Globalizing Concern for Women's Human Rights D. Zoelle, 2015-12-24 This study is a critique of the institutional structures and cultural dynamics that pose obstructions to U S ratification The United States is a liberal democratic state founded upon ideals of freedom and equality thus the history of non ratification of major international human rights treaties appears to be an anomaly This book suggests that it is not Liberal democracy as it was conceived and has developed in the United States is problematic as a model in the globalization of concern for women s human rights This study is not a comparative examination of state exclusion and oppression of women Neither is it an attempt to distinguish the United States in the larger sense from other Western liberal democratic regimes in its treatment of women Rather the study is a gender sensitive examination of specific dynamics and characteristics inherent to the socio political economic and legal systems of the United States which have precluded incorporation of the rights of women on an equal basis with the rights of men The interaction of these dynamics and characteristics describes a uniquely American view of itself and its own history which serves to render the U S system troublesome as an exemplar for state incorporation of the human rights of women Unreserved ratification of CEDAW constitutes a strong indication of effort by the ratifying state to protect the human rights of women The United States has refused to ratify CEDAW

Globalization and the Humanities David Leiwei Li, 2003-12-01 This is the most comprehensive collection to date on how economic globalization transforms contemporary humanistic inquiries on matters of fundamental cultural and political significance Against the tyranny of the worldwide free market that naturalizes the aggregation of power for the increasingly few the contributors to this volume at once advocate an egalitarian model of global distributive justice and cultivate a cosmopolitan communal consciousness Writing from their diverse specialties and theoretical perspectives the group of scholars assembled here has made the humanities a productive forum to articulate an alternative form of globalization based on universal human rights As such this collaborative effort counters the hegemony of neoliberal privatization and holds the promise of intellectual agency for an equitable reproduction of cultural capital in the global era Globalization and the Humanities will be of great use for scholars and students interested in the intellectual and ideological developments of the humanities in the past three decades It clearly anchors the debates on the canon the inclusion of third world and minority authors of popular cultural genres and new media forms in an emerging globalization paradigm The anthology will prove essential for students of undergraduate and graduate levels as well for scholars in the academy

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated women's daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune women and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike
