Evolutionary Synthesis EES rationales The selected case studies range from the emergence and expansion of humans to cattle domestication and beyond

Globalisation and African Languages Katrin Bromber, Birgit Smieja, 2011-07-20 Globalisation and African Languages links African language studies to the concept of globalisation which increasingly undergoes critical review Hence African linguists of various provenience can make valuable contributions to this debate In cultural matters which by definition include language there is often a sense that globalisation leads to a major trend of homogenisation which results in a reduction of diversity on the one hand and on the other in new themes being incorporated into global cultural patterns However often conflicting and overlapping particularistic interests exist which have a constructive as well as destructive potential This aspect leads directly to the first of three sections of this volume LANGUAGE USE AND ATTITUDES which addresses some of the burning issues in sociolinguistic research Since this research area is tightly linked to the educational domain these important issues are addressed in articles that comprise the second section of this volume LANGUAGE POLICY AND EDUCATION The third section of the volume presents articles dealing with LANGUAGE DESCRIPTION AND CLASSIFICATION demonstrating which parts of different language systems are affected through contact under historical and modern conditions The contributions of all the well known scholars in this volume show that globalisation is a two way street and to ensure that all sides benefit in a reciprocal manner means the impacts have to be monitored globally regionally nationally and locally By disseminating and emphasising these linguistic findings as part of the global cultural heritage African language studies may offer urgently needed new perspectives towards a rapidly changing world Marothodi: The Historical Archaeology of an African Capital , African Civilizations Graham Connah, 2016 This new revised edition offers expanded coverage new illustrations and an extended new list of references The Oxford Handbook of Zooarchaeology Umberto Albarella, Mauro Rizzetto, Hannah Russ, Kim Vickers, Sarah Viner-Daniels, 2017 Animals have played a fundamental role in shaping human history and the study of their remains from archaeological sites zooarchaeology has gradually been emerging as a powerful discipline and crucible for forging an understanding of our past This Handbook offers a cutting edge global compendium of zooarchaeology that seeks to provide a holistic view of the role played by animals in past human cultures Case studies from across five continents explore a huge range of human animal interactions from an array of geographical historical and cultural contexts and also illuminate the many approaches and methods adopted by different schools and traditions in studying these relationships Making Women's Histories Pamela Susan Nadell, Kate Haulman, 2013-01-01 Making Women's Histories showcases the transformations that the intellectual and political production of women's history has engendered across time and space It considers the difference women's and gender history has made to and within national fields of study and to what extent the wider historiography has integrated this new knowledge What are the accomplishments of women's and gender history What are its shortcomings What is its future The contributors discuss their discovery of women's histories the multiple turns the field has taken and how place affected the course of this scholarship. Noted scholars of women's and gender history stand atop such historiographically defined vantage points as Tsarist Russia, the British Empire in Egypt and India, Qing dynasty China, and the U.S. roiling through the 1960s. From these and other peaks they gaze out at the world around them, surveying trajectories in the creation of women's histories in recent and distant pasts and envisioning their futures.

Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 2008-03-12 Here at last is the massively updated and augmented second edition of this landmark encyclopedia. It contains approximately 1000 entries dealing in depth with the history of the scientific, technological, and medical accomplishments of cultures outside of the United States and Europe. The entries consist of fully updated articles together with hundreds of entirely new topics. This unique reference work includes intercultural articles on broad topics such as mathematics and astronomy as well as thoughtful philosophical articles on concepts and ideas related to the study of non-Western Science such as rationality, objectivity, and method. You'll also find material on religion and science, East and West, and magic and science.

The Afterlife Is Where We Come From Alma Gottlieb, 2015-10-31 When a new baby arrives among the Beng people of West Africa, they see it not as being born but as being reincarnated after a rich life in a previous world. Far from being a tabula rasa, a Beng infant is thought to begin its life filled with spiritual knowledge. How do these beliefs affect the way the Beng rear their children? In this unique and engaging ethnography of babies, Alma Gottlieb explores how religious ideology affects every aspect of Beng childrearing practices, from bathing infants to protecting them from disease to teaching them how to crawl and walk, and how widespread poverty limits these practices. A mother of two, Gottlieb includes moving discussions of how her experiences among the Beng changed the way she saw her own parenting. Throughout the book, she also draws telling comparisons between Beng and Euro-American parenting, bringing home just how deeply culture matters to the way we all rear our children. All parents and anyone interested in the place of culture in the lives of infants and vice versa will enjoy The Afterlife Is Where We Come From. This wonderfully reflective text should provide the impetus for formulating research possibilities about infancy and toddlerhood for this century.

Caren J. Frost, Medical Anthropology Quarterly

Alma Gottlieb's careful and thought-provoking account of infancy sheds spectacular light upon a much neglected topic. It makes a strong case for the central place of babies in anthropological accounts of religion. Gottlieb's remarkably rich account, delivered after a long and reflective period of gestation, deserves a wide audience across a range of disciplines.

Rethinking Agriculture Timothy P. Denham, José Iriarte, Luc Vrydaghs, 2016-07 Although the need to study agriculture in different parts of the world on its own terms has long been recognized, and re-affirmed, a tendency persists to evaluate agriculture across the globe using concepts, lines of evidence, and methods derived from Eurasian research. However, researchers working in different regions are becoming increasingly aware of fundamental differences in the nature of and methods employed to study agriculture and plant exploitation practices in the past Contributions to this volume rethink agriculture whether in terms of existing regional chronologies in terms of techniques employed or in terms of the concepts that frame our interpretations This volume highlights new archaeological and ethnoarchaeological research on early agriculture in understudied non Eurasian regions including Island Southeast Asia and the Pacific the Americas and Africa to present a more balanced view of the origins and development of agricultural practices around the globe

Cities in the World: 1500-2000: v. 3 Adrian Green, 2018-12-13 Papers presented at the Cities in the World conference held at Southampton University and organised through the Society for Post Medieval Archaeology challenged the commonly held perception that cities are about the present and the future not about the past All cities have an innate sense of the past and this volume encompassing as it does

The Oxford Handbook of African Archaeology Peter Mitchell, Paul Lane, 2013-07-04 Africa has the longest and arguably the most diverse archaeological record of any of the continents It is where the human lineage first evolved and from where Homo sapiens spread across the rest of the world Later it witnessed novel experiments in food production and unique trajectories to urbanism and the organisation of large communities that were not always structured along strictly hierarchical lines Millennia of engagement with societies in other parts of the world confirm Africa's active participation in the construction of the modern world while the richness of its history ethnography and linguistics provide unusually powerful opportunities for constructing interdisciplinary narratives of Africa's past This Handbook provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis of African archaeology covering the entirety of the continent's past from the beginnings of human evolution to the archaeological legacy of European colonialism As well as covering almost all periods and regions of the continent it includes a mixture of key methodological and theoretical issues and debates and situates the subject's contemporary practice within the discipline's history and the infrastructural challenges now facing its practitioners Bringing together essays on all these themes from over seventy contributors many of them living and working in Africa it offers a highly accessible contemporary account of the subject for use by scholars and students of not only archaeology but also history anthropology and other disciplines

Africanizing Knowledge Toyin Falola, 2017-11-30 Nearly four decades ago Terence Ranger questioned to what extent African history was actually African and whether methods and concerns derived from Western historiography were really sufficient tools for researching and narrating African history Despite a blossoming and branching out of Africanist scholarship in the last twenty years that question is still haunting The most prestigious locations for production of African studies are outside Africa itself and scholars still seek a solution to this paradox They agree that the ideal solution would be a flowering of institutions of higher learning within Africa which would draw not only Africanist scholars but also financial resources to the continent While the focus of this volume is on historical knowledge the effort to make African scholarship more African is fundamentally interdisciplinary The essays in this volume employ several innovative methods in an effort to study Africa on its own terms The book is divided into four parts Part 1 Africanizing African History offers several diverse methods for bringing distinctly African modes of historical discourse to the foreground in academic historical research Part 2 African Creative Expression in Context presents case studies of African art literature music and poetry It attempts to strip away the exotic or primitivist aura such topics often accumulate when presented in a foreign setting in order to illuminate the social historical and aesthetic contexts in which these works of art were originally produced Part 3 Writing about Colonialism demonstrates that the study of imperialism in Africa remains a springboard for innovative work which takes familiar ideas about Africa and considers them within new contexts Part 4 Scholars and Their Work critically examines the process of African studies itself including the roles of scholars in the production of knowledge about Africa This timely and thoughtful volume will be of interest to African studies scholars and students who are concerned about the ways in which Africanist scholarship might become more African

Socialising Complexity Sheila Kohring, Stephanie Wynne-Jones, 2007-11-30 Socialising Complexity introduces the concept of complexity as a tool rather than a category for understanding social formations This new take on complexity moves beyond the traditional concern with what constitutes a complex society and focuses on the complexity inherent in various social forms through the structuring principles created within each society The aims and themes of the book can thus be summarized as follows to introduce the idea of complexity as a tool which is pertinent to the understanding of all types of society rather than an exclusionary type of society in its own right to examine concepts that can enhance our interpretation of societal complexity such as heterarchy materialization and contextualization These concepts are applied at different scales and in different ways illustrating their utility in a variety of different cases to reestablish social structure as a topic of study within archaeology which can be profitably studied by proponents of both processual and post processual methodologies The Early Human World Peter Robertshaw, Jill Rubalcaba, 2004 Tells the story of early human life using an incredible variety of primary sources from back cover

Archaeology at Two Australian Universities 1971 to 2023 Graham Connah, 2024-07-19 This book is about the author's time as an academic archaeologist attached to the University of New England Armidale NSW and the Australian National University Canberra ACT Australia It continues the autobiographical account in Prelude published in 2011 and From Cambridge to Lake Chad published in 2019 It discusses his experiences as a Lecturer Senior Lecturer Professor and Emeritus Professor This memoir also considers the role of many other people with whom he was associated Covering the period of 1971 to 2023 it charts the development of the field of archaeology in the Australian context
