Moses, 1983 Phosphatic concretions occur within diatomite in the upper part of the Miocene Monterey Formation near Lompoc Calif Absence of disruption of fine laminar bedding in the associated sediment by the concretions shows that they formed after complete compaction of the enclosing sediment The concretions exhibit a strongly concentric color chemical and mineralogic zonation Many of them are composed of a nucleus in which vivianite is the dominant mineral Amorphous ferric phosphate mitridatite and francolite are the dominant phosphatic phases in successive layers toward the surface of the concretions Cd and As contents increase tenfold from the nucleus outward reaching a maximum of 2 000 ppm whereas Ni content with a maximum of 720 ppm and Co content show the opposite trend This mineralogy and elemental composition favor accretion under conditions of continuously increasing Eh and pH during uplift into the fresh ground water zone of the terrestrial environment Shale normalized rare earth element patterns however suggest a marine source for the elements biogenic debris consisting of opal A organic matter and carbonates of the enclosing sediment
