Dynamics and Economic Growth Richard Arena, Pier Luigi Porta, 2012-05-03 Ever since Adam Smith economists have been preoccupied with the puzzle of economic growth The standard mainstream models of economic growth were and often still are based either on assumptions of diminishing returns on capital with technological innovation or on endogenous dynamics combined with a corresponding technological and institutional setting An alternative model of economic growth emerged from the Cambridge School of Keynesian economists in the 1950s and 1960s This model developed mainly by Luigi Pasinetti emphasizes the importance of demand human learning and the growth dynamics of industrial systems Finally in the past decade new mainstream models have emerged incorporating technology or demand based structural change and extending the notion of balanced growth This collection of essays reassesses Pasinetti's theory of structural dynamics in the context of these recent developments with contributions from economists writing in both the mainstream and the Cambridge Keynesian traditions and including Luigi Pasinetti William Baumol Geoffrey Harcourt and Nobel laureate Robert Solow The New

Normal Amitai Etzioni, 2017-09-08 Amitai Etzioni argues that societies must find a way to balance individual rights and the common good This point of balance may change as new technologies develop the natural and international environments change and new social forces arise Some believe the United States may be unduly short changing individual rights that need to be better protected Specifically should the press be granted more protection Or should its ability to publish state secrets be limited Should surveillance of Americans and others be curtailed Should American terrorists be treated differently from others How one answers these questions Etzioni shows invites a larger fundamental question Where is the proper point of balance between rights and security Etzioni implements the social philosophy liberal communitarianism Its key assumptions are that neither individual rights nor the common good should be privileged that both are core values and that a balance is necessary between them Etzioni argues that we need to find a new balance between our desire for more goods services and affluence particularly because economic growth may continue to be slow and jobs anemic The key question is what makes a good life especially for those whose basic needs are sated
