Egypt In The Twenty First Century Challenges For Development:

Egypt in the Twenty First Century M. Riad El-Ghonemy, 2003-07-03 The book focuses on three main themes overpopulation associated with low productivity unemployment persistent poverty and weak savings and investment capacity the post 1950 development strategies and their outcomes the institutional structures that are constraining economic and political progress Egypt in the Twenty First Century is a much need

Egypt in the Twenty First Century M. Riad El-Ghonemy, 2003-07-03 An overview of the political economy and development of contemporary Egypt focusing on the nature and extent of economic reform and restructuring in the last twenty years From the 1919 Revolution to the 2011 Arab Spring Uzi Rabi, Mira Tzoreff, 2024-05-08 Focused on three Egyptian revolutions in 1919 1952 and 2011 this edited book argues that each of these revolutions is a milestone which represents a meaningful turning point in modern Egyptian history Revolutions are typically characterized by a fundamental change in political and social infrastructures as well as in the establishment of new values and norms However it should be noted that this may not be entirely applicable when examining the context of the three Egyptian revolutions the 1919 revolution failed to liberate Egypt from British colonial hegemony the 1952 revolution failed to rework the country's social and economic systems and unify the Arab world and the Arab Spring revolution of 2011 culminated in a chaotic economic and social catastrophe thus failing to solve the young generation's crisis Nevertheless by revisiting and re-defining these revolutions through diverse theoretical frameworks the book proposes that each of them played a significant role in shaping Egypt's political social and cultural identity This book is specifically of interest for students historians and social scientists with a keen interest in Egyptian history and the Middle East offering fresh perspectives and insights into these transformative moments in Egypt's history

Democracy in the Arab World Ibrahim Elbadawi, 2011 Despite notable socio economic development in the Arab region a deficit in democracy and political rights has continued to prevail This book examines the major reasons underlying the persistence of this democracy deficit over the past decades and touches on the prospects for deepening the process of democratization in the Arab World Contributions from major scholars in the region give a cross country analysis of economic development political institutions and social factors and the impact of oil wealth and regional wars and present a model for democracy in the Arab world Case studies are drawn from Algeria Egypt Iraq Jordan Lebanon Syria Sudan and the Gulf region building on these cross country analyses and probing beyond the model's main global variables Looking beyond the effect of oil and conflicts the chapters illustrate how specific socio political history of the country concerned fear of fundamentalist groups collusion with foreign powers and foreign interventions and the co option of the elites by the state contribute to these problems of democratization Situating the democratic position of the Arab World in a global context this book is an important contribution to the field of Middle Eastern politics development studies and studies on conflict and democracy The Spread of Modern Industry to the Periphery Since 1871 Kevin H. O'Rourke, Jeffrey G. Williamson, 2017

This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations Ever since the Industrial Revolution of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries industrialization has been the key to modern economic growth The fact that modern industry originated in Britain and spread initially to north western Europe and North America implied a dramatic divergence in living standards between the industrial North or West and a non industrial or even de industrializing South or Rest This nineteenth century divergence which had profound economic military and geopolitical implications has been studied in great detail by many economists and historians Today this divergence between the West and the Rest is visibly unraveling as economies in Asia Latin America and even sub Saharan Africa converge on the rich economies of Europe and North America This phenomenon which is set to define the twenty first century both economically and politically has also been the subject of a considerable amount of research Less appreciated however are the deep historical roots of this convergence process and in particular of the spread of modern industry to the global periphery This volume fills this gap by providing a systematic comparative historical account of the spread of modern manufacturing beyond its traditional heartland to Southern and Eastern Europe the Middle East Asia Africa and Latin America or what we call the poor periphery It identifies the timing of this convergence finding that this was fastest in the interwar and post World War II years not the more recent miracle growth years It also identifies which driving forces were common to all periphery countries and which were not

Egypt's Culture Wars Samia Mehrez, 2008-04-01 This ground breaking work presents original research on cultural politics and battles in Egypt at the turn of the twenty first century It deconstructs the boundaries between high and low culture drawing on conceptual tools in cultural studies translation studies and gender studies to analyze debates in the fields of literature cinema mass media and the plastic arts Anchored in the Egyptian historical and social contexts and inspired by the influential work of Pierre Bourdieu it rigorously places these debates and battles within the larger framework of a set of questions about the relationship between the cultural and political fields in Egypt

Marginality and Exclusion in Egypt Ray Bush, Habib Ayeb, 2012-06-14 What does it mean to be marginalized Is it a passive condition that the disadvantaged simply have to endure Or is it a manufactured label reproduced and by its nature transitory In the wake of the new uprising in Egypt this insightful collection explores issues of power politics and inequality in Egypt and the Middle East It argues that the notion of marginality tends to mask the true power relations that perpetuate poverty and exclusion It is these dynamic processes of political and economic transformation that need explanation The book provides a revealing analysis of key areas of Egyptian political economy such as labour urbanization and the creation of slums disability refugees street children and agrarian livelihoods reaching the impactful conclusion that marginalization does not mean total exclusion What is marginalized can be called upon to play a dynamic part in the future as is the case with the revolution that toppled President Mubarak

Dynamics of Arab Foreign Policy-Making in the Twenty-First Century Hassan Hamdan Al-Alkim, 2012-04-16 The Arab world's strategic location and its considerable material and human potential should allow it to play a major role in world affairs. However, in addition to sharing language, culture, and history, Arab states also face common challenges: authoritarian regimes, ethnic and social cleavages, economic underdevelopment, and the need for security from the West. Hassan Hamdan al-Alkim examines the dynamics of Arab foreign policy making in the twenty-first century, taking account of the current political developments in the Arab world since January 2011. Through an insightful analysis of pivotal issues such as the Middle East Peace Process, the food and water crisis, and Saudi Arabia's foreign policy, Alkim brings us closer to a nuanced understanding of contemporary Arab politics and its role in world affairs. This balanced and discerning study is essential reading for policy makers, academics, and students of Middle Eastern politics.

Egypt's Strategy to Meet the Sustainable Development Goals and Agenda 2030: Researchers' Contributions El-Sayed E. Omran, Abdelazim M. Negm, 2023-02-01 This book focuses on Egypt as a representative example of emerging economies struggling to achieve their sustainable development goals (SDGs). The Egyptian government has launched Egypt's Vision 2030 in line with the 2030 Agenda, also known as the Sustainable Development Strategy (SDS), which encompasses the economic, social, and environmental dimensions of development. It is under the SDS that all development plans in Egypt are incorporated while, at the same time, being strongly guided by the SDGs. Aware of the principle of shared but differentiated responsibility, Egypt also recognizes that fundamental challenges remain despite a strong willingness to achieve the SDGs. High birth rates, brain drain phenomena, water scarcity, migration, discrimination against women and girls, a growing informal sector, and instability in neighboring states, especially Libya and Syria, are only some of the many hindrances to sustainable development. In order to address these challenges, Egypt relies heavily on the SDGs, which are aimed at transforming our world. Although there is an urgent need for a drastic change in the way we use the Earth, the question arises as to whether the SDGs are sufficient to facilitate such a transformation. This book explores the key environmentally related Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and offers a cutting-edge assessment of current progress with a view to reaching these objectives by 2030. The book highlights some of the key findings and ideas for how research may help achieve the 17 Sustainable Development Goals in enterprises. The book provides a useful framework that can help and aid the Egyptian government to assess the many goals and targets outlined in the 2030 Agenda. The analysis of Egypt can be used as a blueprint for other developing nations and globally in order to guide policy toward achieving the SDGs. Covering food security, water resilience, climate change, agronomics, rural life, environmental impact assessment as a tool for measuring the achievement of the goals, Egyptian education, the COVID-19 pandemic, cultural and societal dimensions, this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of sustainable development and climate change, as well as practitioners and policymakers involved in sustainable development and disaster management.

Between Preservation and Exploitation Kemi Fuentes-George, 2016-03-25

A study of biodiversity governance analyzes the factors that determine the effectiveness of transnational advocacy networks and the importance of justice claims to conservation In the late 2000s ordinary citizens in Jamaica and Mexico demanded that government put a stop to lucrative but environmentally harmful economic development activities bauxite mining in Jamaica and large scale tourism and overfishing on the eastern coast of the Yucatán Peninsula In each case the catalyst for the campaign was information gathered and disseminated by transnational advocacy networks TANs of researchers academics and activists Both campaigns were successful despite opposition from industry supporters Meanwhile simultaneous campaigns to manage land in another part of the Yucatán and to conserve migratory birds in Egypt had far less success In this book Kemi Fuentes George uses these four cases to analyze factors that determine the success or failure of efforts by TANs to persuade policymakers and private sector actors in developing countries to change environmental behavior Fuentes George argues that in order to influence the design and implementation of policy TANs must generate a scientific consensus create social relationships with local actors and advocate for biodiversity in a way that promotes local environmental justice Environmentally just policies would allow local populations access to their lands provided they use natural resources sustainably Justice claims are also more likely to generate needed support among local groups for conservation projects In their conservation efforts Jamaica Mexico and Egypt were attempting to meet their obligations under the UN Convention on Biological Diversity and other regional agreements Fuentes George's innovative analysis shows the importance of local environmental justice for the implementation of international environmental treaties

Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Fuzhi Cheng, 2018-07-05 The food problems now facing the world scarcity and starvation contamination and illness overabundance and obesity are both diverse and complex What are their causes How severe are they Why do they persist What are the solutions In three volumes that serve as valuable teaching tools and have been designed to complement the textbook Food Policy for Developing Countries by Per Pinstrup Andersen and Derrill D Watson II they call upon the wisdom of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography to create a holistic picture of the state of the world's food systems today Volume II of the Case Studies addresses the issues of domestic policies for markets production and the environment Egypt on the Brink Tarek Osman,2013-07-31 DIVIn this immensely readable and thoroughly researched book Tarek Osman explores what has happened to the biggest Arab nation since President Nasser took control of the country in 1954 This new edition takes events up to summer 2013 looking at how Egypt has become increasingly divided under its new Islamist government div Arab Economies in the Twenty-First Century Paul Rivlin,2009-02-09 This book examines the relationship between demographic growth and economic development in eight Arab countries Despite a slowdown in demographic growth as a result of the change in the age structure of the population the labor force is increasing rapidly In other parts of the world similar developments have enhanced economic growth In the Arab world however many of the opportunities presented by demographic transition are being lost resulting in serious threats to the political stability of the region The main reason for this is that the region has missed out on industrialization The book goes beyond conventional analysis to ask two closely related questions The first is why were governments so slow in tackling stability The second is why has the response been similar in apparently different economies Answers are provided using new literature in economics and economic history
