O. Tomlin, 2024-10-09 The Uley Tablets is the first full publication of the eighty Roman lead writing tablets found in the excavation of a Romano British temple in the Cotswolds the temple of the god Mercury at Uley Gloucestershire together with two from the nearby site of Tarlton Like those found in the hot spring at Bath they are curse tablets so called because they seek divine intervention against the writer's enemies who are mostly thieves unknown They complain of farm animals being stolen or bewitched even a stolen beehive the first document of bee keeping in Britain the theft of clothing such as gloves cloaks and gaiters woman's underwear the theft of rings and sums of money ranging from two mites to a hundred thousand denarii In formalised language they ask the god to recover their property and punish the thieves with ill health or the greatest death These tablets are the richest collection of manuscripts from the countryside of Roman Britain unique as a written witness to the social and economic history of the province since they were not found in the usual urban or military context They are a major new source for studying the language whether written or spoken of the civil population The Uley Tablets provide a practical lesson in how to decipher Roman handwriting and in this volume they are transcribed and translated with detailed commentary each inscribed face illustrated with a photograph and line drawing These texts are preceded by eleven introductory chapters which outline their context and content the way in which the god was approached the language and handwriting employed and the implications for the study of literacy in Roman Britain The Uley Tablets offer a vivid contribution to ancient history with a disturbing modern echo Innermost Asia; Detailed Report of Explorations in Central Asia, Detailed Report of Explorations in Central Asia, Kan-su and Eastern Īrān, Carried Out and Described Under the Orders of H. M. Indian Government Sir Aurel Stein, 1928 The Youth's Companion Nathaniel Willis, Daniel Sharp Ford, 1883 Includes music Tied and Bound: A Comparative View on Manuscript Binding Alessandro Bausi, Michael Friedrich, 2023-08-07 The present volume contains twelve chapters authored by specialists of Asian African and European manuscript cultures reflecting on the cohesion of written artefacts particularly manuscripts Assuming that codicological units exist in every manuscript culture and that they are usually composed of discrete elements such as clay tablets papyrus sheets bamboo slips parchment bifolios palm leaves the issue of the cohesion of the constituents is a general one The volume presents a series of case studies on devices and strategies adopted to achieve this cohesion by manuscript cultures distant in space from China to West Africa and time from the third millennium bce to the present This comparative view provides the frame for the understanding of a phenomenon that appears to be of essential importance for the study of the structure of written artefacts Regardless of the way in which cohesion is realised all strategies and devices that allow the constituents to be kept together are subsumed under the term binding Thus it is possible to highlight similarities convergences and unique physical and technical methods adopted by various manuscript cultures to face a common challenge Seals on the Persepolis Fortification Tablets Mark B.
