Globe And Mail Sage Advice:

Globe and Mail Elaine Wyatt,1997-09 Holding Still for as Long as Possible Zoe Whittall,2010 Presents a richly detailed portrait of the generation of twenty somethings raised in an era of anti anxiety medication text messaging and terrorism threats and offers a look at the world of anxiety disorders and celebrity gossip Curse of the Maple Leafs Martin Avery,2011 Detained Daniel Livermore,2018-10-08 After the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 Canadian agencies willingly collaborated in the War on Terror launched by the United States to destroy Al Qaeda This partnership went seriously astray however amid a series of fundamental errors by Canadian agencies and their misplaced trust in American willingness to abide by both international and US laws against torture As a result numerous Canadian citizens and residents were illicitly detained abroad and subjected to suffering and mistreatment In Detained Daniel Livermore analyzes the emergence of Islamic fundamentalist extremism and its Canadian implications including the erroneous investigations that targeted Canadians and led to their detentions in Syria Egypt Pakistan Libya Tunisia and Sudan Scrutinizing the most prominent cases he details the role of Canadian agencies in the imprisonments and relates how subsequent court cases brought the situations to light resulting in settlements and apologies to Ahmad Abou El Maati Abdullah Almalki and Maher Arar among others Drawing on his experience in Canada s foreign ministry Livermore explains how an essentially misguided War on Terror emerged and how Canadian American cooperation went wrong A gripping blend of memoir and meticulous research Detained urges a more mature and rational discussion of security and intelligence issues in Canada and greater understanding of the failures of security cooperation in the decade after 9 11 Quill & Quire ,1999 Out of Poverty John Stackhouse,2011-11-02 From East Timor to Timbuktu John Stackhouse has met and lived with hundreds of the world s poor When he set out on this journey in 1991 he was certain that the new age of global markets and economic reforms would end decades of extreme hardship in the developing world But as the nineties rolled on he found poverty still entrenched in dozens of countries except where people had some control over their lives In an intriguing blend of travel writing and analysis moving portraits and comic tales Stackhouse tells the personal stories of some of the world s poorest people and shows how they are going to end global poverty in the next century He provides haunting details of lives and communities destroyed by misplaced aid and government interventions But more importantly he shows how individuals are finding the creativity and means to make their own lives better from women in the remote shea nut forests of West Africa who are learning to bypass their corrupt government to cash in on rich international markets to a trade union of prostitutes in Calcutta that is actively demanding basic human rights Stackhouse s journey proves that poverty is not an inevitable part of the human condition but a direct result of human actions Poverty is something that people can change Navigating a New World Lloyd Axworthy,2010-07-30 In Navigating a New World Lloyd Axworthy charts how we can become active citizens in the demanding world of the twenty first century to make it safer more sustainable and more humane Throughout he emphasizes the human story As we meet refugees from civil war and drought child soldiers and landmine victims the moral imperative is clear this is a deeply compassionate appeal to confront poverty war and environmental disaster Before Lloyd Axworthy entered global politics human security a philosophy calling for global responsibility to the interests of individuals rather than to the interests of the nation state or multi national corporations was a controversial and unfamiliar idea When put into action human security led to an international ban on landmines initiatives to curtail the use of child soldiers and the formation of the International Criminal Court Today with conflict raging across the planet and building the need for a humane secure international governance is more vital than ever So how can Canada reject a world model dominated by U S policy military force and naked self interest How can we rethink a global world from the perspective of people our security our needs our promise our dreams Lloyd Axworthy delivers recommendations that are both practical and radical ranging from staunch Canadian independence from the U S to environmental as well as political security from rules to govern intervention when nations oppress their own citizens to codes of conduct on arms control and war crimes Arresting and provocative Navigating a New World lays out just why Canada has the skills to lead the world into a twenty first century less nightmarish than the last and help make the world safer and more just for us all This is a call for action from one of Canada s most eloquent statesmen and thinkers and is essential reading for all Canadians Where is the line we draw in setting out the boundaries for being responsible for others Is it simply family and close friends Do we stop at the frontiers of our own country Does our conscience our sense of right or wrong take us as far as the crowded camps of northern Uganda surrounded by land mines attacked repeatedly by an army made largely of child soldiers I believe we in Canada have a special vocation to help in the building of a more secure order We need not be confined to our self interest from Navigating a New World

Scrum Wars Allan Levine, 1996-08-08 The image of the scrum a beleaguered politician surrounded by jockeying reporters is central to our perception of Ottawa The modern scrum began with the arrival of television but even in Sir John A Macdonald s day a century earlier reporters in the parliamentary press gallery had waited outside the prime minister s office pen in hand hoping for a quote for the next edition The scrum represents the test of wills the contest of wits and the battle for control that have characterized the relationship between Canadian prime ministers and journalists for more than 125 years Scrum Wars chronicles this relationship It is an anecdotal as well as analytical account showing how earlier prime ministers like Sir John A Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were able to exercise control over what was written about their administrators while more recent leaders like John Diefenbaker Joe Clark John Turner and Brian Mulroney often found themselves at the mercy of intense media scrutiny and comment

Goodyear,Kathleen M. Armour,2016-11-10 There is evidence of considerable growth in the availability and use of digital technologies in physical education Yet we have scant knowledge about how technologies are being used by teachers and whether or how these technologies are optimising student learning This book makes a novel contribution by focusing on the ways in which teachers and teacher educators are attempting to use digital technologies in PE The book has been created using the innovative pedagogical cases framework Each case centres on a narrative written by a PE practitioner explaining how and why technology is used in their practice to advance and accelerate learning Each practitioner narrative is then analysed by a team of experts from different disciplines The aim is to offer a multi dimensional understanding of the possibilities and challenges of supporting young people s learning with digital technologies Each case concludes with a practitioner reflection to illustrate the links between theory research and practice Digital Technologies and Learning in Physical Education encourages critical reflection on the use of technologies in PE It is an essential resource for students on physical education kinesiology or sport science courses practitioners working in PE or youth sport and researchers interested in digital technologies and education

Scientific advice and evidence in emergencies Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee, Andrew Miller, 2011-03-02 In this report the Science and Technology Committee examines how scientific advice and evidence is used in national emergencies when the Government and scientific advisory system are put under great pressure to deal with atypical situations The inquiry focused on four case studies i the 2009 10 H1N1 influenza pandemic swine flu ii the April 2010 volcanic ash disruption iii space weather and iv cyber attacks While science is used effectively to aid responses to emergencies the detachment of the Government Chief Scientific Adviser GCSA from the National Risk Assessment NRA the key process of risk evaluation carried out by the Cabinet Office is a serious concern The Committee recommends that the NRA should not be signed off until the GCSA is satisfied that all risks requiring scientific input and judgements have been properly considered A new independent scientific advisory committee should be set up to advise the Cabinet on risk assessment and review the NRA The Icelandic volcanic eruption in April 2010 is a stark example of the lack of scientific input in risk assessment the risk of disruption to aviation caused by a natural disaster was dropped from the assessment process in 2009 despite warnings from earth scientists There are concerns over how risk was communicated to the public during the 2009 10 swine flu pandemic are raised in the report with sensationalised media reporting about the projected deaths from swine flu The Scientific Advisory Groups in Emergencies set up to advise government during emergencies were found to work in an unnecessarily secretive way
