

A wedding couple is walking away from the camera across a vast, open field. The groom, on the left, is wearing a dark suit. The bride, on the right, is wearing a white wedding dress with a long, flowing veil. They are holding hands. The field is covered in dry, yellowish-brown grass, and there are some green bushes in the background. The lighting suggests it might be late afternoon or early morning.

Clements,1990-01-01 This is the first systematic and thorough study of mysticism or contemplation in these three seventeenth century poets and in three modern writers It not only clarifies the very confused issue of mysticism in seventeenth century poetry but also connects seventeenth century poets with modern literature and science through the contemplative tradition from the Bible and Plato and Church fathers and important mystics of the Middle Ages through Renaissance and modern contemplatives The transformative and redemptive power of contemplative poetry or holy writing regardless of genre or discipline is prominent throughout the book and the relevance indeed the vital necessity of such poetry and of the living contemplative tradition to our apocalyptic modern world is discussed in the last chapter In this chapter attention is given to modern science especially to the new physics and to philosophical and mystical writings of eminent scientists
