Flesh Made Word Lauren Smelser White, 2022-08-16 This book delineates the individualist interpretation problem that has long beset Protestant biblical interpretation and engages theological resources that could serve to move beyond it Lauren Smelser White argues that readers of Scripture specifically those who long to submit their lives to God s transforming Word which they believe the Bible discloses ought to reckon with the participatory role that human bodies corporeal and corporate play in producing revelation s norms Such a reckoning need not entail giving up on Scripture delivering the life changing address of a divine Other In support of that claim White distills a picture of revelation as a divine human discursive encounter a process wherein our hermeneutic constructions are incorporated into the Word s self disclosure and whereby interpreters who embrace this venture in vulnerability may experience graced transformation

She concludes by proposing that this Christomorphic interpretation process is analogous to a mother's embodied responsiveness in caring for her child. Such a hermeneutic paradigm suggests distinctive commitments from communities who desire to cooperate with the Holy Spirit in interpretive acts.

Greening the Children of God Chad Michael Rimmer, 2021-01-01. Greening the Children of God uncovers the theological roots of the growing ethical imperative to reconnect children to their natural environment. In their different traditions, theologians, environmental educators, and psychologists all affirm that knowing their place in the natural environment helps a child develop an intersubjective ecological identity that nurtures virtues of mutuality and care. During the Scientific Revolution, this ethical harmony was threatened as science and moral theology began to adopt different epistemological methods. Something the Anglican priest and poet Thomas Traherne was all too aware of. Traherne insisted that education should promote a child's attention to the moral dimensions woven into the tapestry of creation and professed that play, wonder, and a sensory relationship to diverse creatures play a pedagogical role in a child's moral formation. Greening the Children of God establishes the contemporary significance of Traherne's moral theory in conversation with child psychologists, educators, philosophers, and theologians who know that cultivating a place-based relationship to the local ecology helps children perceive creation's deep mutuality and develop a moral identity in the image of a caring Creator.

A Select Library of the Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers of the Christian Church, Second Series, Volume 3 Philip Schaff, Henry Wace, 2022-04-29. Philip Schaff's classic work, colloquially known as The Early Church Fathers, is an invaluable resource filled with the primary documents and early theological building blocks for the Christian church. Comprised of thirty-eight volumes, it is broken into three parts: the Ante-Nicene Fathers and Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, First and Second Series.

Summa Theologiae, Prima Pars: Volume 1, The One God, QQ 1-26 Thomas Aquinas, Thomas de Vio Cajetan, 2023-06-23. When Leo XII promulgated Aeterni Patris in 1879, he stipulated that the Leonine or official edition of the Summa should always be printed in conjunction with Cajetan's Commentary. For five hundred years, they were studied together Generations were trained by reading through the Summa article by article with Cajetan's commentaries in hand. Early printed editions of the Summa typically included them in a Talmudic arrangement as marginal text running around each article by Aquinas. This edition imitates that example. Recently serious thinkers of all denominations and none have found new reasons to be interested in St Thomas. His text is deceptively simple yet important issues are handled in every article, sometimes below the surface. Cajetan extracts these hidden issues and explains and elaborates on them with remarkable affinity to modern analytical philosophy. Part of that affinity lies in the use of modal logic, a tool whose importance was overlooked between the Renaissance and the twentieth century. The time is ripe for an analytically inspired translation of Thomas; hence this volume. Never until now has Cajetan's Commentary been put into English in its entirety. William Marshner's translation is consistent with fidelity to the technical force of the original. The translator's footnotes acknowledge what empirical science has made obsolete in the work of St Thomas and also make clear how much today's science would have saved Thomas useless labor. This volume will for the first time make Cajetan's help available to the modern reader.

Panoplist, and Missionary Magazine, 1806 An earnest and serious answer to Dr. Trapp's Discourse of the folly, sin, and danger of being William Law, 1893 A Select Library of Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers of the Christian Church: Theodoret, Jerome Gennadius, Rufinus: Historical writings, etc. 1892 Philip Schaff, Henry Wace, 1892

The School Arts Magazine Pedro Joseph Lemos, 1920 The Perspective of Love R. J. Snell, 2014-04-21. While many of the Reformers considered natural law unproblematic, many Protestants consider natural law a Catholic thing and not persuasive. Natural law, it is thought, competes with the Gospel; overlooks the centrality of Christ; posits a domain of pure nature and overlooks the noetic effects of sin. This Protestant Prejudice, however strong, overlooks developments in contemporary natural law, quite capable and willing to incorporate the usual objections into natural law. While the natural law itself is universal and invariant, theories about the natural law vary widely. The Protestant Prejudice may respond to natural law understood from within the modes of common sense and classical metaphysics but largely overlooks contemporary natural law beginning from the first person account of subjectivity and practical reason. Consequently, the sophisticated thought of John Paul II, Martin Rhonheimer, Germain Grisez, and John Finnis is overlooked. Further, the work of Bernard Lonergan, allowing for a natural law admitting of noetic sin, eagerly incorporating grace, community, the limits of history, a real but limited autonomy, and the centrality of Christ in a natural law that is both graced and natural. *The Works of T.
