Grassroots Indicators For Desertification Experience And Perspectives From Eastern And Southern Africa:

Grassroots Indicators for Desertification ,1996 Community Resilience under the Impact of Urbanisation and Climate Change Chirisa, Innocent,Mabeza, Christopher,2019-01-06 As the world today faces messy problems what in some circles has been called global weirding the term resilience has taken centre stage This is crunch time as we grapple with the negative effects of both climate change and urbanisation Some commentators have compared the huge problems we face today to Oom Schalk s proverbial leopard waiting for us in the withaak s shade Do we endlessly count Oom Schalk s proverbial leopard s spots This is the question posed by a stellar cast of academics researchers and experts whose contributions in this text is a rallying cry for action to build resilience to the challenging impact of urbanisation and climate change To that end this volume gives hope about the potential for human agency Our challenge however is to re examine our values to change our conservation conversation and return to a more wise and holistic understanding of ourselves and our place in the Universe Perhaps then only can the obituaries on our demise stay locked in the drawer Working with Indigenous Knowledge Louise Grenier,International Development Research Centre (Canada),1998 Working with Indigenous Knowledge A guide for researchers Conserving Biodiversity in Arid Regions J. Lemons,Reginald Victor,Daniel Schaffer,2012-12-06 On the eve of the World Summit for Sustainable Development WSSD held in autumn 2002 in Johannesburg South Africa United Nations Secretary General Kofi Annan recommended five specific areas as focal points of discussion for the global forum Water energy health agriculture and biodiversity In his address Towards a Sustainable Future delivered just four months before the WSSD Secretary General Annan contended that concrete progress in each of these areas often referred to by their acronym WEHAB would be key to improving the quality of life not only in the developing world but across the globe For most people I think it is fair to say that the inclusion of biodiversity in a list that focuses on basic human needs may not be self evident Water energy health and agriculture yes But why biodiversity The truth is that biodiversity is just as critical to global well being as water energy agriculture and health This is because biodiversity both drives and shapes nature s intricate and dynamic structure in an enduring form and force that enables both current and future generations to enjoy its bounty Extractive Industries in Arid and Semi-arid Zones Joachim Gratzfeld,2003 This publication aims to contribute to planning and management approaches that minimize land degradation and desertification in arid and semi arid zones as a result of extractive industries operations Both operational and policy guidance are included to help those government departments responsible for the licensing planning and monitoring of extractive industries activities to take account of environment and development issues in their decision making Remote Sensing of Natural Hazards Jay Gao,2023-06-16 This book presents a comprehensive coverage of remote sensing technology used to gather information on 12 types of natural hazards in the terrestrial sphere biosphere hydrosphere and atmosphere It clarifies in detail how to yield spatial and quantitative data on a natural hazard including its spatial distribution severity causes and the likelihood of occurrence The author explains multiple methods of attaining data describes the pros and cons of each method and encourages readers to choose the best method applicable to their case The author offers a practical approach to data analysis using the most appropriate methods and software 1 Covers all major natural hazards including hurricanes tornadoes wildfires and avalanches 2 Studies each natural hazard holistically ranging from spatial extent severity impact assessment causes and prediction of occurrence 3 Explains different remotely sensed data and the most appropriate method used 4 Compares different ways of sensing and clarifies the pros and cons of any selected data or their analysis 5 Provides ample examples of each aspect of a natural hazard studied augmented with graphic illustrations and quality assurance information All professionals working in the field of natural hazards senior undergraduate and graduate students will find in depth approaches and sufficient information to become knowledgeable in the methods of yielding and analyzing data provided with remote sensing technology ultimately providing a deeper understanding of natural hazards

Indigenous knowledge systems and climate change management in Africa Ajayi, O.C. (ed), Mafongoya, P.L. (ed), 2017-11-15 Climate change presents a profound challenge to food security and sustainable development in Africa Its negative impacts are likely to be greatest in the African region which is already food insecure In the face of global climate change and its emerging challenges and unknowns it is essential that decision makers base policies on the best available knowledge In recent years the knowledge of local and indigenous people often referred to as indigenous knowledge IK has been increasingly recognised as an important source of climate knowledge and adaptation strategies Transforming Gender and Food Security in the Global South Jemimah Njuki, John Parkins, Amy Kaler, 2016-11-25 Drawing on studies from Africa Asia and South America this book provides empirical evidence and conceptual explorations of the gendered dimensions of food security It investigates how food security and gender inequity are conceptualized within interventions assesses the impacts and outcomes of gender responsive programs on food security and gender equity and addresses diverse approaches to gender research and practice that range from descriptive and analytical to strategic and transformative The chapters draw on diverse theoretical perspectives including transformative learning feminist theory deliberative democracy and technology adoption As a result they add important conceptual and empirical material to a growing literature on the challenges of gender equity in agricultural production A unique feature of this book is the integration of both analytic and transformative approaches to understanding gender and food security The analytic material shows how food security interventions enable women and men to meet the long term nutritional needs of their households and to enhance their economic position The transformative chapters also document efforts to build durable and equitable relationships between men and women addressing underlying social cultural and economic causes of gender inequality Taken together these combined approaches enable women and men to reflect on gendered divisions of labor and resources related to food and to reshape these divisions in ways which benefit families and communities Co published with the International Development Research Centre      In Search of Living Knowledge Marja-Liisa Swantz, 2016-01-01 Marja Liisa Swantz has spent a lifetime conducting participatory action research in Tanzania and In Search of Living Knowledge encapsulates her reactions. She started her career in 1952 in Tanganyika as an instructor to the first generation of women teachers at Ashira Teachers Training College situated on the slopes of Mount Kilimanjaro. In the first years of Tanzania's independence from Britain she devoted five years 1965-1970 to participant research in a coastal Zaramo village near the capital city of Dar es Salaam. The research culminated in her book Ritual and Symbol in Transitional Tanzanian Society and a doctorate in Anthropology of Religion which she received from the Swedish University of Uppsala in 1970. The author further developed the Participatory Approach to research while serving as a Senior Research Fellow at the University of Dar es Salaam from 1972 to 1975. After becoming a lecturer at the University of Helsinki she continued to develop Participatory Action Research with Tanzanian and Finnish doctoral candidates in a project in Bagamoyo, Tanzania known as Jipemoyo. She continued to apply the participatory approach in research projects as Director of the Institute of Development Research at the University of Helsinki where she taught anthropology and as a Senior Researcher at the World Institute for Development Economics Research Institute in Helsinki in the 1980s. Since retirement the author has continued her research writing and participation in development projects in Tanzania including projects in Mtwara and Lindi from 1992 to 1998 and for 12 years while involved in a Local Government Cooperation project between Hartola in Finland and Iramba in Tanzania.

A Guide for Desert and Dryland Restoration David A. Bainbridge, 2012-09-26 Dryland degradation and desertification now affect almost a billion people around the world. Tragically the biological resources and productivity of millions of acres of land are lost to desertification each year because people remain unaware of strategies and techniques that could improve yields, reduce risk and begin healing the world's deserts. A Guide for Desert and Dryland Restoration is the first book to offer practical, field-tested solutions to this critical problem. Author David Bainbridge has spent more than 25 years actively involved in restoring lands across the American Southwest. A Guide for Desert and Dryland Restoration presents the results of his years of fieldwork as well as research and experience from scientists and practitioners around the globe. The book discusses the ecology of desert plants, explores the causes of desertification and land abuse and outlines the processes and procedures needed to evaluate, plan, implement and monitor desert restoration projects. It sets forth economical and practical, field-tested solutions for understanding site characteristics, selecting and growing plants and ensuring that they survive with a minimal amount of water and care. Each chapter represents a guide to a critical topic for environmental restoration; extensive photographs, diagrams and drawings give detailed information for immediate application and additional resources are included in appendixes. A Guide for Desert and Dryland Restoration is the first comprehensive book focused on restoring arid regions and clearly demonstrates that arid lands can be successfully rehabilitated. In addition to restorationists, the book will be an invaluable resource for anyone working in arid lands including farmers, ranchers, gardeners, landscapers, outdoor recreation professionals and activists      Coping with Natural Hazards Khadg Singh Valdiya, 2004 This book is a collection of twenty one papers presented during the symposium on Coping with Natural Hazards at University of Pune on 5 and 6 October 2001 This very successful symposium organised by the National Academy of Sciences outlined the strategies our country should adopt to be prepared to face hazards like earthquakes floods landslides avalanches cyclones droughts and desertification It contains papers by pre eminent scientists and leading lights like Professors M G K Menon P K Das D R Sikka and R K Bhandari and many others Each paper has been critically reviewed by atleast two experts in their respective fields

Knowing our lands and resources Roué, Marie, Césard, Nicolas, Adou Yao, Yves Constant, Oteng-Yeboah, Alfred, 2017-04-03      What is Indigenous Knowledge? Ladislaus M. Semali, Joe L. Kincheloe, 2002-09-11 First Published in 1999 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company      Breaking Ice Arctic Institute of North America, 2005 From the pressures of development technological advances globalization and climate change to social and cultural life this book attempts to define the nature of competing demands and assess their impact on the environment These essays provide a detailed examination of ocean and coastal management in the Canadian north exploring a wide range of issues critical to environmental stewardship and breaking the ice to connect academics government managers policy makers aboriginal groups and industry Book Jacket      Necroclimatism in a Spectral World (Dis)order? Artwell Nhemachena, Munyaradzi Mawere, 2019-06-25 Highlighting the problematiques of working with a narrow version of greenhouse effects or global warming this book posits the theory of necroclimatism that encompasses broader versions of greenhouse effects and global warming Conceiving cultures societies moral sensibilities epistemologies polities economies legal systems and religions of the formerly colonised peoples as greenhoused and entrapped in the heat of global apartheid and neo colonialism the book refuses to be confined to the pufferies of physical conceptualisations of greenhousing and global warming Underlining the supposed disposability and dispensability of colonised peoples the notion of necroclimatism explicates ways in which some people suffer various forms of death which have increasingly become a feature of global apartheid and neo colonialism that are cast in spectral sacrificial logics Deemed to constitute disposable bodies disposable cultures disposable polities disposable societies disposable epistemologies disposable religions disposable laws and disposable economies the sacrificed are in the age of climate catastrophism once again reminded that they have duties to die to become extinct in order to save the global spaceship that is sinking due to climate change and global warming This book therefore argues that in a sacrificial world dis order binaries between humans and animals good and evil moral and immoral the dead and the living necessarily vanish in the nefarious logic of what marks the era of climate catastrophism and the attendant necroclimatism The book further argues that a sacrificial world dis order is necessarily a posthumanist and postanthropocentric world dis order which should be never granted space in African worlds and even beyond The book thus raises fundamental questions for African anticipatory regimes and for this reason it is handy for scholars in political science sociology social anthropology
