Drawing on documents between 1794 and 1863 shows how the forms and symbols of manhood in pre colonial West Africa were destroyed by slavery and how male slaves strove to redefine what it meant to be an adult male in the absence of the communal discussion Captivity is shown to have erased not only the rites of manhood the functions and activities by which men fulfilled the social roles as warrior husband father and protector The reconstructed notions included such aspects as sexual performance absolute patriarchal domination of the household and the devaluation of and commitments that impinge on independence They seemed to be largely in place by the time slavery ended and African American men carried them into their new status Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
