Diagnosis & Treatment of Uveitis C Stephen Foster, Albert T Vitale, 2013-03-30 Uveitis is inflammation of the middle layer of the eye which is known as the uvea or uveal tract. It is a complex condition with a variety of causes and clinical manifestations including injury, infection, or an underlying condition. This 1200pp second edition brings ophthalmologists fully up to date with the latest developments in diagnosing and treating uveitis. Beginning with the basic principles of the disease, its diagnosis and management, the following sections discuss the treatment of numerous different infectious, non-infectious, masquerade, and autoimmune syndromes. Basic science, differential diagnosis, pathology, and clinical management are discussed for each condition. Written by specialists from the Massachusetts Eye Research and Surgery Institution (MERSI) and John A. Moran Eye Center in the USA, this comprehensive new edition includes 699 colour images and illustrations. Key points: Comprehensive second edition bringing ophthalmologists fully up to date with diagnosis and treatment of uveitis. Discusses different uveitis syndromes: infectious, non-infectious, masquerade, and autoimmune. Authored by US ophthalmic specialists. Includes 699 full colour images and illustrations. First edition published in 2001 by Saunders. Therapeutic Immunosuppression A.W. Thomson, 2012-12-06 Therapeutic immunosuppression has very broad applications in clinical medicine, ranging from prevention and treatment of organ and bone marrow transplant rejection, management of various autoimmune disorders (e.g. rheumatoid arthritis, skin disease, and asthma). Whereas traditionally only a small repertoire of immunosuppressive agents was available for clinical use, recent discoveries have significantly increased the number of approved agents, resulting in numerous trials to further evaluate their potential. In addition, products of the biotechnology industry (monoclonal antibodies, cytokines, cytokine antagonists, and other products of genetic engineering that target key molecular pathways in disease pathogenesis) have either already made or are on the verge of making an important impact on treatment. There is also considerable interest in the potential of cell-based therapies, particularly hematopoietic stem and dendritic cell therapy of allo and autoimmunity. Important recent advances in the immunotherapy of allergic diseases are also covered in this book. Gene therapy offers considerable promise for suppressing pathogenic processes in either transplantation or autoimmune disorders. The possibility of combining these important new advances to maximize benefit to the patient and to minimize possible untoward effects, which are also given extensive coverage in this book, is one of the most exciting challenges of contemporary medicine. This volume is intended both for practising physicians and surgeons and for biomedical scientists at the graduate/postdoctoral levels and is designed to provide the theory behind these various approaches to immunosuppression and to provide state-of-the-art reviews of current developments in each area. Each chapter is contributed by one or more experts in the field. There was a need to bring this information together in a single volume as much of the key recent developments have been dispersed throughout the biomedical literature, largely in specialized journals Since as in the past important developments in immunosuppressive therapy in one branch of medicine i e transplantation are likely to benefit another e g dermatology rheumatology gastroenterology cross disciplinary coverage of the mechanistic basis of the various therapeutic strategies in a single volume is likely to convey the potential of advances in therapy in the most coherent manner possible Global Perspectives in Health - Volume I Boutros Pierre Mansourian,2009-07-20 Global Perspectives in Health is a component of Encyclopedia of Biological Physiological and Health Sciences in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Global Perspectives in Health provides the essential aspects and with a myriad of issues of great relevance to our world such as Global Perspectives in Health Determinants of Health and Their Interactions Epidemiology Health and Disease in Populations Health Care Systems Ethical Issues in Health New Problems in Global Health These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs On the Special Needs of Blind and Low Vision Seniors Hans-Werner Wahl,Hans-Eugen Schulze,2001 Main headings I Basic positions II Epidemiology and medical ophthalmological research III Psychosocial issues and daily living skills in different settings empirical and conceptual contributions IV Intervention and rehabilitation empirical and conceptual contributions V Educational issues programs media self help and new technologies VI Learning from each other in an international perspective VII Look into the future MEDICAL AND HEALTH SCIENCES - Volume VI Osmo Otto Paivio Hanninen; Mustafa Atalay; B.P.
