Cognitive Science Harald Maurer, 2021-07-08 The Mind and Brain are usually considered as one and the same nonlinear complex dynamical system in which information processing can be described with vector and tensor transformations and with attractors in multidimensional state spaces Thus an internal neurocognitive representation concept consists of a dynamical process which filters out statistical prototypes from the sensorial information in terms of coherent and adaptive n dimensional vector fields These prototypes serve as a basis for dynamic probabilistic predictions or probabilistic hypotheses on prospective new data see the recently introduced approach of predictive coding in neurophilosophy Furthermore the phenomenon of sensory and language cognition would thus be based on a multitude of self regulatory complex dynamics of synchronous self organization mechanisms in other words an emergent flux equilibrium process steady state of the total collective and coherent neural activity resulting from the oscillatory actions of neuronal assemblies In perception it is shown how sensory object informations like the object color or the object form can be dynamically related together or can be integrated to a neurally based representation of this perceptual object by means of a synchronization mechanism feature binding In language processing it is shown how semantic concepts and syntactic roles can be dynamically related together or can be integrated to neurally based systematic and compositional connectionist representations by means of a synchronization mechanism variable binding solving the Fodor Pylyshyn Challenge Since the systemtheoretical connectionism has succeeded in modeling the sensory objects in perception as well as systematic and compositional representations in language processing with this vector and oscillation based representation format a new convincing theory of neurocognition has been developed which bridges the neuronal and the cognitive analysis level The book describes how elementary neuronal information is combined in perception and language so it becomes clear how the brain processes this information to enable basic cognitive performance of the humans
