Education Through Partnership Mediating Structures And Education:

Education Through Partnership David S. Seeley, 1985 This book looks at the structural causes of America's present educational malaise and proposes a reconceptualization of public education policy The United States educational system has been caught in a highly unproductive trap because education has been delegated to a government agency and allowed to be managed through a bureaucratic chain of command Political accountability labyrinthine organization and professionalization have all combined to disempower the key actors teachers students parents and other community members The author proposes a partnership model in which education is the shared responsibility of families of students themselves and of other elements of the community Although schools and school systems would remain all roles and functions would be redefined to give priority to the interactions and motivations essential to teaching and learning In three major sections the book 1 criticizes the present model 2 proposes the partnership model and 3 applies this model to such issues as equal opportunity community control vouchers school size busing bilingual education minimum competency testing sex education and censorship LHW form the foundations of a healthy society What keeps society going after all is that most people feel they should work however well they might do without working and that they should take care of their families however attractive it might appear on occasion to desert them Glazer proposes new kinds of social policies that would strengthen social structures and traditional restraints Thus to reinforce the incentive to work he would attach to low income jobs the same kind of fringe benefits health insurance social security vacations with pay that now make higher paying jobs attractive and that paradoxically are already available in some form to those on welfare More generally he would reorient social policy to fit more comfortably with deep and abiding tendencies in American political culture toward volunteerism privatization and decentralization After a long period of quiescence social policy and welfare reform are once again becoming salient issues on the national political agenda Nathan Glazer's deep knowledge and considered judgment distilled in this book will be a source of advice ideas and inspiration for citizens and policymakers alike

Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2005-02-16 Completely revised and expanded from four to five volumes this new edition of the Handbook of Parenting appears at a time that is momentous in the history of parenting Parenting and the family are today in a greater state of flux question and redefinition than perhaps ever before We are witnessing the emergence of striking permutations on the theme of parenting blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads One cannot but be awed on the biological front by technology that now not only renders postmenopausal women capable of childbearing but also presents us with the possibility of designing babies Similarly on the sociological front single parenthood is a modern day fact of life adult child dependency is on the rise and parents are ever less certain of their own roles even in the face of rising environmental and institutional demands that they take increasing responsibility for their offspring The Handbook of Parenting concerns itself with different types of parents mothers and fathers single adolescent and adoptive parents basic characteristics of parenting behaviors knowledge beliefs and expectations about parenting forces that shape parenting evolution genetics biology employment social class culture environment and history problems faced by parents handicap marital difficulties drug addiction and practical concerns of parenting how to promote children's health foster social adjustment and cognitive competence and interact with school legal and public officials Contributors to the Handbook of Parenting have worked in different ways toward understanding all these diverse aspects of parenting and all look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent wonders about Each chapter addresses a different but central topic in parenting each is rooted in current thinking and theory as well as classical and modern research in that topic each has been written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting In addition each chapter follows a standard organization including an introduction to the chapter as a whole followed by historical considerations of the topic a discussion of central issues and theory a review of classical and modern research forecasts of future directions of theory and research and a set of conclusions Of course contributors own convictions and research are considered but contributions to this new edition present all major points of view and central lines of inquiry and interpret them broadly The Handbook of Parenting is intended to be both comprehensive and state of the art As the expanded scope of this second edition amply shows parenting is naturally and closely allied with many other fields

The Red Pencil Theodore R.Sizer,2008-10-01 This engaging and important book is a critique of American education wrapped in a memoir Drawing on his fifty years as teacher principal researcher professor and dean Theodore R Sizer identifies three crucial areas in which policy discussion about public education has been dangerously silent He argues that we must break that silence and rethink how to educate our youth Sizer discusses our failure to differentiate between teaching and learning noting that formal schooling must adapt to and confront the powerful influences found outside traditional classrooms He examines the practical as well as philosophical necessity for sharing policy making authority among families schools and centralized governments And he denounces our fetish with order our belief that the familiar routines that have existed for generations are the only way to bring learning to children Sizer provides alternatives to these failed routines guidelines for creating a new educational system that would among other things break with wasteful traditional practice utilize agencies and arrangements beyond the school building and design each child s educational program around his or her particular needs and potential

Family Life and School Achievement Reginald Clark,1984-10-15 Working mothers broken homes poverty racial or ethnic background poorly educated parents these are the usual reasons given for the academic problems of poor urban children Reginald M Clark contends however that such structural characteristics of families neither predict nor explain the wide variation in academic achievement among children He emphasizes instead the total family life stating that the most important indicators of academic potential are embedded in family culture To support his contentions Clark offers ten intimate portraits of Black families in Chicago Visiting the homes of poor one and two parent families of high and low achievers Clark made detailed observations on the quality of home life noting how family habits and interactions affect school success and what characteristics of family life provide children with school survival skills a complex of behaviors attitudes and knowledge that are the essential elements in academic success Clark s conclusions lead to exciting implications for educational policy If school achievement is not dependent on family structure or income parents can learn to inculcate school survival skills in their children Clark offers specific suggestions and strategies for use by teachers parents school administrators and social service policy makers but his work will also find an audience in urban anthropology family studies and Black studies
