Globalisation And Economic Security:

Globalisation and Economic Security in East Asia Helen Sharmini Nesadurai, 2006 What is the relationship between globalization and economic security Globalisation and Economic Security in East Asia is an incisive new engagement with this important question that uses detailed conceptual exploration and fresh empirical analysis Viewing traditional neorealist conceptions of economic security as overly narrow this new study suggests that any conception of economic security in the contemporary era needs to also pay close attention to the nature of global capitalism and the insecurities it generates for societies and individuals This uniquely open ended approach to conceptualizing economic security is supported by the East Asian experience The country case studies included here reveal that while economic security has largely been posed as one of ensuring sustainable economic growth and equitable social development particularly following the 1997 to 1998 Asian financial crisis other more realist conceptions of economic security have not become irrelevant This is also an exploration of whether and how national regional and multilateral institutions as well as non state regional mechanisms help policy makers meet the task of governing in the interests of economic security This book will be of great interest to all students and scholars of international relations international political economy of East Asia globalization and security studies

Globalization and International Security Teresa F. Rodrigues, Rafael García Pérez, Susana de Sousa Ferreira, 2014-12 In a globalised world the international economic crisis that started in 2008 has led to structural changes in the international system and in the balance of power in several terms from a unipolar to a multipolar sphere from the post modern state to the sovereign state from unrestricted integration in the global economy to the independent management of economy itself and from trade integration at a global level to the fragmentation of the economic space in regional areas In short the transition from a unipolar to a multipolar trend seems to be reflected in the increasing fragmentation of the economic space and has repercussions in the strategic space and security. These changes are also affecting the discourse that explains the process of globalisation and the appropriate strategies to act in it. Maybe until 2007 we could talk about a Western model. But now this is a lot more questionable and we might even talk of an outright censorship. The rise of emerging powers leads to the construction of a new narrative adapted to the values that these countries embody among them the strength and suitability to the principles derived from the sovereign state. A scenario where it is increasingly difficult to adopt the tenets of globalising governance. Our aim is to overview all these structural transformations and assess those changes in the different areas taken into account in this book. We also aim to address possible alternatives which may allow a coordinated management of certain risks although regionally differentiated. We hope this book can be useful to the academic community both graduate and post graduate students professors and researchers of International Relations and Political Science Armed Forces and other security services as well as decision makers in the areas of economics social and security public policies and other readers can find in this book an overview of some major contemporary challenges resulting from the link between security and the globalisation process.

Globalisation and Insecurity Pasquale Kabi, 2011-11 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2011 in the subject Politics International Politics Topic Peace and Conflict Studies Security Macquarie University course Master of Policing Intelligence and Counter Terrorism language English abstract Globalisation is a term that is contested in academia from the perspective of semantics theory history and characteristics. The fact of the matter is that the world is converging in a myriad of aspects not limited to economics politics and society. Reading the daily financial news will give guidance to the possible outcomes to the current European debt crisis so intertwined and interdependent is the state of the global economy. This article explores insecurity as enabled and facilitated by globalisation from the broad contexts of economy technology and terrorism.

Economic Security for a Better World, 2004 In all regions of the world the seven forms of labour related security have been affected by globalisation and the policies steering it. This analysis drawing on a large amount of new data identifies the main trends provides indexes of national performance looks at sources and forms of insecurities and considers policies that could improve economic security. Book jacket Democratising Globalisation Heikki Patomäki, 2001-08 Propounded by James Tobin in the 1970s the Tobin tax would have levied a small amount from all currency transactions globally. This would have the effect of moderating speculation. It didn't take off but the author believes there is a way to make it work.

Globalization Gernot Kohler, Emilio José Chaves, 2003 The majority of people around the world are experiencing oppressive and destructive forces which manifest themselves in starvation income polarisation joblessness stress violence and so on. What is the nature of these forces? If we call them globalisation can there be good globalisation as well as bad globalisation? Is this a new phenomenon or just a continuation of history as it has always been? This book brings together a wide range of expertise addressing these problems from a world systems perspective.

The Nexus of Economics,

Security, and International Relations in East Asia Avery Goldstein, Edward D. Mansfield, 2012-08-29 While over the last 30 years the global economy's center of gravity has shifted to East Asia the region has remained surprisingly free of interstate military conflict Yet this era of peace and growth has been punctuated by periodic reminders of enduring security problems in the region from China's military modernization to unresolved territorial disputes to persistent tensions on the Korean peninsula This volume is one of the first to treat these issues of economics and security as interconnected rather than separate Its authors leading scholars from the U S and China shed new light on this important nexus by applying insights from a rich variety of approaches to explore and explain the dynamics of a region whose importance for students of both international political economy and international security has grown dramatically They show that both economic and security fundamentals matter if one is to understand the reasons for and evaluate the durability of East Asia's recent peace and prosperity

Globalization, Competitiveness and Human Security Cristóbal Kay, 2012-10-12 This collection explores the connections between globalization competitiveness and human security and their relevance for development studies These issues amongst others are also explored in a number of case studies taken from Asia Africa and Latin America

India's National Security Satish Kumar, 2012-02-27 Each year this annual gives readers an in depth and up to date account of India's external and internal threats in a deteriorating global security environment It shows that while partnerships with some countries have strengthened anxieties persist with others such as China and Pakistan Similarly India has not been able to cope with the challenges of internal security emerging from violence in Kashmir insurgency in the northeast to mention a few A unique series with contributions from academics political commentators and military personnel

Revisiting National Security Prabhakaran Paleri, 2022-05-10 This book examines the evolving concept of national security and how human systems could be governed in an ever turbulent and dynamic world It takes a revised look at the concept of national security previously researched and identified by the author based on the present context but with a futuristic appreciation of governance primarily national but extended to global perspectives in the modern and dynamically shifting world The book emphasises the need for governments to maximise national security for the well being of their people The concept of national security is taken as the key subject of national governance which is extendable to global governance wherein national security is not only the physical or military security alone but also the overall well being of the people of a nation This book explores how national security can be achieved by balancing its various elements in different terrains where the game of governance is played in national as well as global perspective It also presents additional findings and observations to show that the approach is transformative redefining the key knowledge paradigms This book is relevant for policy makers students researchers and academics who wish to explore and rethink their approach towards governing the human systems whose well being is the responsibility of governments

Security and Environment in the Mediterranean Hans Günter Brauch, Peter H. Liotta, Antonio Marquina, Paul F. Rogers, Mohammad El-Sayed

Selim,2012-12-06 In this volume security specialists peace researchers environmental scholars demographers as well as climate desertification water food and urbanisation specialists from the Middle East and North Africa Europe and North America review security and conflict prevention in the Mediterranean They also analyse NATO s Mediterranean security dialogue and offer conceptualisations on security and perceptions of security challenges as seen in North and South The latter half of the book analyses environmental security and conflicts in the Mediterranean and environmental consequences of World War II the Gulf War the Balkan wars and the Middle East conflict It also examines factors of global environmental change population growth climate change desertification water scarcity food and urbanisation issues as well as natural disasters Furthermore it draws conceptual conclusions for a fourth phase of research on human and environmental security and peace as well as policy conclusions for cooperation and partnership in the Mediterranean in the 21st century

Chinese-Japanese Competition and the East Asian Security Complex Jeffrey Reeves,Jeffrey Hornung,Kerry Lynn Nankivell,2017-07-14 This volume examines contemporary diplomatic economic and security competition between China and Japan in the Asia Pacific region The book outlines the role that Sino Japanese competition plays in East Asian security an area of study largely overlooked in contemporary writing on Asian security which tends to focus on US China relations and or US hegemony in Asia The volume focuses on Chinese and Japanese foreign policy under President Xi Jinping and Prime Minister Shinz Abe and regional security dynamics within and between Asian states institutions since 2012 It employs regional security complex theory as a theoretical framework to view Chinese and Japanese competition in the Asian region In doing so the volume draws on a levels of analysis approach to demonstrate the value in looking at security in the Asia Pacific from a regional rather than global perspective The vast majority of existing research on the region s security tends to focus on great power relations and treats Asia as a sub region within the larger global security architecture In contrast this volume shows how competition between the two largest Asian economies shapes East Asia s security environment and drives security priorities across Asia s sub regions As such this collection provides an important contribution to discussion on security in Asia one with potential to influence both political and military policy makers security practitioners and scholars This book will be of much interest to students of Asian politics regional security diplomacy and international relations Migration,

Globalisation and Human Security David T. Graham,Nana K. Poku,2005-08-04 Migration Globalisation and Human Security looks at a range of security and human security issues related to the displacement of civilian populations and shows how the tenuous existence of migrants can lead to a myriad of human security threats Providing major theoretical analyses of recent migration trends and in depth case studies this book shows that a redefinition of the notion of human security is now needed Nontraditional Security Concerns in India Shantesh Kumar Singh,Shri Prakash Singh,2022-04-01 This book deals with the constantly evolving vast and diverse field of nontraditional security Nontraditional security goes beyond military security and focuses primarily on socioeconomic security Its major concern is human beings rather than border or territory of the state The book focuses on nontraditional securities such as human security energy security food security environmental security cybersecurity health security terrorism drug trafficking human trafficking biological and chemical weapons All the nontraditional security issues are highly relevant for academics and policy makers as well New Frontiers in Conflict Management, Peace Economics and Peace Science Madhumita Chatterji, Partha Gangopadhyay, 2021-02-15 This volume will improve our collective understanding of how to fight humanity's persistent and tragic problems with conflicts climate shocks and disasters The authors of this volume will offer deep insights from their research into the nature of evolving challenges to both global and local sustainability

National Security, Economic Globalisation, and Militancy United Service Institution of India, 2006 The major features of economic globalisation strong points and susceptibilities of the Indian economy within the ambit of globalisation impact on India's economic security as part of comprehensive national security and measures needed to meet the challenges are discussed in this book

(In)Security and the Production of International Relations Jonas Hagmann, 2014-11-27 This book provides a framework for analysing the interplay between securitisation and foreign affairs reconnecting critical security studies with traditional IR concerns about interstate relations What happens to foreign policymaking when actors things or processes are presented as threats This book explains state behaviour on the basis of a reflexive framework of insecurity politics and argues that governments act on the knowledge of international danger available in their societies but that such knowledge is organised by markedly varying ideas of who threatens whom and how The book develops this argument and illustrates it by means of various European case studies Moving across European history and space these case studies show how securitisation has projected evolving and often contested local ideas of the organisation of international insecurity and how such knowledges of world politics have then conditioned foreign policymaking on their own terms With its focus on insecurity politics the book provides new perspectives for the study of international security Moving the discipline from systemic theorising to a theory of international systematisation it shows how world politics is in practice often conceived in a different way than that assumed by IR theory By the same token by depicting national insecurity as a matter of political construction the book also raises the challenging question of whether certain projections of insecurity may be considered more warranted than others This book will be of much interest to students of critical security studies European politics foreign policy and IR in general

Economic Security and Sino-American Relations Kenneth Boutin, 2019 China and the United States have reached a crossroads where their economic relationship is concerned as the shared interest in economic prosperity and complementary economic strengths that provide the common ground of industrial collaboration are threatened by increasing attention to economic facets of national security This trend is encouraging policies which potentially undermine the basis of Sino American industrial integration This book explores the basis nature and impact of evolving economic security agendas in the United States and China

campaigns that are occurring across the planet This title showcases a selection of case studies on grassroots initiatives and activism in areas such as green economic alternatives regional activism in defence of communities alternative or utopian communities green politics and ecotourism
