Eighty Five Plus The Oldest Old:

The Oldest and Poorest Social Security Beneficiaries United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means. Subcommittee on Social Security, 1989 Sixty-five Plus in America Cynthia Murray Taeuber, 1993 The Changing Contract across Generations Vern L. Bengtson, W. Andrew Achenbaum, 2024-11-01

Generational conflict has attracted considerable attention in the media and within academic circles during the past decade. At the center of this collection of papers analyzing various facets of that conflict lie complex issues of generational equity issues that will remain important for the framing of public policy during the 1990s. What do the young and the middle aged owe the elderly? In discharging that debt to what extent are they able to provide for their own old age in a climate of changing notions of welfare? What light do the longer perspectives of history shed on these issues? What role do kinship, gender, and economic status play? The papers commissioned by Bengtson and Achenbaum are intended to give greater analytic rigor to current debates. The volume is interdisciplinary not only by theoretical intent but by the practical imperatives of gerontology. More than a dozen sociologists, economists, historians, demographers, and policy analysts discuss the meanings and ambiguities that are inherent in terms such as generation, equity, compact, contract, and conflict in order to assess how relations between the age groups seem to vary from one sociohistorical context to the next. This distinguished group of contributors raises comparative issues throughout, assessing variations in generational ties by gender, race, class, and geographic location. Several project the extent to which recent changes in the political economy, public philosophy, and demographic structure of most modern societies presage greater conflicts or greater consensus in family members' relationships and social ties.

Growing Older in World Cities Michael K. Gusmano, 2006. Population aging often provokes fears of impending social security deficits, uncontrollable medical expenditures, and transformations in living arrangements, but public policy could also stimulate social innovations. These issues are typically studied at the national level yet they must be resolved where most people live: in diverse neighborhoods in cities. New York, London, Paris, and Tokyo are the four largest cities among the wealthiest, most developed nations of the world. The essays commissioned for this volume compare what it is like to grow older in these cities with respect to health care, quality of life, housing, and long term care. The contributors look beyond aggregate national data to highlight the importance of how local authorities implement policies.

Making Gray Gold Timothy Diamond, 2009-06-12. This first hand report on the work of nurses and other caregivers in a nursing home is set powerfully in the context of wider political, economic, and cultural forces that shape and constrain the quality of care for America's elderly. Diamond demonstrates in a compelling way the price that business as usual policies extract from the elderly, as well as those whose work it is to care for them. In a society in which some two million people live in 16,000 nursing homes, with their numbers escalating daily, this thought provoking work demands immediate and widespread attention. An unnerving portrait of what it is like to work and live in a nursing home. By giving voice to so many unheard residents and workers, Diamond has performed an important service for us all Diane Cole New York Newsday With Making Gray Gold Timothy Diamond describes the commodification of long term care in the most vivid representation in a decade of round the clock institutional life A personal addition to the troublingly impersonal national debate over healthcare reform Madonna Harrington Meyer Contemporary Sociology Routledge Library Editions: Philosophy of Time Various Authors,2021-03-05 Reissuing five works originally published between 1937 and 1991 this collection contains books addressing the subject of time from a mostly philosophic point of view but also of interest to those in the science and mathematics worlds These texts are brought back into print in this small set of works addressing how we think about time the history of the philosophy of time the measurement of time theories of relativity and discussions of the wider thinking about time and space among other aspects One volume is a thorough bibliography collating references on the subject of time across many disciplines National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1992 Governing Delaware William W. Falkingham, 2016-07-27 A quarter of a century ago Heather Joshi edited a landmark volume sponsored by the British Society for Population Studies and the Centre for Economic Policy Research entitled The Changing Population of Britain In 2014 15 to mark the 25th anniversary of this book the BPS teamed up with the British Academy to hold a series of events on population developments in the UK and the policy issues that they raise and has built on these presentations to produce a new edited collection on the changing population of the UK This book shows that the UK's population is increasing faster than at any point in the last 100 years it is getting progressively older and it is becoming more diverse culturally and ethnically More school leavers are going on to university Cohabitation has been replacing marriage more children live in one parent families and young adults are finding it harder to get on the property ladder Many women are delaying having children until their 40s Cities have seen a resurgence in population but there is still pressure on the countryside while the north south divide is getting ever wider as too are local socio economic disparities The contributors to this book document these changes examine their causes and discuss future prospects and their policy implications

Citizenship and Social Rights Fred Twine, 1994-09-06 This broad ranging text offers an analysis of the idea of citizenship and its relevance to social problems and social policies in advanced industrial societies Twine demonstrates that two concepts are essential to an understanding of the issue of citizenship the socially embedded nature of human agents and their interdependence both with each other and with the natural and social worlds they inhabit Twine emphasizes the social nature of individual needs and individual rights He shows that interdependence is not limited to the mutual linkages within advanced industrial societies but extends both to the relations between advanced and developing nations and to the environmental contexts of human existence

Dramatic Global Population Growth Embraces the Growing Older Population Edward A McKinney, 2018-11-16 The world is witnessing a dramatic demographic population growth explosion across all age groups that had its beginning around the early 1800s when the first billion people in population was recorded Most importantly has been an increasing growth in the older population Does population aging matter in the twenty first century Yes it matters because as research has pointed out the increasing older population globally will have a significant impact on all essential societal systems the family pensions and retirement and financial institutions as well as medical health and social systems This growth explosion or phenomenon will affect all continents countries and regions regardless of economic political and military power Causative factors for this global growth in population have come about primarily as a result of medical advances innovations agricultural development and the industrial revolution especially the development of railways seaways and highways A major emphasis of the book focuses on several very important factors the growing older population as aforementioned especially its impact on all of essential societal systems and the subject of ageism Ageism becomes extremely important considering that the growing older population the silver tsunami represents the new majority This new majority will no longer be ignored Gerontologists for years have attempted to call attention to the fact Expectations for old people are based on negative age stereotypes Members of American society generally expect and even encourage the aged to be asexual intellectually rigid unproductive ineffective and disengaged Seniors are supposed to stay out of the way sit in their rocking chairs and enjoy the golden years They are expected to be inactive invisible but happy Levin J and Levin W Ageism Prejudice and Discrimination Against the Elderly California Wadsworth Publishing 1941 pp 97 98 Speaking of being ignored why aren't more members of the older population involved at the decision making tables in shaping a society for all ages After all they would bring years of experiences skills knowledge and values for creating a society for all ages in the twenty first century with justice and human rights for all Currently there is a global movement with a goal of the eradication of ageism in all of it forms Some will recall from several decades ago the Grey Panther Movement in America with a similar mission of the eradication of all injustices at the time being experienced by the older population The current movement says The time is now not later One major social injustice being experienced by the growing old population globally is the lack of income security in old age including the lack of access to other essential services such as medical health and social including long term care More than 50 percent 51 percent of older persons globally do not have basic income security or a social pension in retirement A more alarming statistic is that in Sub Saharan Africa forty seven countries eight two percent 82 5 of retirees do not have a social pension Yes for the older population the new majority the time is now for correcting the aforementioned injustices Maybe what is needed is a human seismic force comprising the new majority to initiate a social movement with a goal of the eradication of all forms of ageism and ensuring that the growing older population will live in dignity and respect in later life including social protection pensions Training Older Workers and Learners James L. Gendron,2022-03-01 Why do we still tolerate stereotypes and discrimination based on age This bold account of the history and present day realities of ageism by a nationally recognized gerontologist and speaker uncovers ageism s roots impact and how each of us can create a new reality of elderhood Ageism Unmasked shifts the lens enabling us to see that we tolerate and sometimes actively promote attitudes and behaviors toward differently aged people that we would reject and condemn if applied to any other group It peels back the layers to expose how cultural norms and unconscious prejudices have seeped into our lives silently shaping our treatment of others based on their age and our own misconceptions about aging and about ourselves Offering an all inclusive approach Dr Tracey Gendron reveals the biases behind our false understanding of aging sharing powerful opportunities for personal growth along with strategies to help create an anti ageist society Ageism Unmasked will help readers let go of our desperate need to stay young exposing how we personally systematically structurally and institutionally stigmatize being old Ageism Unmasked will help readers appreciate both the challenges and opportunities of how we all age showing how ageism is prejudice towards both younger and older people Ageism Unmasked will help readers reset our expectations for getting old providing the tools to anticipate and experience elderhood as a time of renewed meaning and purpose empowering each of us to create our own definition of successful aging Ageism Unmasked continues Dr Gendron s transformative work inspiring people of all ages to embrace aging as our universal and lifelong process of developing over time biologically psychologically socially and spiritually The Safety of Elderly Drivers J. Peter Rothe,2020-03-12 By the turn of the century the elderly will comprise about 20 percent of the population in North America and 28 percent of those who drive. Place this percentage in high powered automobiles and the need for planning and policy development becomes evident. Most standard research on elderly drivers has not gone beyond gathering data on specific situations or characteristics. This book rises beyond simple statistical presentation. It blends sociological insight with statistical detail to produce an absorbing description of the elderly drivers' daily lives, driving styles, experiences with accident and injury, social relationships and life aspirations. It also describes areas of neglect, imagined and real health problems, driving exposure and traffic violations, accidents and loss of self esteem. It presents in depth accounts of the trauma of loss of license and the importance of the automobile for sustaining mental, physical and social well being. The self imposed or self defined rules elderly drivers use to navigate traffic or compensate for physical frailties are described in depth. The Safety of Elderly Drivers includes penetrating comments from elderly drivers who have been involved in serious accidents and from random elderly drivers speaking for their generation of drivers. Integrating statistical findings based on Motor Vehicle Department accident data and survey data with comprehensive interviews and discussions with elderly drivers, the book provides an empirically grounded in depth view of the elderly driver today. Rothe summarizes theories and models of aging along with past research on elderly drivers, projecting what the future may hold. If present trends in medicine, housing, politics, migration and mass transit continue, it closes with a series of recommendations for future traffic planning. This book will be of interest to policymakers concerned with traffic safety as well as social scientists and others interested in gerontological issues.

Handbook of Dementia Care Jean M. Stehman, 1996. Even in the earliest stages of progressive dementia, patients have difficulty evaluating their own needs and engaging in appropriate activities. A therapeutic program of care including constructive activities and behavior management is necessary for maximizing patients' functioning and quality of life. The Handbook of Dementia Care and its companion Training Manual and Video for Dementia Care Specialists offer a complete training system for teachers and students providing dementia care in a variety of settings. Developed at the well known George G. Glenner Alzheimer's Family Centers, the program's instructor's manual and student handbook are organized into six teaching modules: basic information on dementia, positive interaction techniques, supportive physical environment, therapeutic activities, group activities and family support. Each module is accompanied by a videotaped lecture and demonstration presentation to further illustrate the topic being discussed. This exciting project is a comprehensive instructional tool for dementia care professionals working in adult day centers, long term care and residential settings, hospitals, nursing homes and home health care agencies.
