Grasping the Nettle Chester A. Crocker, 2005 Among the unwelcome legacies of the past century are a group of conflicts both intrastate and interstate that seem destined never to end From Kashmir to Nagorno Karabakh Colombia to Sudan the Korean Peninsula to the Middle East these deeply entrenched intermittently violent conflicts have so far resisted all outside efforts to resolve them What lessons aside from the apparent futility of mediation can such dismal situations possibly offer As the distinguished contributors to Grasping the Nettle make plain this is not a rhetorical question Unyielding conflicts offer numerous insights not only about the sources of intractability but also about such facets of mediation and conflict management as how to gain leverage when to engage and disengage how to balance competing goals and who to enlist to play supporting roles The first part of this eye opening volume identifies and analyzes the defining characteristics and underlying dynamics of intractable conflicts The second part turns the spotlight on no fewer than eight current cases in each instance chronicling the conflict's evolution evaluating the internal and external factors that have conspired to prevent a settlement and assessing whether past peacemaking initiatives have in fact only aggravated the conflict The conclusion makes the point that even intractable conflicts eventually end and highlights the strategic approaches and tactical steps that have yielded success in the past for mediators and conflict managers from governments international organizations and NGOs

Australia in the 1920s an era which outlawed suicide an unidentified body has been found and police are treating the death as suspicious The story presents a chance for strangers the reader to peruse the very private diaries of the protagonists Intriguingly this is like peeping through the coin slot of a piggy bank to count the wealth inside Elsie has married Tom in an arrangement brokered by her brother Tom s job is delivering the Royal Mail and it takes him away from home for weeks at a time Vivacious imaginative young Elsie must entertain herself in their isolated unsophisticated bush hut Married women were not allowed to be financially independent Grasp the Nettle is not a fairytale lived happily ever after romance but a lode of accurate historical data balanced by details of underlined moral standards of life before the advent of reliable contraceptives and acknowledgement of gender diversity In those harsh times things that are commonplace for us today were yet to be invented like mobile phones internet communications and GPS There were not even engineered roads through country districts in this vast nation Australia Grasp the Nettle poses the question how did people cope with life s challenges

The Lisbon Recognition Convention at 15: making fair recognition a reality Sjur Bergan,Carita Blomqvist,2014-05-13 The Lisbon Recognition Convention developed by the Council of Europe and UNESCO is the main international legal text on the international recognition of qualifications and has been ratified by more than 50 countries Few Council of Europe conventions have achieved a greater number of ratifications and the political importance of the Lisbon Recognition Convention is very considerable The recognition of qualifications is a necessary if not sufficient condition for both student and labour mobility To mark the 15th anniversary of the convention this book examines some of the challenges to the international recognition of qualifications The convention is an essential legal text but it needs to be put into better practice How can learners use their degrees and qualifications in a new country without losing the real value of those qualifications The authors who come from a variety of backgrounds review the policies and practice of recognition link recognition to the broader higher education policy debate and consider the role of recognition in enabling individuals to move freely across borders Buddhist Christianity Ross Thompson,2010-08-27 It is possible to be a Christian Buddhist in the context of a universal belief that sits fairly lightly on both traditions Ross Thompson takes especially seriously the aspects of each faith that seem incompatible with the other no God and no soul in Buddhism for example and the need for grace and the historical atonement on the cross in Christianity Buddhist Christianity can be no bland blend of the tamer aspects of both faiths but must result from a wrestling of the seeming incompatibles allowing each faith to shake the other to its very foundations The author traces his personal journey through which his need for both faiths became painfully apparent He explores the Buddha and Jesus through their teachings and the varied communities that flow from them investigating their different understandings of suffering and wrong self and liberation meditation and prayer cosmology and God or not He concludes with a bold commitment to both faiths How to Think Like a Roman Emperor Donald J.

Chokepoints Natasha Tusikov, 2016-11-22 In January 2012 millions participated in the now infamous Internet blackout against the Stop Online Piracy Act protesting the power it would have given intellectual property holders over the Internet However while SOPA s withdrawal was heralded as a victory for an open Internet a small group of corporations tacitly backed by the US and other governments have implemented much of SOPA via a series of secret handshake agreements Drawing on extensive interviews Natasha Tusikov details the emergence of a global regime in which large Internet firms act as regulators for powerful intellectual property owners challenging fundamental notions of democratic accountability

Library Closures

Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee, 2012-11-06 Recent campaigns against the closure of local libraries have highlighted the strong attachment that many people feel to their library services However much of the focus of the campaigns has been on library branches rather than the broader question of the preservation and possible enhancement of the library service. Reductions in opening hours and the loss of professional staff may damage the service more than the closure of particular buildings. The provision of a library service is a statutory duty but a number of councils have drawn up plans that fail to comply with the requirement to provide a comprehensive and efficient service. A full assessment of the needs of the local population for the services is key. Guidance on how to assess local needs does exist but more must be done to disseminate it. Although the future of public libraries may be uncertain there is opportunity for reassessment of their roles and how they are organised. The Committee saw many examples of innovative thinking about what libraries can offer to the local population and a number of models of how those services might be provided. Councils which have transferred the running of libraries to community volunteers must continue to provide support otherwise failure may be viewed as closures by stealth. The Committee looks forward to the promised report by the end of 2014 on the cumulative effect on library services of the cuts in local authority provision and the promotion of alternatives such as transfers to community volunteers.

The volume also contains an introduction which presents one of the first significant reviews of pre colonial African military historiography ever attempted.
