The Quest for Jewish Belief and

Identity in the Graphic Novel Stephen E. Tabachnick, 2014-06-30 Many Jewish artists and writers contributed to the creation of popular comics and graphic novels and in The Quest for Jewish Belief and Identity in the Graphic Novel Stephen E. Tabachnick takes readers on an engaging tour of graphic novels that explore themes of Jewish identity and belief. The creators of Superman Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster, Batman Bob Kane and Bill Finger and the Marvel superheroes Stan Lee and Jack Kirby were Jewish, as was the founding editor of Mad magazine Harvey Kurtzman. They often adapted Jewish folktales like the Golem or religious stories such as the origin of Moses for their comics depicting characters wrestling with supernatural people and events. Likewise, some of the most significant graphic novels by Jews or about Jewish subject matter deal with questions of religious belief and Jewish identity. Their characters wrestle with belief or nonbelief in God as well as with their own relationship to the Jews, the historical role of the Jewish people, the politics of Israel and other issues related to Jewish identity. In The Quest for Jewish Belief and Identity in the Graphic Novel, Stephen E. Tabachnick delves into the vivid kaleidoscope of Jewish beliefs and identities ranging from Orthodox belief to complete atheism and a spectrum of feelings about identification with other Jews. He explores graphic novels at the highest echelon of the genre by more than thirty artists and writers among them Harvey Pekar American Splendor, Will Eisner A Contract with God, Joann Sfar The Rabbi's Cat, Miriam Katin We Are On Our Own, Art Spiegelman Maus, J. T. Waldman Megillat Esther, Aline Kominsky Crumb Need More Love, James Sturm The Golem's Mighty Swing, Leela Corman Unterzakhn, Ari Folman and David Polonsky Waltz with Bashir, David Mairowitz and Robert Crumb's biography of Kafka and many more. He also examines the work of a select few non-Jewish artists such as Robert Crumb and Basil Wolverton, both of whom have created graphic adaptations of parts of the Hebrew Bible. Among the topics he discusses are graphic novel adaptations of the Bible, the Holocaust, graphic novels about the Jews in Eastern and Western Europe and Africa and the American Jewish immigrant experience, graphic novels about the lives of Jewish women, the Israel-centered graphic novel and the Orthodox graphic novel. The book concludes with an extensive bibliography. No study of Jewish literature and art today can be complete without a survey of the graphic novel, and scholars, students and graphic novel fans alike will delight in Tabachnick's guide to this world of thought, sensibility and artfulness.

Revolutions provides a comprehensive overview of how human communication has changed and is changing. Focusing on the evolutions and revolutions of six key changes in the history of communication—becoming human, creating, writing, developing, print, capturing the image, harnessing electricity, and exploring cybernetics—the author reveals how communication was generated, stored, and shared. This ecological approach provides a comprehensive understanding of the key variables that underlie each of these great evolutions/revolutions in human communication. Designed as an introduction for history of communication classes, the text examines the past, attempting to identify the key dynamics of change in these human technical, semiotic, social, political, economic, and cultural structures in order to better understand the present and prepare for possible future developments.

BOOK JACKET Transmedial Narratology and Contemporary Media Culture Jan-Noël Thon, 2016-08-01

It has become something of a cliché within the field of narratology to assert the commercial, aesthetic, and sociocultural relevance of narrative representations, but the fact remains that narratives are everywhere. Whenever we read a novel or a comic, watch a film or an episode of our favorite television series, or play the latest video game, we are likely to engage with narrative media. Similarly, the intermedial adaptations and transmedial entertainment franchises that have become increasingly visible during the past few decades are at their core narrative forms. Since a significant part of contemporary media culture is defined by the narratives we tell each other via various media, the media studies discipline needs a genuinely transmedial narratology. Transmedial Narratology and Contemporary Media Culture focuses on the intersubjective construction of storyworlds as well as on prototypical forms of narratorial and subjective representation. It provides not only a method for the analysis of salient transmedial strategies of narrative representation in contemporary films, comics, and video games, but also a theoretical frame within which medium-specific approaches from literary and film narratology, from comics studies, and from game studies, and from various other strands of media and cultural studies may be employed to further our understanding of narratives across media.

Jan-Noël Thon is a research associate in the Department of Media Studies at the University of Tübingen, Germany. He is the coeditor of a number of books on narrative and media studies, including From Comic Strips to Graphic Novels: Contributions to the Theory and History of Graphic Narrative and Storyworlds across Media: Toward a Media-Conscious Narratology (Nebraska, 2014).
