Economic Systems Of Northern Thailand Structure And Change:

Economic Systems of Northern Thailand Edward Van Roy, 1971 Economic Systems of Northern Thailand; Structures and Change, 1970 Research study of the economic system and anthropology of tribal peoples in mountain regions and of the tea plantation economy of Northern Thailand covers the social structures cultivation techniques and agricultural production the political system of the indigenous peoples etc And outlines an economic development strategy for the northern Thai uplands Bibliography pp 261 to 275 and statistical tables Forest Guardians, Forest Destroyers Tim Forsyth, Andrew Walker, 2011-07-01 In this far reaching examination of environmental problems and politics in northern Thailand Tim Forsyth and Andrew Walker analyze deforestation water supply soil erosion use of agrochemicals and biodiversity in order to challenge popularly held notions of environmental crisis They argue that such crises have been used to support political objectives of state expansion and control in the uplands They have also been used to justify the alternative directions advocated by an array of NGOs In official and alternative discourses of economic development the peoples living in Thailand's hill country are typically cast as either guardians or destroyers of forest resources often depending on their ethnicity Political and historical factors have created a simplistic misleading and often scientifically inaccurate environmental narrative Hmong farmers for example are thought to exhibit environmentally destructive practices whereas the Karen are seen as linked to and protective of their ancestral home Forsyth and Walker reveal a much more complex relationship of hill farmers to the land to other ethnic groups and to the state They conclude that current explanations fail to address the real causes of environmental problems and unnecessarily restrict the livelihoods of local people The authors critical assessment of simplistic environmental narratives as well as their suggestions for finding solutions will be valuable in international policy discussions about environmental issues in rapidly developing countries Moreover their redefinition of northern Thailand's environmental problems and their analysis of how political influences have reinforced inappropriate policies demonstrate new ways of analyzing how environmental science and knowledge are important arenas for political control This book makes valuable contributions to Thai studies and more generally to the fields of environmental science ecology geography anthropology and political science as well as to policy making and resource management in the developing world Thai Agriculture Lindsay Falvey, 2000 The history science and social aspects of today's Thai agriculture is traced from hunters and gatherers through agro cities through State religious Empires and immigrating Tai to produce a sustainable agriculture The wet glutinous rice culture determined administrative structures in a pragmatic society which regularly produced a saleable surplus Continuing today these systems consolidated the importance of rice agriculture to national security and economic well being as Chinese and European influence benefited agribusiness and initiated the demand which would expand agriculture through population increase until accessible land was expended As agriculture declined in relative financial importance it continued to provide the benefits of employment crisis resilience self sufficiency rural social support and cultural custody Agricultural institutions evolved from a taxation and dispute resolution base to provide research education and technology transfer at levels below potential as they supported commercial agriculture funded by credit Agribusiness expanded from the 1960s and small holders were partly viewed as a past relic which agribusiness could modernise Unique elements of Thai agriculture include irrigation technologies administrative structures based on water control global leadership in many agricultural commodities multinational agribusiness negotiating approaches potential for further increases from known technologies and an open culture which has embraced new ideas One of the world s few major agricultural exporters Thailand leads the world in rice rubber canned pineapple and black tiger prawn production and export the region in chicken meat export and several other commodities and feeds more the four times its own population from less intensive agriculture than its neighbours Poised to benefit from expansion in livestock demand poverty reduction and improved education research and legal and social systems evident in the recent Asian financial crisis will be considered with popular concern for socially sensitive alternatives for small holder farmers to co exist with commercial agriculture Thailand will likely remain one of the world s major agricultural countries in social environmental and economic terms for the foreseeable future as it addresses the continuing rural issues of poverty and inequity

Money and Power in Provincial Thailand Ruth McVey, 2001-01-01 Most studies of Southeast Asian economic change focus on the phenomenal growth experienced by a few large cities such as Jakarta Bangkok Hong Kong Kuala Lumpur and Singapore Big business has been viewed as the economic engine fueling the region s growth and prosperity Studies of the rural areas have concerned themselves with the social and environmental impact of metropolitan growth villages emptied by migration to the big cities cultures crushed by tourist development and agribusiness and lush landscapes destroyed by the devastation of natural resources The literature reveals that few analysts have examined the middle distance between metropolis and countryside The contributors to this book have addressed the issue by concentrating on the intermediate level of economic political and social life the world of Thailand s provincial cities and market towns In the past decade the rise of frequently violent competition for business and political leadership in the Thai provinces and the growing importance of provincial support for national powerholders has drawn attention to the way in which these town and village centers are being transformed by capitalist development This volume brings together some of the research inspired by this drawing on a variety of disciplinary approaches national backgrounds and sites of study Contributors Daniel Arghiros Chris Baker Sombat Chantornvong Kevin Hewison Jim LoGerfo Ruth McVey Michael J Montesano James Ockey Pasuk Phongpaichit Maniemai Thongyou Yoko Ueda

Cooper,1984 Resource Mobilization in Traditional Irrigation Systems of Northern Thailand Uraivan Tan-kim-yong,1983 The Political Economy of Productivity David H. Feeny,2011-11-01 The economic history of Thailand between 1880 and 1975 contrasts sharply with the development experiences of other Third World countries Between the opening of trade in 1850 and 1941 when war halted economic activity Thailand became a major exporter of rice in the world market Although conditions for further growth seemed highly favourable Thailand's rapid integration into the world economy failed to improve living standards and rice yields actually declined In examining the causes of the underdevelopment of Thai agriculture over the last 100 years Feeny introduces supply and demand models of technical and institutional change to analyse why the rice export boom did not result in more development This book much of which is based on primary research in the Thai National Archives is one of the few quantitative economic histories of a less developed country Report,1972 Micro-Approaches to Demographic Research John Caldwell,Allan Hill,Valerie J. Hull,2023-10-02 Originally published in 1988 this collection of essays was the first attempt by population scientists to incorporate some of the methods and materials of anthropologists into their work The essays bridge the gap in the conceptualisation and organisation of field research by 2 sets of social scientists demographers and social anthropologists who share an interest in the explanation of particular patterns of population composition and change

Traders of the Golden Triangle Andrew Forbes,David Henley,2013-02-03 During the latter half of the twentieth century the little known and often lawless region where Laos Burma Thailand and China meet has become known and widely romanticised as The Golden Triangle Originally a Western designation applied to the region because of its wealth in jade silver rubies lumber rare animal products and above all opium the name has stuck and is today accepted both in Chinese and in Thai By reputation by very definition the area is off the beaten track The home of drug warlords arms dealers insurgent armies latter day slave traders and plain old fashioned bandits it is also the home of an extraordinarily wide range of colourful ethnic minorities many still only partly known and understood and a veritable Tower of Babel linguistically 36 500 words 70 historical images 46 contemporary images 5 maps Bibliography Department of State News Letter United States. Department of State,1971 Shifting Cultivation Policies Malcolm Cairns,2017-11-13 Shifting cultivation supports around 200 million people in the Asia Pacific region alone It is often regarded as a primitive and inefficient form of agriculture that destroys forests causes soil erosion and robs lowland areas of water These misconceptions and their policy implications need to be challenged Swidden farming could support carbon sequestration and conservation of land biodiversity and cultural heritage This comprehensive analysis of past and present policy highlights successes and failures and emphasizes the importance of getting it right for the future This book is enhanced with supplementary resources The addendum chapters can be found at www.cabi.org/openresources 91797
