Eric Fischl The Krefeldproject:

Eric Fischl, 1970-2007 / Arthur C. Danto, Eric Fischl, Robert Enright, Steve Martin, 2008 Eric Fischl emerged in the 1980s as one of America's most important figurative painters. His paintings, many of which show a single intense moment, compel the viewer to participate in a world of middle class suburban ambiguity and drama. In Fischl's engaging, distinctly American canvases, narrative, morality, sexuality, and psychology are preeminent. This volume, an expanded edition of Eric Fischl 1970-2000, is the most comprehensive examination of this important contemporary painter. More than 250 works selected in conjunction with the artist present the full scope of Fischl's career: the formative work of the 1970s, the breakthrough paintings of the 1980s including the controversial Sleepwalker and Bad Boy, and the mature work, often of a personal and contemplative nature, of the 1990s and 2000s. In his most recent paintings, Fischl has turned to multipiece cycles: The Bed, The Chair series, starting with The Philosopher's Chair, canvases inspired by trips to Italy and India, and the paintings Fischl terms "narrative fictions" of the Krefeld Project. These engrossing images have been accomplished with a mastery that has been compared to that of Caravaggio. The introduction by philosopher and critic Arthur C. Danto offers a perceptive study of Fischl's work over the course of four decades. Commentary drawn from interviews with the artist, conducted by noted writer Robert Enright, accompanies the paintings. Finally, a witty and personal afterword by Steve Martin, best known as a gifted comic actor and author, but also an astute collector of modern art, discusses Barbeque, a famed Fischl painting from his private collection.

Eric Fischl Martin Hentschel, 2003 Artbibliographies Modern, 2004 Art in America Frank Jewett Mather, Frederic Fairchild Sherman, 2004 Saturday Night In Sook Kim, Markus Bröderlin, Sabine Schnakenberg, 2009 Time and again we read shocking newspaper reports about people who have lain dead in their homes for months or even years without any of their neighbors taking notice of them. These events are symptomatic of the increasing isolation of human beings, and not just senior citizens in our society. In large cities the risk of falling into complete anonymity is particularly acute. In her works In Sook Kim examines how people confront the threat of isolation. Her elaborate, psychologically persuasive settings show how we use television, computers, sex, alcohol, psychotropics, or illegal drugs in our futile attempts to fill the agonizing void, to drown out the terrible silence and painful awareness of our loneliness. Kim's work Saturday Night condenses all of these escapes into one image: the illuminated windows of a high rise provide an unobstructed view into the abyss of human existence. Munch Revisited Rosemarie E. Pahlke, 2005 In her penetrating new study Na'ama Rokem observes that prose writing, more than poetry, drama, or other genres, came to signify a historic rift that resulted in loss and disenchantment. In Prosaic Conditions Rokem treats prose as a signifying practice that is a practice that creates meaning. During the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, prose emerged in competition with other existing practices, specifically the practice of performance. Using Zionist literature as a test case, Rokem examines the ways in which Zionist authors put prose to use both as a concept and as a literary mode Writing prose enables these authors to grapple with historical political and spatial transformations and to understand the interrelatedness of all of these changes
