Equality in Asia-Pacific Phil C. W. Chan, 2014-02-04 In 1948 the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed the Universal Declaration of Human Rights stating every human being s right of equality in dignity and right However notwithstanding recognition by the international community of its importance and codification in numerous national and sub national constitutions and legislation reinforced by various multilateral and regional human rights treaties the right of equality continues to be unable to take complete firm hold in all regions and countries Evidence as presented by the insightful papers in this collection published initially as a Special Double Issue of The International Journal of Human Rights dedicated to exploring the place of equality in Asia Pacific societies suggests that although progress is being made the right of equality has not yet fully materialized both in law and in reality in the world s most populous region Many factors particularly entrenched cultural heritage and practices the lingering effects of colonialism and newly found independence and above all pervasive ignorance and prejudices continue to impede the recognition development and protection of equality

in this region Of course equality a normative right and entitlement by virtue of our humanity has neither been fully achieved in societies outside the region Such neo colonial thinking in fact perpetuates and assists in the subjugation of the right of equality in the Asia Pacific Region as a matter of relevance and concern only to Western countries Accordingly we hope that our discussions will also be able to shed light and generate reflections on realities outside the region as interlinked with our aim The Editor s book fee has been donated to the UNICEF Tsunami Fund This book was previously published as a special issue of The International Journal of Human Rights Protecting Humanity Chile Eboe-Osuji, 2010-09-24 Navi Pillay is a modern icon in the world s efforts to protect humanity through international law and policy She played a leading role in the multi national operation to clean up the humanitarian dross left on the essence of modern civilization by the Rwandan Genocide of 1994 Her contributions in that effort were in virtue of her role as a judge and eventually as the President of the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda From there she went on to serve as one of the first appeal judges at the newly established International Criminal Court another international endeavour aimed at protecting humanity through law In time she was fittingly appointed the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights just ahead of a call to honour her with a book of essays in international law and policy for the contributions that she had already made in the international enterprise of protecting humanity Inspired by Pillay some of the modern legends and experts in international law and policy have in this volume shared their experiences and thoughts on how better to protect humanity in our time In the book we read the wise words of Nobel laureates and other envoys of peace renowned international judges and famous scholars as well as those of energetic younger minds with great promise Some chapters are in French Equal Rights United States. Committee on the Judiciary, 1945 Mothering Justice Lucy Baldwin, 2015-10-20 Written by experts with first hand experience Mothering Justice is the first whole book to take motherhood as a focus for criminal and social justice interventions Covering the spectrum of interventions it also makes a powerful case that in particular the imprisonment of mothers and its effect on their children is unnecessary unjust devastating and wasteful To afford justice to these women we must do justice to motherhood This book gives voice to mothers many failed by multiple systems by highlighting the importance of understanding motherhood it serves to inform positive intervention and effective practice in working with vulnerable women Jackie Russell Women s Breakout A challenging interesting and deeply moving book containing the voices of women not often heard Rona Epstein University of Coventry Will add to and develop understanding in relation to working with mothers in criminal justice Vicky Pryce from the Foreword Should be taken very seriously by politicians to do what needs to be done to prevent avoidable damage on future generations Lord David Ramsbotham A Text Book of General Studies Vol I H.
