Errant Plagiar The Writing Life Of Lady Sarah Cowper 1644 17:

Errant Plagiar Anne Kugler,2002 This is the story of Lady Sarah Cowper based on a diary that she kept from 1700 to 1716 She reveals not only her personal life but also her thoughts about religion politics and society weaving her own words with unattributed quotations from conduct manuals sermons periodicals and other sources The Cambridge Companion to Early Modern Women's Writing Laura Lunger Knoppers,2009-10-08 Featuring the most frequently taught female writers and texts of the early modern period this Companion introduces the reader to the range complexity historical importance and aesthetic merit of women s writing in Britain from 1500 1700 Presenting key textual historical and methodological information the volume exemplifies new and diverse approaches to the study of women s writing The book is clearly divided into three sections covering how women learnt to write and how their work was circulated or published how and what women wrote in the places and spaces in which they lived worked and worshipped and the different kinds of writing women produced from poetry and fiction to letters diaries and political prose This structure makes the volume readily adaptable to course usage The Companion is enhanced by an introduction that lays out crucial framework and critical issues and by chronologies that situate women s writings alongside political and cultural events Women, Identities and Communities in Early Modern Europe Stephanie Tarbin,Susan Broomhall,2016-12-05 Addressing a key challenge facing feminist scholars today this volume explores the tensions between shared gender identity and the myriad social differences structuring women s lives By examining historical experiences of early modern women the authors of these essays consider the possibilities for commonalities and the forces dividing women They analyse individual and collective identities of early modern women tracing the web of power relations emerging from women s social interactions and contemporary understandings of femininity Essays range from the late medieval period to the eighteenth century study women in England France Germany Ireland Italy and Sweden and locate women in a variety of social environments from household neighbourhood and parish to city court and nation Despite differing local contexts the volume highlights continuities in women s experiences and the gendering of power relations across the early modern world Recognizing the critical power of gender to structure identities and experiences this collection responds to the challenge of the complexity of early modern women s lives In paying attention to the contexts in which women identified with other women or were seen by others to identify contributors add new depth to our understanding of early modern women s senses of exclusion and belonging

The Plagiarism Allegation in English Literature from Butler to Sterne R. Terry,2010-09-22 Contributing to the growth in plagiarism studies this timely new book highlights the impact of the allegation of plagiarism on the working lives of some of the major writers of the period and considers plagiarism in relation to the emergence of literary copyright and the aesthetic of originality Misery to Mirth Hannah Newton,2018-05-31 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations The history of early modern medicine often makes for depressing reading It implies that people fell ill took ineffective remedies and died Misery to Mirth seeks to rebalance and brighten our overall picture of early modern health by focusing on the neglected subject of recovery from illness in England c 1580 1720 Drawing on an array of archival and printed materials Misery to Mirth shows that recovery did exist conceptually at this time and that it was a widely reported phenomenon The book takes three main perspectives the first is physiological or medical asking what doctors and laypeople meant by recovery and how they thought it occurred This includes a discussion of convalescent care a special branch of medicine designed to restore strength to the fragile body after illness Secondly the book adopts the viewpoint of patients themselves it investigates how they reacted to escape from death the abatement of pain and suffering and the return to normal life and work The third perspective concerns the patient's loved ones it shows that family and friends usually shared the feelings of patients undergoing a dramatic transformation from anguish to elation Through these discussions the volume shines a light on some of the most profound as well as the more prosaic aspects of early modern existence from attitudes to life and death to details of what convalescents ate for supper and wore in bed

Elite Women in Ascendancy Ireland, 1690-1745 Rachel Wilson, 2015 The late seventeenth and early eighteenth century was a period of great social and political change within Ireland as the Protestant Ascendancy gained control of the country aided by the English government and aristocracy with whom the ruling class in Ireland mixed through marriage and travel The resulting Anglo Irish elite with its distinct transnational identity differed markedly from the preceding Irish elite but at the same time because of its Irish dimension was very different also from the contemporary English and Scottish upper classes Women played key roles in this Anglo Irish elite and the nature of the Protestant Ascendancy can only be completely understood by considering women's roles fully This book provides a thorough examination of the role of women in Ascendancy Ireland It discusses marriage family and social life explores women's roles in economic and political life and in charitable activities and places Irish elite women of this period in their wider historiographical context The book is based on extensive original research including among the papers of aristocratic families in Ireland and Britain and provides a wealth of detail on elite women's lives in this period Rachel Wilson completed her doctorate in modern history at Queen's University Belfast

True Relations Frances E. Dolan, 2013-02-21 Examining seventeenth century crises of evidence and genres of evidence on which both literary critics and historians now depend True Relations explores the notion that we apprehend truth through other people's relations of it and that those relations and our own relation to them are a function of social relationships in conflict

Marriage and Violence Frances Elizabeth Dolan, 2008 Marriage is often described as a melding of two people into one But what or who must be lost fragmented or buried in that process Dolan reveals the contradiction that lies at the very heart of modern marriage We have inherited from early modern England a model of marriage she contends so flawed that its logical consequence is conflict

Early Modern Women and Transnational Communities of Letters Julie D. Campbell, Anne R. Larsen, 2016-12-05 An important contribution to growing scholarship on women's participation in literary cultures this essay collection concentrates on cross national communities of letters to offer a comparative and international approach to early modern women's writing The essays gathered here focus on multiple literatures from several countries ranging from Italy and France to the Low Countries and England Individual essays investigate women in diverse social classes and life stages ranging from siblings and mothers to nuns to celebrated writers the collection overall is invested in crossing geographic linguistic political and religious borders and exploring familial political and religious communities Taken together these essays offer fresh ways of reading early modern women's writing that consider such issues as the changing cultural geographies of the early modern world women's bilingualism and multilingualism and women's sense of identity mediated by local regional national and transnational affiliations and conflicts
