World Bamboo Resources Maxim Lobovikov,Lynn Ball,María Guardia,2007-01-01 Bamboo a major non wood forest product is an ancient woody grass

widely distributed in tropical subtropical and mild temperate zones It is an integral part of forestry but is also widely spread outside forests including farmlands riverbanks roadsides and urban areas Bamboo is quickly changing its image from the poor man s tree to a high tech industrial raw material and substitute for wood This study prepared by FAO jointly with the International Network for Bamboo and Rattan is an initiative to incorporate bamboo into the FAO Global Forest Resources Assessment FRA program A total of 22 countries responded to the FAO INBAR call for information and submitted national reports Although data availability and quality are often weak the main value of the study is that it has established a systematic methodology and has launched the most comprehensive assessment of global bamboo resources to date Publisher s description Global Forest Resources Assessment, Country Reports ,2007 State of the World's Forests 2007 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2007-01-01 This is the 7th edition of the FAO s biennial report on the state of global forest resources recent developments and emerging issues in the forest sector This edition focuses on progress towards sustainable forest management at the regional and global levels with each regional report structured according to seven thematic elements the extent of forest resources biological diversity forest health and vitality productive functions of forest resources protective functions of forest resources socio economic functions and legal policy and institutional frameworks These summaries are based on the most current information available including new data from the Global Forest Resources Assessment 2005 FRA 2005 The report goes on to consider 18 key issues in the forest sector including climate change forest landscape restoration forest tenure invasive species wildlife management and wood energy The overall conclusion is that whilst progress is being made it is very uneven with those regions with developing economies and tropical ecosystems continuing to lose forest area whilst lacking adequate institutions to reverse this trend The biggest limitation for evaluating progress is weak data with many countries lacking the financial resources to undertake national forest assessments
