African Climate Futures Carl Death, 2025-06-10 African Climate Futures shows how climate changed futures are imagined in Africa and by Africans and how these future visions shape political debates and struggles in the present. Scientific climate scenarios forecast bleak futures with increased droughts, floods, lethal heatwaves, sea level rises, declining crop yields, and greater exposure to vector-borne diseases. Yet African climate futures could also encompass energy transitions and socio-economic revolutions, transformed political agency and human subjectivities, and radically reparative more than human climate politics. At the heart of the book is an original and interdisciplinary approach. It studies official climate policy strategies and fictional texts side by side as ecopolitical imaginaries that envision low-carbon climate changed futures and narrate pathways from here to there. It discusses net-zero strategies from Ethiopia, The Gambia, Nigeria, South Africa, and Zimbabwe and draws on postcolonial feminist and queer theory, arguing that Africanfuturist climate fiction can inspire more radical reparative more than human ecopolitical imaginaries. These stories can help us to understand the debts we all owe, imagine what reparations might entail, and explore the contours of living convivially alongside more than human others in heterotopian climate changed futures. Stories can help explore how we might feel in climate changed futures and can help us to narrate a path through them. This book uses Africanfuturist climate fiction to inspire new ways of challenging and enriching theoretical debates in global climate change politics, including how we understand the places, temporalities, ecologies, and politics of climate futures. If we want to survive, to tell new stories in liveable futures, then we need to urgently and radically transform carboniferous capitalism.

Oxford Studies in African Politics and International Relations is a series for scholars and students working on African politics and International Relations and related disciplines. Volumes concentrate on contemporary developments in African political science, political economy, and International Relations, such as electoral politics, democratization, decentralization, gender, and political representation; the political impact of natural resources; the dynamics and consequences of conflict; comparative political thought; and the nature of the continent's engagement with the East and West. Comparative and mixed methods work is particularly encouraged. Case studies are welcomed but should demonstrate the broader theoretical and empirical implications of the study and its wider relevance to contemporary debates. The focus of the series is on sub-Saharan Africa, although proposals that explain how the region engages with North Africa and other parts of the world are of interest.

Series Editors: Nic Cheeseman, University of Birmingham; Peace Medie, University of Bristol; and Ricardo Soares de Oliveira, University of Oxford.

Narrative Dynamics Brian Richardson, 2002. This anthology brings together essential essays on major facets of narrative dynamics, that is, the means by which narratives traverse their often unlikely routes from beginning to end. It includes the most widely cited and discussed essays on narrative beginnings, temporality, plot, and emplotment, sequence, and progression, closure, and frames. The text is designed as a basic reader for graduate courses in narrative and critical theory across disciplines, including literature, drama, and theatre, and film. Narrative Dynamics includes such classic exponents as E. M. Forster on story and plot, Vladimir Propp on the structure of the folktale R S Crane on plot Boris Tomashevsky on story plot and motif M M Bakhtin on the chronotope and Gerard Genette on narrative time Richardson highlights essential feminist essays by Nancy K Miller on plot and plausibility Rachel Blau Duplessis on closure and Susan Winnett on narrative and desire These are complimented by newer pieces by Susan Stanford Friedman on spatialization and Robyn Warhol on serial fiction Other major contributions include Edward Said on beginnings Hayden White on historical narrative Peter Brooks on plot Paul Ricoeur on time D A Miller on closure James Phelan on progression and Jacques Derrida on the frame Recent essays from the perspective of cultural studies postmodernism and artificial intelligence bring this collection right up to the present
