Educational Psychology A Developmental View:

Child Psychology and Childhood Education Lawrence Kohlberg, 1987 Handbook of Psychology, Educational Psychology Irving B. Weiner, William M. Reynolds, Gloria E. Miller, 2012-10-16 Psychology is of interest to academics from many fields as well as to the thousands of academic and clinical psychologists and general public who can't help but be interested in learning more about why humans think and behave as they do. This award-winning twelve-volume reference covers every aspect of the ever-fascinating discipline of psychology and represents the most current knowledge in the field. This ten-year revision now covers discoveries based in neuroscience, clinical psychology's new interest in evidence-based practice and mindfulness, and new findings in social developmental and forensic psychology. Handbook of Educational Psychology David C. Berliner, Robert C. Calfee, 2013-02-01 Sponsored by Division 15 of APA, the second edition of this groundbreaking book has been expanded to 41 chapters that provide unparalleled coverage of this far-ranging field. Internationally recognized scholars contribute up-to-date reviews and critical syntheses of the following areas: foundations and the future of educational psychology, learners' development, individual differences, cognition, motivation, content area teaching, socio-cultural perspectives on teaching and learning, teachers and teaching, instructional design, teacher assessment, and modern perspectives on research methodologies, data, and data analysis. New chapters cover topics such as adult development, self-regulation, changes in knowledge and beliefs, and writing. Expanded treatment has been given to cognition, motivation, and new methodologies for gathering and analyzing data. The Handbook of Educational Psychology, Second Edition provides an indispensable reference volume for scholars, teacher educators, in-service practitioners, policy makers, and the academic libraries serving these audiences. It is also appropriate for graduate-level courses devoted to the study of educational psychology.

Educational Psychology for Learning and Teaching Dr. Sue Duchesne, Dr. Anne McMaugh, 2018-10-01 Educational Psychology for Learning and Teaching introduces key theories of development and learning to help you understand how learners learn and how educators can be more effective in their teaching practice. Featuring current research on the various dimensions of learning and teaching alongside traditional theories, it provides a clear framework of theory and evidence that supports modern education practices. Taking a comprehensive approach, this text investigates how to apply psychology principles to education contexts to enhance learning and teaching quality, particularly for accommodating individual student needs. This wholly Australian and New Zealand text caters for those who are planning to work with any age range from early childhood to adolescence and beyond. With a greater focus on resilience in education settings, the discussion of creativity alongside intelligence, and a broader discussion on diversity, this new edition is up-to-date for the pre-service teacher. New print versions of this book come with bonus online study tools on the CourseMate Express and Search Me platforms. Premium online teaching and learning tools are available to purchase on the MindTap platform. Learn more about the online tools: cengage.com/au/learning/solutions

Psychological Foundations of Education B. Claude Mathis, John W. Cotton, Lee Sechrest, 2013-09-17 Psychological Foundations of Education presents some of the principles of psychology that are relevant to learning and teaching It presents an alternative answer to the problem of the bifurcation of general and educational psychology in the curriculum of teacher preparation While the solution is provisional and has obvious imperfections it is offered in the hope that it may stimulate discussion of the problem and other solutions and or explicit justifications for past practice Key concepts discussed include teachers attitudes and behavior different types of learning technology in education forgetting and extinction child development and intelligence measurements Also covered are the assessment of educational achievement the social psychology of the classroom and education in urban schools This text should have a variety of uses in classes where students are preparing for teaching It was written specifically for those situations in which the prospective teacher is introduced to psychology through a one or two semester integrated sequence

Child Development and Education Teresa M. McDevitt, Jeanne Ellis Ormrod, Glenn Cupit, Margaret Chandler, Valarie Aloa, 2012-08-21 Child Development and Education is a comprehensive child development text written especially for educators It helps students to translate developmental theories into practical implications for teaching and caring for youngsters with diverse backgrounds characteristics and needs The text draws from innumerable theoretical concepts research studies conducted around the world and the authors own experiences as parents teachers psychologists and researchers to identify strategies for promoting young people s physical cognitive and social emotional growth In this Australian edition contemporary Australian and New Zealand research has been highlighted and local educational structures philosophies and controversies have been reflected

Spontaneous Cognitive Processes in Handicapped Children Miriam Cherkes-Julkowski, Nancy Gertner, 2012-12-06 The thinking that began this book arose out of some dissatisfaction with the relatively simplified unidimensional model of development which seems to have come to dominate the fields that address the needs of atypically developing children It seemed impossible to us that developmental differences could explain the range of learning and coping styles we have seen and read about in children identified as mentally retarded slow learning learning disabled nonhandicapped and gifted If a typical model of development did not account for what children with handicaps to learning could do when they would do it and how they would accomplish it such a model was not likely to imply anything important about how to intervene with and help them Unfortunately when we first began to examine this problem turning away from a developmental model for interpreting atypical behavior meant turning toward a behaviorist one This was not very satisfying either Again the assumptions were bothersome We were expected to accept that all children this time at all ages as well as with all kinds of diagnoses learned in essentially the same way with perhaps some variation in rate reactivity reinforcement preferences and according to more liberal applications expectancy. In our search for a more satisfying view of the atypical learner we were lucky to be lost at the moment when cognitive psychology and systems theory were being found. EdPsych Modules Cheryl Cisero Durwin, Marla Reese-Weber, 2024-12-12. EdPsych Modules by Cheryl Cisero Durwin and Marla Reese Weber uses an innovative modular approach integrating case studies drawn from real life classroom situations to address the challenge of effectively connecting theory and research to practice. The text features succinct stand alone modules organized into themed units offering the flexibility to tailor content to the specific needs of a course. Each unit opens with case studies written for early childhood elementary middle and secondary classrooms showing students the dynamics influencing the future students they plan to teach. All 25 modules highlight diversity emphasizing how psychological factors adapt and change based on external influences such as sex gender race language disability status and socioeconomic background. The Fifth Edition includes over seven hundred new references across all 25 modules with thorough coverage of the latest developments in education such as artificial intelligence virtual reality the latest neuroscience research and updated coverage of disabilities.
