W. Golan, 2016 The largest weapons development effort ever undertaken by the State of Israel the Lavi fighter program envisioned a new generation of high performance aircraft Controversially Israel Aircraft Industries intended to develop and manufacture the fighters in Israel with U S financial support The sophisticated planes developed in the mid 1980s were unique in design and intended to make up the majority of the Israeli Air Force Though a great deal of prestige and money was staked developmental costs increased and doubts arose as to whether the Lavi could be the warplane it was meant to be Eventually the program became a microcosm for the US Israel relationship and of Israeli society itself a study in the ambitions fears and internal divisions that shaped them The fighter never made it to operational service Despite the passage of time since its cancelation the Lavi remains a controversial subject within Israeli society to this day Until now the full breadth and significance of the Lavi story has never been told Lavi Israel's Lost Winged Lion traces the evolution of the Lavi fighter from its genesis in the 1970s to its demise in August of 1987 Painting the era's political landscape on both sides of the ocean author John Golan examines the roles of such Israeli military icons and political leaders as Ezer Weizman Ariel Sharon Menachem Begin and Yitzhak Rabin On the American side Golan traces the evolution of U S government policy towards the program detailing a complex nuanced picture of the U S foreign policy apparatus and of U S Israel relations in general from President Reagan's public endorsement of the program on the White House lawn to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger's unrelenting attempts to cancel the program in succeeding years

Bibliography of Military History, 1975 The Cutting Edge Mark A. Lorell, Hugh P. Levaux, Elizabeth Giddens, Jennifer Gross, Erik Moller, 1998-10-20 The proposition that innovation is critical in the cost effective design and development of successful military aircraft is still subject to some debate RAND research indicates that innovation is promoted by intense competition among three or more industry competitors Given the critical policy importance of this issue in the current environment of drastic consolidation of the aerospace defense industry the authors here examine the history of the major prime contractors in developing jet fighters since World War II They make use of an extensive RAND database that includes nearly all jet fighters fighter attack aircraft and bombers developed and flown by U S industry since 1945 as well as all related prototypes modifications upgrades etc The report concludes that 1 experience matters because of the tendency to specialize and thus to develop system specific expertise 2 yet the most dramatic innovations and breakthroughs came from secondary or marginal players trying to compete with the industry leaders and 3 dedicated military R D conducted or directly funded by the U S government has been critical in the development of new higher performance fighters and bombers American Military History Daniel K. Blewett,2008-12-30 In this companion volume to his 1995 bibliography of the same title Daniel Blewett continues his foray into the vast literature of military studies As did its predecessor it covers land air and naval forces primarily but not exclusively from a U S perspective with the welcome emergence of small wars from publishing obscurity In addition to identifying relevant organizations and associations Blewett has gathered together the very best in chronologies bibliographies biographical dictionaries indexes journals abstracts glossaries and encyclopedias each accompanied by a brief descriptive annotation This work remains a pertinent addition to the general reference collections of public and academic libraries as well as special libraries government documents collections military and intelligence agency libraries and historical societies and museums US-China Strategic Competition Muhammad Ali Baig,2025-02-18 The book maps the strategic competition between the U S and China its history and the contemporary outlook of their armed forces It analyses the wars fought by each of these forces their military operations operations other than war and draws up a comparative analysis between the military doctrines of both nations The author examines the implications of American and Chinese military doctrine and the varying degrees of cooperation competition and potential conflict in the Western Pacific Finally the book argues for possibilities of cooperation between the two superpowers and suggests ways of minimising potential future conflict The volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of international relations military and strategic studies and Asian studies Architect of Air Power Brian D. Laslie,2017-10-06 A biography of the pioneering four star general chronicling his influence on the United States Air Force At age 36 Laurence S Kuter 1905 1979 became the youngest general officer since William T Sherman He served as deputy commander of allied tactical air forces in North Africa during World War II and helped devise the American bombing strategy in Europe Although his combat contributions were less notable than other commanders in the Eighth Air Force few officers saw as many theaters of operation as he did or were as highly sought after After World War II he led the Military Air Transport Service Air University Far East Air Forces and served as commander in chief of the North American Air Defense Command NORAD Despite these accomplishments and others however Kuter remains widely underappreciated In Architect of Air Power Brian D Laslie offers the first biography of this important but unsung pioneer whose influence can be found in every stage of the development of an independent US Air Force. From his early years at West Point to his days at the Air Corps Tactical School to his leadership role at NORAD, Kuter made his mark with quiet efficiency. He was an early advocate of strategic bombardment rather than pursuit or fighter aviation, fundamentally changing the way air power was used and later helped implement the Berlin airlift in 1948. In what would become a significant moment in military history, he wrote Field Manual 100-20, which is considered the Air Force's declaration of independence from the Army. Drawing on diaries, letters, and scrapbooks, Laslie offers a complete portrait of this influential soldier. Architect of Air Power illuminates Kuter's pivotal contributions and offers new insights into critical military policy and decision making during the Second World War and the Cold War. Praise for Architect of Air Power: Laslie expertly brings into focus perhaps the least known of the major Air Force personalities of World War II and the early Cold War. Kuter was the indispensable behind-the-scenes man in those years, and this book fills a similarly indispensable gap in our understanding of the people and ideas that propelled the nation's air arm to independence and prominence. Thomas Alexander Hughes, author of Over Lord: General Pete Quesada and the Triumph of Tactical Air Power in World War II. Laslie's outstanding work on Laurence Kuter is the first full and highly effective look at this exceptionally important airman. It gives the reader ample evidence of Kuter's central role in making America the quintessential airpower nation during the course of the twentieth century. This will be the book on Kuter for many years to come. Robert S. Ehlers Jr., author of The Mediterranean Air War: Airpower and Allied Victory in World War II. Air Power History, 1993.
