Effective Teaching And Learning Of Writing Current Trends In Research:

Effective Teaching and Learning of Writing Gert Rijlaarsdam, Huub van den Bergh, 1996 Effective Teaching and Learning of Writing describes the current state of the art in research on the way in which children acquire skills in written text production and defines the features of instruction that can play a part in teaching such skills The book discusses research by reflective practitioners the use of computers in the solution of educational problems and formal research into effective approaches to the teaching of writing in primary and secondary education In the concluding section feedback procedures and effective peer group interaction between pupils and interaction between pupil and teacher are focused upon Learning to

Write Effectively: Current Trends in European Research Mark Torrance, Denis Alamargot, Montserrat Castelló, Franck Ganier, Otto Kruse, Anne Mangen, Liliana Tolchinsky, Luuk van Waes, 2012-09-05 This book provides a detailed overview of current or recent research exploring a wide range of ideas theories and practices around written text production European researchers from a broad range of disciplines brought together under the European Research Network on Learning to Write Effectively were instructed to contribute short papers summarising their current activity The papers are grouped around the four main themes The first deals with issues around the development of basic low level writing skills mainly in the early years of education The second section focuses directly on issues around the teaching and learning of writing This is divided into five parts that describe evaluations of different forms of writing instruction research exploring the processes by which writers learn methods of text assessment in educational contexts research exploring the effects of various learner and teacher variables on the development of writing skill and conceptions of and variation in educational text genres The third section reports research exploring effective document design The final section has a main focus on tools for exploring the writing process Reasonableness and Effectiveness in Argumentative Discourse Frans H. van Eemeren, 2015-08-27

This volume presents 50 contributions on the themes of reasonableness and effectiveness and their connections which are central issues in argumentation theory It discusses van Eemeren's views on the study of argumentation the approach to argumentation adopted in pragma dialectics pragma dialectical perspectives on the dialectical and pragmatic dimensions of argumentative discourse the notion of strategic maneuvering the pragma dialectical method of analyzing argumentative discourse the treatment of fallacies as violations of rules for critical discussion pragma dialectical views on context the role of logic verbal indicators of argumentative moves and argument schemes and the process of writing and rewriting argumentative texts The pragma dialectical quantitative approach to empirical research on argumentative discourse is illustrated by reporting on selected illustrative experimental studies as well as qualitative studies of historical cases The SAGE Handbook of Writing Development Roger Beard, Debra Myhill, Jeni Riley, Martin Nystrand, 2009-07-09 Writing development is currently the focus of substantial international debate because it is the aspect of literacy education that has been least responsive to central government and state reforms Teaching approaches in writing have been slower to change

than those in teaching reading and pupil attainment in writing has increased at a much more modest rate than pupil attainment in reading This handbook critically examines research and theoretical issues that impact on writing development from the early years through to adulthood It provides those researching or teaching literacy with one of the most academically authoritative and comprehensive works in the field With expert contributors from across the world the book represents a detailed and valuable overview of a complex area of study     Past, Present, and Future Contributions of Cognitive Writing Research to Cognitive Psychology Virginia Wise Berninger, 2012-05-04 This volume tells the story of research on the cognitive processes of writing from the perspectives of the early pioneers the contemporary contributors and visions of the future for the field Writing processes yield important insights into human cognition and is increasingly becoming a mainstream topic of investigation in cognitive psychology and cognitive neuroscience Technological advances have made it possible to study cognitive writing processes as writing unfolds in real time This book provides an introduction to these technologies The first part of the volume provides the historical context for the significance of writing research for contemporary cognitive psychology and honors the pioneers in cognitive and social cognitive research in this field The book then explores the rapidly expanding work on the social foundations of cognitive processes in writing and considers not only gender differences but also gender similarities in writing The third part presents a lifespan view of writing in early and middle childhood adolescence higher education and the world of work There follows an examination of the relationships of language processes at the word sentence and text levels to the cognitive processes in writing Part V covers representative research on the cognitive processes of writing translation and reviewing and revision and the working memory mechanisms that support those processes A review of the current technologies used to study these cognitive processes on line as they happen in real time is provided Part VII provides an introduction to the emerging new field of the cognitive neuroscience of writing made possible by the rapidly evolving brain imaging technologies which are interpretable in reference to paradigms in cognitive psychology of writing The final section of the book offers visions of the future of writing research from the perspective of contemporary leaders in writing research     Handbook of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts Douglas Fisher, Diane Lapp, 2023-12-22 Now in its fifth edition the Handbook of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts sponsored by the International Literacy Association and the National Council of Teachers of English remains at the forefront in bringing together prominent scholars researchers and professional leaders to offer an integrated perspective on teaching the English language arts and a comprehensive overview of research in the field Reflecting important developments since the publication of the fourth edition in 2017 this new edition is streamlined and completely restructured around big ideas in the field related to theoretical and research foundations learners in context and new literacies Addressing all the language arts within a holistic perspective speaking listening viewing language writing reading it covers new and important topics such as online learning multimodalities culturally responsive learning and more     New Learning Robert-Jan

Simons, Jos van der Linden, Tom Duffy, 2007-05-08 This book brings together research and theory about New Learning the term we use for new learning outcomes new kinds of learning processes and new instructional methods that are both wanted by society and stressed in psychological theory in many countries at present It describes and illustrates the differences as well as the modern versions of the traditional innovative ideas      Research on Writing: Approaches in Mental Health

Luciano L'Abate, Laura Sweeney, 2011-11-07 Writing as a medium of professional help and healing in the various interventional tiers of self help education promotion prevention and psychotherapy and rehabilitation has expanded exponentially since the introduction of computers and the Internet in the last generation This volume does three things Firstly it brings together research on different types of writing and distance writing that have been or need to be used by mental health professionals Secondly it critically evaluates the therapeutic effectiveness of these writing practices such as automatic writing programmed writing poetry therapy diaries expressive writing and more And thirdly in addition to evaluating the effectiveness of various writing practices the volume will examine how research based writing approaches will influence the delivery of mental health services now and in the future including the implications of these approaches

Traditions of Writing Research Charles Bazerman, Robert Krut, Karen Lunsford, Susan McLeod, Suzie Null, Paul Rogers, Amanda Stansell, 2009-10-16 Traditions of Writing Research reflects the various styles of work offered at the Writing Research Across Borders conference This volume like the conference that it grew out of will bring new perspectives to the rich dialogue of contemporary research on writing and advance understanding of this complex and important human activity

Measuring Writing: Recent Insights into Theory, Methodology and Practice Elke van Steendam, Marion Tillema, Gert Rijlaarsdam, Huub van den Bergh, 2012-11-20 This volume provides a state of the art overview of theory methodology and practices in the assessment of writing The focus throughout the book is on the construct of writing and its assessment what constitutes writing ability and how can it be defined in various contexts This question cannot be answered without looking into the methodological question of how to validate and measure the construct of writing ability Throughout the book therefore discussions integrate theoretical and methodological issues A number of chapters discusses whether varying definitions and varying operationalizations of writing ability are needed in various contexts such as formative assessments versus summative assessments large scale assessments versus individual assessments different tasks different genres and different languages but also different age groups A range of rating methods is investigated and discussed in this book The ongoing debate on holistic versus analytic ratings and the different underlying conceptions of writing proficiency is a pertinent matter on which a number of chapters in this volume shed new light The matter is discussed and analyzed from various angles such as generalizability of judgements and usability in formative contexts Another fundamental debate concerns computer scoring of written products A nuanced discussion of its validity is presented in this volume      Written Documents in the Workplace Denis Alamargot, Patrice Terrier, Jean-Marie Cellier, 2008-01-09 Divided into three parts the first of which provides a linguistic definition of professional documents describing their different types and genres This definition necessarily takes into account both the formal characteristics of these types of document e g nature of linguistic units involved and their functional goals the way these linguistic units are used to fulfill the text s communicative aim The second part focuses on the mental mechanisms involved in written production in the workplace One of the aims of a professional writer is to compose a text which can be understood Text composition involves specific processes and strategies that can be enhanced One way of doing this is to give the writer suitable instructions while another is to provide him/her with a suitable writing environment This last aspect leads us to devote the third and final section to the comprehension of written documents in the workplace Awareness of the strategies implemented by different readers with more or less domain expertise in order to understand technical and professional documents can enhance the latter s readability Contributions from linguists psychologists and ergonomists from various countries ensure international scope and comprehensiveness Bridges the gap between fundamental research into writing and reading and the issue of the efficiency of written communication in the workplace Enables better content creation for professional writers

Writing and Digital Media

Luuk van Waes, Mariëlle Leijten, Christophe Neuwirth, 2006-04-04 Digital media has become an increasingly powerful force in modern society This volume brings together outstanding European American and Australian research in writing and digital media and explores its cognitive social and cultural implications The book is divided into five sections covering major areas of research writing modes and writing environments e g speech technology writing and communication e g hypervideos digital tools for writing research e g web analysis tools keystroke logging and eye tracking writing in online educational environments e g collaborative writing in L2 and social and philosophical aspects of writing and digital media e g CMC electronic literacy and the global digital divide In addition to presenting programs of original research by internationally known scholars from a variety of disciplines each chapter provides a comprehensive review of the current state of the art in the field and suggests directions for future research

Transforming Literacies and Language Caroline M. L. Ho, Kate T.

Anderson, Alvin P. Leong, 2010-11-18 Technology mediated communication cannot help but inform our literacies This book is a reconceptualization of the role of language and pedagogy in what Kress 2003 has termed the new media age At the heart of the volume is the notion of transformation a change in discourse practices meaning making technology and as a result literacy acquisition itself The chapters look at language as positioned in a hugely multimodal world Communication extends beyond the traditional realms of discourse from the collaborative efforts of wikis to the hybrid speech and text of online messaging These new areas of meaning making are excellent and extremely important avenues to explore for academics interested in applied linguistics language and literature language acquisition and multimodality

Writing and Cognition

Mark Torrance, Luuk van Waes, David Galbraith, 2007-01-01 Writing is central to the functioning of developed societies However the psychological processes that allow us to transform complex ideas into language and express them on paper or computer screen are poorly understood Writing and Cognition goes some way towards remedying this It describes new and diverse work both by field leaders and by newer researchers exploring the complex relationships between language the mind and the environments in which writers work Chapters range in focus from a detailed analysis of single word production to the writing of whole texts They explore the basic processes involved in writing the effects of writing on thought and how these vary across different educational and workplace contexts Writing and Motivation Suzanne Hidi,Pietro Boscolo,2006-11-01 The aim of this volume is to bring together contributions from international research on writing and motivation It not only addresses the basic question of how motivation to write can be fostered but also provides analyses of conceptual and theoretical issues at the intersection of the topics of motivation and writing What emerges from the various chapters is that the motivational aspects of writing represent a rich productive and partially still unexplored research field This volume is a step in the direction of a more systematic analysis of the problems as well as an effort to present and compare various models perspectives and methods of motivation and writing It addresses the implications of writing instruction based on the 2 main approaches to writing research cognitive and socio cultural It provides systematic analysis of the various models perspectives and methods of motivation and writing It brings together the international research available in this burgeoning field

Creation, Use, and Deployment of Digital Information Herre van Oostendorp,Leen Breure,Andrew Dillon,2005-05-06 Using a philosophical cognitive and technical standpoint this volume addresses the issue of what digital information actually is The work also presents research outcomes from the perspective of research in information science covering a range of theoretical and practical approaches Translation of Thought to Written Text While Composing Michel Fayol,M. Denis Alamargot, Virginia Berninger,2012-05-04 Translation of cognitive representations into written language is one of the most important processes in writing This volume provides a long awaited updated overview of the field The contributors discuss each of the commonly used research methods for studying translation theorize about the nature of the cognitive and language representations and cognitive linguistic transformation mechanisms involved in translation during writing and make the case that translation is a higher order executive function that is fundamental to the writing process The book also reviews the application of research to practice that is the translation of the research findings in education and the work world for individuals who interact with others using written language to communicate ideas This volume provides a rich resource for student theorists and empirical researchers in cognitive psychology linguistics and education and teachers and clinicians who can use the research in their work Students Writing in the University Carys Jones,Joan Turner,Brian Street,2000-01-15 This volume aims to raise awareness of the underlying complexities concerning student writing in the universities The authors address a series of theoretical as well as practical questions regarding the literacies required of students in Higher Education from the perspective of both students themselves and of their tutors The research described here intends to move beyond the narrow confines of current policy debates and the quick fix solutions of writing manuals to explore the epistemological cultural historical and theoretical bases of such writing Issues addressed include the nature of competing epistemologies that underlie the writing process and the varying degrees of explicitness about what academic writing entails ways of challenging the institutional marginalisation of academic writing as teaching learning and research practice what counts as knowledge and how far it is mediated by the rhetorical conventions of one culture to what extent the challenging of such rhetorical conventions is itself a crucial epistemological issue Writing in this volume then is addressed in terms of academic literacy practices involving relations of power issues of identity and theories of knowledge

Revision

Cognitive and Instructional Processes Linda Allal,L. Chanquoy,Pierre Largy,2012-12-06 Revision Revisited LINDA ALLAL LUCILE CHANQUOY University ofGeneva Switzerland UniversityofNantes France Revision is a fundamental component of the writing process So fundamental that for some specialists writing is largely a matter of revising or as Murray 1978 stated Writing is rewriting p 85 Experience with writing does not however automatically translate into increased skill in revision Learning to revise is a lengthy complex endeavor Beginning writers do little revision spontaneously and even experienced writers encounter difficulties in attempting to improve the quality of their texts Fitzgerald 1987 Although revision has been extensively dealt with in the writing and learning to write literature this book proposes to revisit theory and research in this area through a series of new contributions The introduction begins with an overview of what revision encompasses It then examines two parallel interrogations that under lie the chapters assembled here namely 1 What are the implications of research on cognitive processes for instruction in revision 2 What are the questions raised by instructional research for the investigation of cognitive processes of revision A final section presents the chapters of this book

Writing Elena L. Grigorenko,Elisa Mambrino,David D. Preiss,2012-05-04 This book captures the diversity and richness of writing as it relates to different forms of abilities skills competencies and expertise Psychologists educators researchers and practitioners in neighboring areas are interested in exploring how writing develops and in what manner this development can be fostered but they lack a handy unified and comprehensive source of information to satisfy their interest The goal of this book is to fill this void by reflecting on the phenomenon of writing from a developmental perspective It contains an integrated set of chapters devoted to issues of writing how writing develops how it is and should be taught and how writing paths of development differ across writing genres Specifically the book addresses typologies of writing pathways of the development of writing skills stages of the development of writing individual differences in the acquisition of writing skills writing ability and disability teaching writing and the development and demonstration of expertise in writing
