The False And The True In Kingship

Psalm 2:2-6

W. Forsyth

There is a silent contrast throughout this psalm between the "kings of earth" (ver. 2) and "my King" (ver. 6).

I. THE FALSE IS CHARACTERIZED BY SELF-SEEKING; THE TRUE BY SELF-SACRIFICE. The false begin and end with self. They act from and for "themselves" (ver. 2). The true have regard to others, and are always ready to subordinate and sacrifice themselves for the good of others. In the one case it is the many for the one, the people for the king; in the other, it is the one for the many, the king for the people.

II. THE FALSE RULE BY FORCE; THE TRUE BY RIGHTEOUSNESS. "Bands" and "cords" mark the restraints of law, but the false care for none of these things. Might, not right, is their rule. Whatever stands in the way must give place to their ambitions. On the other hand, the true are animated by the spirit of justice. Instead of grasping violently what does not belong to them, they accept their place

Hassell Bullock,2023-10-17 Hassell Bullock has studied taught and written successful texts on the Psalms for forty years In this book he walks through how the Psalms convey the grand story of creation and redemption Scripture s two theological ends and the underlying story of God and humanity in relationship Bullock explains how the literal and metaphorical language in the Psalms work together to articulate the message and deepen our understanding He presents interpretive principles gleaned from the psalmists themselves and shows how these writers make intertextual connections to other Scriptures sometimes quoting but mostly alluding which can help us make corresponding connections between Old and New Testament teachings The Psalms are examples of applying wisdom and Scriptures to personal and national issues and of how God interacts and intervenes in real life situations which help us apply the Bible today Bullock s mature reflections and guidance on understanding and applying the Psalms theological message will complement any traditional introduction to the Psalms

Slattery,2011 Un-Civilizing Processes?

,2016-08-29 The collapse of the supposedly civilized German nation into the barbarism of Hitler's Third Reich has cast a long shadow over interpretations of German culture and society. In the remarkable work of Norbert Elias himself, a refugee from Nazi Germany, a deep concern with the distinctiveness of the Germans is linked with an ambitious attempt to work out more general relations between broad historical processes, patterns of state formation, changing social structures, and the character of the individual self as evidenced in changing thresholds of shame and embarrassment. In critical engagement with Elias's notion of the civilizing process, the essays collected here explore moments of excess and transgression, moments when the very boundaries of civilization are both constructed and challenged. Interdisciplinary contributions on topics ranging from medieval laughter, cursing, and swearing through to music, the bourgeois self, and aspects of modern violence highlight the complexity of interrelations between the individual imagination and creativity on the one hand and the brute facts of political power and social structural inequalities on the other, and develop new insights into the changing patterns of culture and society in Germany from the Middle Ages to the present. Lutheran Standard, 1901
