Edutopias , 2006-01-01 Education has always been part of the search for the ideal society and therefore an important part of the utopian tradition in Western culture politics and literature Education has often served to define the ideal society or to provide the principal means of creating it This unique collection of essays by well known scholars from around the world examines the role of edutopias in the utopian tradition examining its sources and sites as a means for understanding the aims and purposes of education for realizing its societal value and for criticizing its present economic technological and organizational modes These essays will stimulate new thinking in ways that impinge on both theoretical and practical questions as well as offering the reader a series of reminders of the ethical and political dimensions of education and its place in helping to build good and just societies The collection is aimed at an audience of teachers and graduate students although it will also be of interest to administrators policy makers and the general public interested in utopian thinking and its relation to education

Women's Activism, Feminism, and Social Justice Margaret A. McLaren, 2019 A wide range of issues besieges women globally including economic exploitation sexist oppression racial ethnic and caste oppression and cultural imperialism This book builds a feminist social justice framework from practices of women's activism in India to understand and work to overcome these injustices The feminist social justice framework provides an alternative to mainstream philosophical frameworks that promote global gender justice for example universal human rights economic projects such as microfinance and cosmopolitanism McLaren demonstrates that these frameworks are bound by a commitment to individualism and an abstract sense of universalism that belies their root neo liberalism Arguing that these frameworks emphasize individualism over interdependence similarity over diversity and individual success over collective capacity McLaren draws on the work of Rabindranath Tagore to develop the concept of relational cosmopolitanism Relational cosmopolitanism prioritizes our connections while crucially acknowledging the reality of power differences Extending Iris Young's theory of political responsibility McLaren shows how Fair Trade connects to the economic solidarity movement The Self Employed Women's Association and MarketPlace India empower women through access to livelihoods as well as fostering leadership capabilities that allow them to challenge structural injustice through political and social activism Their struggles to resist economic exploitation and gender oppression through collective action show the vital importance of challenging individualist approaches to achieving gender justice The book is a rallying call for a shift in our thinking and practice towards re imagining the possibilities for justice from a relational framework from independence to interdependence from identity to intersectionality and from interest to socio political imagination Globalisation and Labour Ronaldo Munck,2002-07 Intellectual fashion likes to see us as consumers but the world of production and services still needs workers Globalization has been driven by the transnational corporations search for cheap labour but little attention has been paid to the consequent changes in the world of work Ronaldo Munck argues that the national period in labour history is decisively over modernity The Future Jennifer M. Gidley, 2017-03-13 From the beginning of time humans have been driven by both a fear of the unknown and a curiosity to know We have always yearned to know what lies ahead whether threat or safety scarcity or abundance Throughout human history our forebears tried to create certainty in the unknown by seeking to influence outcomes with sacrifices to gods preparing for the unexpected with advice from oracles and by reading the stars through astrology As scientific methods improve and computer technology develops we become ever more confident of our capacity to predict and quantify the future by accumulating and interpreting patterns from the past yet the truth is there is still no certainty to be had In this Very Short Introduction Jennifer Gidley considers some of our most burning questions What is the future Is the future a time yet to come Or is it a utopian place Does the future have a history Is there only one future or are there many possible futures She asks if the future can ever be truly predicted or if we create our own futures both hoped for and feared by our thoughts feelings and actions and concludes by analysing how we can learn to study the future ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable Europe and Asia beyond East and West Gerard Delanty, 2006-10-03 This major new book tackles key questions on Europe in the context of shifting parameters of East and West The contributors sociologists anthropologists philosophers and historians show from a variety of different perspectives that the conventional equation of Europe with the West must be questioned Featuring four thematically organized chapters the book looks at a post Western world Asia in Europe encounters in history between Europe and Asia otherness in Europe and Asia Exploring new expressions of European self understanding in a way that challenges recent ideological notions of the clash of civilizations this outstanding work draws on recent scholarship that shows how Europe and Asia were mutually linked in history and in contemporary perspective It argues that as a result of current developments and the changing geopolitical context both Europe and Asia have much in common and that it is possible to speak of cosmopolitan links rather than clashes This book will be of great value to students and researchers in the fields of sociology European politics and history and cultural theory Globalism Manfred B. Steger, 2002 Globalism The New Market Ideology rejects the notion that we find ourselves at the end of ideology and that democracy has won Instead Steger argues that the opening decade of the 21st century will constitute a teeming battlefield of clashing ideologies The chief protagonist is the dominant neoliberal market ideology Steger calls globalism After identifying and evaluating the five central claims of globalism including assertions that globalization is inevitable nobody is in charge of globalization and globalization benefits everyone Steger offers an overview of the counterclaims made by anti globalist forces Visit our website for sample chapters Theories of New Regionalism F.
