Equality Issues For The New Millennium:

Equality Issues for the New Millennium Sneh Shah, 2018-10-26 First published in 2000 this volume is taking stock of equality issues in higher education as we move into the new millennium. It is clear that many positive developments in the 1970s and 1980s have been lost. However, the way forward is not just to reinstate these developments. This book focuses on a number of challenges including bringing equality issues from the periphery to the centre of education, seeking an overarching framework such as human rights to ensure that equality is interpreted in a more comprehensive and systematic way, including every individual in the deliberations about equality, and accepting that an acknowledgement of the needs of specific groups of students has to be paralleled with educating everyone about their responsibilities in relation to the causes and consequences of inequality. Fifteen educationalists from a number of higher education institutions have analyzed their particular area of work in equality, providing the clear message that in the new millennium equality must become truly embedded in real education.

Global Gender Issues in the New Millennium Anne Sisson Runyan, 2018-04-19 Global Gender Issues in the New Millennium argues that the power of gender works to help keep gender, race, class, sexual, and national divisions in place despite increasing attention to gender issues in the study and practice of world politics. Accessible and student friendly for both undergraduate and graduate courses, authors Anne Sisson Runyan and V Spike Peterson analyze gendered divisions of power and resources that contribute to the worldwide crises of representation, violence, and sustainability. They emphasize how hard-won attention to gender equality in world affairs can be co-opted when gender is used to justify or mystify unjust forms of global governance, international security, and global political economy. In the new and updated fourth edition, Runyan and Peterson examine the challenges of forging transnational solidarities to de-gender world politics, scholarship, and practice through renewed politics for greater representation and redistribution. Yet they see promise in coalitional struggles to re-radicalize feminist world political demands to change the downward conditions of women, men, children, and the planet. Updated to include framing questions at the opening of each chapter discussion questions and exercises at the end of each chapter and updated data on gender statistics and policymaking Chapters One and Two have also been revised to provide more support to readers with less of a background in gender politics Case studies and web resources are now also provided Africa and Development
