The Reader in the Book Stephen Orgel, 2015-10-30 The Reader in the Book is concerned with a particular aspect of the history of the book an archeology and sociology of the use of margins and other blank spaces One of the most commonplace aspects of old books is the fact that people wrote in them something that until very recently has infuriated modern collectors and librarians But these inscriptions constitute a significant dimension of the book's history and what readers did to books often added to their value Sometimes marks in books have no relation to the subject of the book merely names dates prices paid blank spaces were used for pen trials and doing sums and flyleaves are occasionally the repository of records of various kinds The Reader in the Book deals with that special class of books in which the text and marginalia are in intense communication with each other in which reading constitutes an active and sometimes adversarial engagement with the book The major examples are works that are either classics or were classics in their own time but they are seen here as contemporaries read them without the benefit of centuries of commentary and critical guidance The underlying question is at what point marginalia the legible incorporation of the work of reading into the text of the book became a way of defacing it rather than of increasing its value why did we want books to lose their history      Orientalism John MacKenzie,1995-07-15 The Orientalism debate inspired by the work of Edward Said has been a major source of cross disciplinary controversy in recent years John MacKenzie offers a comprehensive re evaluation of this vast literature of Orientalism and brings to the subject highly original historical perspectives This study provides the first major discussion of Orientalism by a historian of imperialism Setting the analysis within the context of conflicting scholarly interpretations John MacKenzie then carries the discussion into wholly new areas testing the notion that the western arts received genuine inspiration from the East by examining the visual arts architecture design music and theatre      Fourth Reader Henry Mandeville,1850      The Middle East and Islamic World Reader Marvin E. Gettleman,Stuart Schaar,2012-04-10 The many facets of Middle Eastern history and politics are admirably represented in this far ranging anthology Publishers Weekly In this insightful anthology historians Marvin E Gettleman and Stuart Schaar have assembled a broad selection of documents and contemporary scholarship to give a view of the history of the peoples from the core Islamic lands from the Golden Age of Islam to today With carefully framed essays beginning each chapter and brief introductory notes accompanying over seventy readings the anthology reveals the multifaceted societies and political systems of the Islamic world Selections range from theological texts illuminating the differences between Shiite and Sunni Muslims to diplomatic exchanges and state papers to memoirs and literary works to manifestos of Islamic radicals This newly revised and expanded edition covers the dramatic changes in the region since 2005 and the popular uprisings that swept from Tunisia in January 2011 through Egypt Libya and beyond The Middle East and Islamic World Reader is a fascinating historical survey of complex societies that now more than ever are crucial for us to understand Ambitious A timely work it focuses mainly on sociopolitical texts dating from the rise of Islam to the debates concerning U S foreign policy in the post 9 11 world Choice      A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literary Theory Raman Selden,1993-06-08 Unsurpassed as a text for upper division and beginning graduate students Raman Selden s classic text is the liveliest most readable and most reliable guide to contemporary literary theory Includes applications of theory cross referenced to Selden s companion volume Practicing Theory and Reading Literature      A Practical Reader in Contemporary Literary Theory Peter Brooker,Peter Widdowson,2014-05-22 This introduction to
