Archaeology as Human Ecology Karl W. Butzer, 1982-05-31 Archaeology as Human Ecology is a new introduction to concepts and methods in archaeology It deals not with artifacts but with sites settlements and subsistence It is essential reading for students research workers and all concerned with archaeological method and theory Interpreting the Landscape Michael Aston, 2002-09-11 Most places in Britain have had a local history written about them Up until this century these histories have addressed more parochial issues such as the life of the manor rather than explaining the features and changes in the landscape in a factual manner Much of what is visible today in Britain's landscape is the result of a chain of social and natural processes and can be interpreted through fieldwork as well as from old maps and documents Michael Aston uses a wide range of source material to study the complex and dynamic history of the countryside illustrating his points with aerial photographs maps plans and charts He shows how to understand the surviving remains as well as offering his own explanations for how our landscape has evolved

Quaternary of South-West England S. Campbell, C.O. Hunt, James D. Scourse, D.H. Keen, N. Stephens, 2012-12-06 STRUCTURE OF THE VOLUME AND TERMINOLOGY USED This book contains scientific descriptions of 63 localities Figure A of at least national importance for Quaternary geology geomorphology and environmental change in South West England These sites were selected by the Geological Conservation Review and are accordingly designated GCR sites Chapter 1 provides an introduction to the Quaternary Chapter 2 synthesizes the geomorphological development and Quaternary history of the region and outlines the principles involved in site selection The individual GCR site descriptions form the core of the book In the following chapters sites are arranged and described in broad geographic areas and by research topic This is necessitated by the widely disparate nature of the field

evidence in South West England sites demonstrating the full range of Quaternary and geomorphological features are not evenly and conveniently dispersed throughout the region and some areas have significant gaps Neither do the individual chapters contain sites that necessarily equate with particular site selection networks Rather the chosen chapter headings provide the least repetitive means of describing the sites and background material Where possible a chronological approach from oldest to youngest has been used to describe sites within a given chapter Again this approach is not always possible and a group of sites may show variations on landform or Stratigraphic evidence broadly within one major time interval or chronostratigraphic stage inevitably there are many overlaps
