East Asian Pragmatics Xinren Chen, Doreen Dongying Wu, 2022-08-26 Most of the innovative and exciting work done by East Asian pragmatists on their languages past and present alike is written and published in local languages As a result research published in and about a particular East Asian language has been largely unavailable to those who do not speak the language The contributors seek to present a comprehensive survey of existing outputs of pragmatics research on three major East Asian languages Chinese Japanese and Korean The survey concentrates on a number of core pragmatic topics such as speech acts deixis discourse markers conversation analysis discourse analysis and face impoliteness To complement and compare with the picture of research work published in the local languages the volume also includes a survey of internationally published English mediated articles and books studying the regional languages or contrasting them with other languages A riveting discourse on pragmatics research it will be a valuable read for students and scholars alike

Recent Advances in the Syntax and Semantics of Tense, Aspect and Modality Louis de Saussure, Jacques Moeschler, Genoveva Puskás, 2008-09-25 It is a fact that tense aspect and modality together form one of the most recurring and active areas of research in contemporary syntax and semantics as well as in other disciplines of linguistics A large number of syntactic and semantic phenomena are concerned by the temporal aspectual modal level of representation information about time aspect and modality is part of virtually all sentences inflexion is quite widely considered as the core of syntactic projections Because of this very crucial situation and role in the sentence structure temporal aspectual and modal information concerns virtually any part of the sentence and this information has scope over the whole characterization of the eventuality denoted by the sentence This book is an up to date milestone for the studies of temporality and language in particular regarding syntax and semantics but with incidental hints to pragmatics and theories of human natural language understanding Through this very tight selection of 15 papers originally delivered during the 6th Chronos colloquium tenses aspect and modality are investigated both at the descriptive and theoretical levels involving many different Indo European and non Indo European languages The volume sheds light on a wide array of phenomena that remained too little explored until now These include the following modal subordination in Japanese epistemic modals in Dutch and English in Free Indirect Speech contexts aspectual readings of idioms adverb licensing with the German perfect French imperfective past compared with English progressive past infinitival perfect in English Adult Root Infinitives economy constraints on temporal subordinations future modality past interpretation of present tense in embedded clauses and time without tenses in Mandarin and Navajo The book is of interest to scholars and advanced students in the fields of linguistics general linguistics semantics syntax as well as philosophy and logic

Soliloquy in Japanese and English Yoko Hasegawa, 2010 Language is recognized as an instrument of communication and thought Under the shadow of prevailing investigation of language as a communicative means its function as a tool for thinking has long been neglected in empirical research vis a vis philosophical discussions Language manifests itself differently when there is no interlocutor to communicate and interact How is it similar and how does it differ in these two situations communication and thought Soliloquy in Japanese and English analyzes experimentally obtained soliloquy data in Japanese and in English and explores the potential utility of such data for delving into this uncharted territory It deals with five topics in which elimination from discourse of an addressee is particularly relevant and significant Four are derived from Japanese the sentence final particles ne and yo deixis and anaphora gendered speech linguistic politeness the fifth topic is the use of the second person pronoun you in soliloquy in English

Nominalization in Asian Languages Foong Ha Yap, Karen Grunow-Hårsta, Janick Wrona, 2011-06-29 Research on nominalization a process that gives rise to referring expressions has always played a central role in linguistic investigations Over the years there has also been growing evidence that nominalization constructions often extend to non referential domains They participate in noun modifying expressions e g genitive and relative clauses subordinate clauses and topic constructions finite structures with the nominalizers reanalyzed as TAM markers and stance constructions with evaluative attitudinal evidential and epistemic overtones This volume brings together historical and crosslinguistic evidence from more than 20 different languages representing six different language families spanning the Asian continent and the Pacific and Indian oceans to elucidate the strategies and grammaticalization pathways that give rise to both referential and non referential uses of nominalization constructions This collection highlights the diversity of strategies and at the same time the robust cyclical nature of change within and across languages The combined diachronic and typological analyses in this volume are particularly valuable for linguistic research on diachronic morphosyntax and linguistic universals and are also an important supplementary cross referencing tool for linguistic investigations of versatile and ubiquitous morphemes in under documented languages

Handbook of Japanese Semantics and Pragmatics Wesley M. Jacobsen, Yukinori Takubo, 2020-10-12 The volume on Semantics and Pragmatics presents a collection of studies on linguistic meaning in Japanese either as conventionally encoded in linguistic form the field of semantics or as generated by the interaction of form with context the field of pragmatics representing a range of ideas and approaches that are currently most influential in these fields The studies are organized around a model that has long currency in traditional Japanese grammar whereby the linguistic clause consists of a multiply nested structure centered in a propositional core of objective meaning around which forms are deployed that express progressively more subjective meaning as one moves away from the core toward the periphery of the clause The volume seeks to achieve a balance in highlighting both insights that semantic and pragmatic theory has to offer to the study of Japanese as a particular language and conversely contributions that Japanese has to make to semantic and pragmatic theory in areas of meaning that are either uniquely encoded or encoded to a higher degree of specificity in Japanese by comparison to other languages such as conditional forms forms expressing varying types of speaker modality and social deixis

Asymmetry in Grammar Anna Maria Di Sciullo, 2003-03-20 Asymmetry in Grammar Syntax and Semantics brings to fore the centrality of asymmetry in DP VP and CP A finer grained articulation of the DP is proposed and further functional projections for restrictive relatives as well as a refined analyses of case identification and presumptive pronouns The papers on VP discuss further asymmetries among arguments and between arguments and adjuncts Double object constructions specificational copula sentences secondary predicates and the scope properties of adjuncts are discussed in this perspective The papers on CP propose a further articulation of the phrasal projection justifications for Remnant IP movement and an analysis of variation in clause structure asymmetries The papers in semantics support the hypothesis that interpretation is a function of configurational asymmetry The type token information difference is further argued to correspond to the partition between the upper and lower level of the phrase It is also proposed that Point of View Roles are not primitives of the pragmatic component but are head dependent categories Configurationality is further argued to be required to distinguish contrastive from non contrastive Topic Compositionality is proposed to explain cross linguistic variations in the selectional behavior of typologically different languages The papers in syntax include contributions from Antonia Androutsopoulou and Manuel Espinosa Echevarra a Dana Isac Edit Jakab Cedric Boeckx Julie Anne Legate Maria Cristina Cuervo Jacqueline Gu ron Niina Zhang Thomas Ernst Manuela Ambar Jean Yves Pollock Anna Maria Di Sciullo Ilena Paul and Stanca Somesfalean The papers on semantics include contributions of Greg Carlson Peggy Speas and Carol Tenny

Chungmin Lee and James Pustejovsky Handbook of Quantifiers in Natural Language: Volume II Denis Paperno, Edward L. Keenan, 2017-06-30 This work presents the structure distribution and semantic interpretation of quantificational expressions in languages from diverse language families and typological profiles The current volume pays special attention to underrepresented languages of different status and endangerment level Languages covered include American and Russian Sign Languages and sixteen spoken languages from Africa Australia Papua the Americas and different parts of Asia The articles respond to a questionnaire the editors constructed to enable detailed crosslinguistic comparison of numerous features They offer comparable information on semantic classes of quantifiers generalized existential generalized universal proportional partitive syntactically complex quantifiers intensive modification Boolean compounds exception phrases etc and several more specific issues such as quantifier scope ambiguities floating quantifiers and binary type 2 quantifiers The book is intended for semanticists logicians interested in quantification in natural language and general linguists as articles are meant to be descriptive and theory independent The book continues and expands the coverage of the Handbook of Quantifiers in Natural Language 2012 by the same editors and extends the earlier work in Matthewson 2008 Gil et al 2013 and Bach et al 1995 Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London University of London. School of Oriental and African Studies, 2005 Chinese Syntax in a Cross-linguistic Perspective Yen-hui Audrey Li, Andrew Simpson, Wei-Tien Dylan Tsai, 2015 Chinese Syntax in a Cross linguistic Perspective collects twelve new papers that explore the syntax of Chinese in comparison with other languages Language Faculty Science Hajime Hoji, 2016-02-26 This book explores how we can aspire to accumulate knowledge about the language faculty in line with Feynman's The test of all knowledge is experiment The two pillars of the proposed methodology for language faculty science are the internalist approach advocated by Chomsky and what Feynman calls the Guess Compute Compare method Taking the internalist approach the book is concerned with the I language of an individual speaker Adopting the Guess Compute Compare method it aims at deducing definite predictions and comparing them with experimental results It offers a conceptual articulation of how we deduce definite predictions about the judgments of an individual speaker on the basis of universal and language particular hypotheses and how we obtain experimental results precisely in accordance with such predictions In pursuit of rigorous testability and reproducibility the experimental demonstration in the book is supplemented by an accompanying website which provides the details of all the experiments discussed in the book The Linguistic Typology of Templates Jeff Good, 2016-03-11 This book represents the first comprehensive examination of templatic constructions namely linguistic structures involving unexpected linear stipulation in both morphology and syntax from a typological perspective It provides a state of the art overview of the previous literature develops a new typology for categorizing templatic constructions across grammatical domains and examines their cross linguistic variation by employing cutting edge computational methods It will be of interest to descriptive linguists seeking to gain a better sense of the diversity of the world's templatic constructions theoretical linguists developing restrictive models of possible templates and typologists interested in the attested range of patterns of linear stipulation and the application of new kinds of multivariate methods to cross linguistic data The new typological framework is illustrated in detail via a number of case studies involving languages of Africa Europe Asia and the Americas and numerous other templatic constructions are also considered over the course of the book

The Handbook of Chinese Linguistics C. T. James Huang, Y. H. Audrey Li, Andrew Simpson, 2018-03-20 The Handbook of Chinese Linguistics is the first comprehensive introduction to Chinese linguistics from the perspective of modern theoretical and formal linguistics Containing twenty five chapters the book offers a balanced accessible and thoughtfully organized introduction to some of the most important results of research into Chinese linguistics carried out by theoretical linguists during the last thirty years Presenting critical overviews of a wide range of major topics it is the first to meet the great demand for an overview volume on core areas of Chinese linguistics Authoritative contributions describe and assess the major achievements and controversies of research undertaken in each area and provide bibliographies for further reading The contributors refer both to their own work in relevant fields and objectively present a range of competitor theories and analyses resulting in a volume that is fully comprehensive in its coverage of theoretical research into Chinese linguistics in recent years This unique Handbook is suitable both as a primary reader for structured taught courses on Chinese linguistics at university level and for individual study by graduates and other professional linguists

A Functional Discourse Grammar Theory of Grammaticalization Riccardo Giomi, 2023-01-30 Meaning change in grammaticalization has been variously described in terms of decreasing semantic weight and increasing generality abstraction inter subjectivity or discourse orientation The author shows that all these trends are subsumed by the notion of scope increase along a precise hierarchy of semantic and pragmatic layers of grammatical organization such as endorsed by Functional Discourse Grammar The scope increase hypothesis is immune from the exceptions and veritable counterexamples to all the aforementioned generalizations and has the decisive advantage of being more objectively measurable given its direct bearing on actual linguistic structure The extremely rare exceptions to this generalization are also addressed and found to always result from a type of change independent from grammaticalization the merger of two separate speech acts

The Diachrony of Negation Maj-Britt Mosegaard Hansen, Jacqueline Visconti, 2014-10-15 Despite intensive research negation remains elusive Its expression across languages its underlying cognitive mechanisms its development across time and related phenomena such as negative polarity and negative concord leave many unresolved issues of both a definitional and a substantive nature Such issues are at the heart of the present volume which presents a twofold contribution The first part offers a mix of large scale typological surveys and in depth investigation of the evolution of negation in individual languages and language families that have not frequently been studied from this point of view such as Chinese Berber Quechua and Austronesian languages The second part centers on French a language whose early stages are comparatively richly documented and which therefore provides an important test case for hypotheses about the diachrony of negative marking. Representing moreover a variety of theoretical approaches, the volume will be of interest to researchers on negation, language change and typology.

Formal Evidence in Grammaticalization Research An Van Linden, Jean-Christophe Verstraete, Kristin Davidse, 2010. The present volume finds its origin in the conference From ideational to interpersonal Perspectives from grammaticalization FITIGRA held at the University of Leuven from 10 to 12 February 2005.

Focus and Background Marking in Mandarin Chinese Daniel Hole, 2004-08-02. This is an investigation into the grammaticalized system of focus background agreement in Mandarin Chinese. The particles c i j i and ye are in a specific use type shown to form the core of a highly systematic paradigm. This book is not just a valuable companion for anyone interested in core aspects of Mandarin Chinese grammar. It caters for the interests of theoretical linguists as well as for linguists from other fields with an interest in information structure, focus and contrastive topics and quantification. The outstanding characteristic of this book viz its effortless integration of findings from formal semantics without heavy formal load makes it rewarding reading both for linguists with a less formal background and for researchers with some knowledge of formal semantics.

The spell-out algorithm and lexicalization patterns Bartosz Wiland, 2019. Empirically, the book covers two areas: the morphosyntax of verbs and categories syncretic with the declarative complementizer in Slavic, together with a comparative look at the similar categories in Latvian, Baltic and Basa Bantu. In the domain of verbs, the book investigates a curious instance of analytic vs fusional realization of grammatical categories that we find in a semelfactive/iterative alternation in Czech and Polish, where a semelfactive verb stem such as in the Czech kop n ou t 'give a kick' alternates with an iterative verb stem as in kop a t 'kick repeatedly'. The iterative aj stem is morphologically less complex than the semelfactive stem formed with the n ou sequence, which is paradoxical given an analysis of iteratives as categories whose synsem representation is more complex than semelfactives. In the domain of complementizers, the book focuses on cross-categorical paradigms that include an unexpected morphological containment in Russian, a degree of morphological complexity in Latvian and an ABA pattern of syncretic alignment in Basa, which we do not expect to find if syncretism is restricted to adjacent cells in a paradigm. Cf. Bobaljik 2012. Analytically, the book focuses on the way the syntactic representations of these categories become realized as morphemes. In the general sense, then, this contribution belongs to a growing body of work that investigates the relation between syntactic structure and morphological form, understood as the amount of morphemes and their placement, in particular the prefix vs suffix opposition. More specifically, however, the approach to lexicalization taken up in this book is informed by the results of research on syntax in the last quarter of a century, which show that syntactic representations are maximally fine-grained, the picture sometimes described as the one feature per one syntactic head dictum. Such a scenario has led to the situation where syntactic representations can be submorphemic in the sense that a lexical item corresponds to more than one syntactic head, a strand of research that has become known as Nanosyntax. This book investigates the state of art methodology of Nanosyntax in resolving the selected empirical problems in the domain of Slavic verbs and declarative complementizers the problems that all appear to boil down to the way syntactic representations become realized as morphemes Elasticity in Healthcare Communication Grace Qiao Zhang, Ming-Yu Tseng, 2022-08-18 Based on Chinese and English online data this book discusses elasticity in health communication from a cross cultural perspective
