Gender And National Identity Women And Politics In Muslim Societies:

Gender and National Identity Valentine Moghadam, 1994-06 This collection explores the gender dynamic of political movements from both theoretical and political angles to reveal how nationalism revolution and Islamization are gendered processes The book focuses on predominantly Muslim movements taking examples from several different countries

Gender and National Identity Valentine Moghadam, 1994-06-01 Gender politics exist inevitably in all Islamist movements that expect women to assume the burden of a largely male defined tradition Even in secular political movements in the Muslim world notably those anti colonial national liberation movements where women were actively involved women have experiences since independence a general reversal of the gains made This collection written by women from the countries concerned explores the gender dynamics of a variety of political movements with very different trajectories to reveal how nationalism revolution and Islamization are all gendered processes The authors explore women s experiences in the Algerian national liberation movement and more recently the fundamentalist FIS similarly their involvement in the struggle to construct a Bengali national identity and independent Bangladeshi state the events leading to the overthrow of the Shah and subsequent Islamization of Iran revolution and civil war in Afghanistan and the Palestinian Intifada This book argues that in periods of rapid political change women in Muslim societies are in reality central to efforts to construct a national identity

Gender, Race and National Identity Jackie Hogan, 2008-08-18 This book examines links between gender race and national identity by analyzing a range of mass mediated and pop cultural texts in four nations Australia Japan the United Kingdom and the USA Women and the Politics of Military Confrontation Nahla Abdo, Ronit Lentin, 2002-06-01 As the crisis in Israel does not show any signs of abating this remarkable collection edited by an Israeli and a Palestinian scholar and with contributions by Palestinian and Israeli women offers a vivid and harrowing picture of the conflict and of its impact on daily life especially as it affects women s experiences that differ significantly from those of men The auto biographical narratives in this volume focus on some of the most disturbing effects of the Israeli Palestinian conflict a sense of dislocation that goes well beyond the geographical meaning of the word it involves social cultural national and gender dislocation including alienation from one s own home family community and society The accounts become even more poignant if seen against the backdrop of the roots of the conflict the real or imaginary construct of a state to save and shelter particularly European Jews from the horrors of Nazism in parallel to the other side of the coin Israel as a settler colonial state responsible for the displacement of the Palestinian nation Women in Muslim Societies Herbert L. Bodman (Jr.), Nayyirah Tawhīdī, 1998 Authors from a variety of disciplines assess the issues facing women in Muslim societies not only in the Middle East but also in Africa and Asia They stress the importance of historical context local customs and policies in defining the status of Muslim women and examine how women are coping with challenges such as modernity and conservative reaction Gender and Identity Construction Feride Acar, Günes-Ayate, 2021-12-28 This volume deals with issues and problems of national and gender identity in Central Asia the Caucasus and Turkey Articles discuss experiences and position of women vis vis state intervention economic political and cultural change in both public and private spheres of life In the book the real life conditions and experiences of women are analyzed on three complementary levels The first of these is the economic and institutional circumstances shaped by structural adjustment policies globalization and transnational policies The second is realities of everyday life particularly pertaining to family religion tradition and education The third level is that of politics and ideology where national and nationalist discourses often build on the gender identity shaped by the economic and social levels The book does not only present a cross cultural analysis of women s position in the region but also reflects the varied perspectives of female scholars from many different countries and disciplines

Gender and Identity in North Africa

Abdelkader Cheref,2010-08-30 Literary fiction has always provided an outlet for social and political critique In the writing of key North African women authors the dissection of Maghrebi society is at the very heart of the narratives Here Abdelkader Cheref charts the rise of postcolonial literature written by women from the Maghreb and provides the first comparative analysis of three of the region s most prominent contemporary authors Assia Djeba Algeria Leila Abouzeid Morocco and Souad Guellouz Tunisia These writers are united in their depictions of a post independence socio political malaise in the Maghreb their explorations of marginalised women s voices and their own quests for their voices to be heard beyond the rigid constraints of patriarchy This book is essential comparative reading for students and researchers wishing to understand the connections between literature history and culture in postcolonial North Africa

Gender and Economics in Muslim Communities

Ebru Kongar,Jennifer Olmsted,Elora Shehabuddin,2017-08-25 Bringing together feminist analyses of economic processes and outcomes with feminist critiques of Orientalism this book examines the diverse economic realities facing women in a range of Muslim communities This approach pays special attention to the role of Islam in economic analyses of gender equality and women s well being in Muslim communities while at the same time challenging biased and inaccurate accounts that essentialize Islam Nuanced case studies conducted in Bangladesh Iran Israel Nigeria and Turkey illustrate the historical and institutional diversity of Muslim communities and draw vivid pictures of the everyday economic lives of Muslim women in these communities These studies are complemented by quantitative analyses that extend beyond inserting Islam as a dummy variable The contributions represent a wide range of disciplines including anthropology economics gender studies political science psychology and sociology By placing critiques of Orientalist scholarship in direct dialogue with scholarship on economic development in Muslim contexts this diverse collection illustrates how different methods and frameworks can work together to provide a better understanding of gender equality and women s well being in Muslim contexts In doing so the authors aim to facilitate conversations among feminist scholars across disciplines in order to provide a more nuanced picture of the situation facing women in Muslim communities This book was originally published as a special issue of Feminist Economics

Gender Politics In Sudan Sondra Hale,2018-10-08 Focusing on the relationship between gender and the state in the construction national identity politics in twentieth century northern Sudan the author investigates the mechanisms that the state and political and religious interest groups employ for achieving political and cultural hegemony Hale argues that such a process involves the transformation of culture through the involvement of women in both left wing and Islamist revolutionary movements In drawing parallels between the gender ideology of secular and religious organizations in Sudan Hale analyzes male positioning of women within the culture to serve the movement Using data from fieldwork conducted between 1961 and 1988 she investigates the conditions under which women s culture can be active generating positive expressions of resistance and transformation Hale argues that in northern Sudan women may be using Islam to construct their own identities and improve their situation Nevertheless she raises questions about the barriers that women may face now that the Islamic state is achieving hegemony and discusses limits of identity politics

Women, Ethnicity and Nationalism Robert E. Miller,Rick Wilford,2004-01-14 Women Ethnicity and Nationalism asks whether societies caught in political or social transition provide new opportunities for women or instead create new burdens and obstacles for them Using contemporary case studies each author looks at the interaction of gender ethnicity and class in a divided society The varying experiences of women are discussed in the following countries Northern Ireland South Africa the former Soviet Union and Yugoslavia Yemen Lebanon and Malaysia

Nationbuilding, Gender and War Crimes in South Asia Bina D'Costa,2012-07-26 This book gives a detailed political analysis of nationbuilding processes and how these are closely linked to statebuilding and to issues of war crime gender and sexuality and marginalization of minority groups With a focus on the Indian subcontinent the author demonstrates how the state itself is involved in the construction of a gendered identity and how control of women and their sexuality is central to the nationbuilding project She applies a critical feminist approach to two major conflicts in the Indian subcontinent the Partition of India in 1947 and the Liberation War of Bangladesh in 1971 and offers suggestions for addressing historical injustices and war crimes in the context of modern Bangladesh Addressing how the social and political elites were able to construct and legitimize a history of the state that ignored these issues the author suggests a critical re examination of the national narrative of the creation of Bangladesh which takes into account the rise of Islamic rights and their alleged involvement in war crimes Looking at the impact that notions of nation state and nationalism have on women from a critical feminist perspective the book will be an important addition to the literature on gender studies international relations and South Asian politics

Performing Islam Azam Torab,2007 Performing Islam focuses on a wide spectrum of ritual activities in Iran today as a key for elucidating social cultural and political processes but in particular the values and beliefs underpinning gender constructions in a rapidly changing complex society

Islam, Gender, & Social Change Yvonne Yazbeck Haddad,John L. Esposito,1998 The essays collected in this book place this issue in its historical context and offer case studies of Muslim societies from North Africa to Southeast Asia These fascinating studies shed light on the impact of the Islamic resurgence on gender issues in Iran Egypt Jordan Pakistan Oman Bahrain the Philippines and Kuwait Taken together the essays reveal the wide variety that exists among Muslim societies and believers and the complexity of the issues under consideration

Feminist Peace and the Violence of Communalism Emanuela Mangiarotti, 2024-07-22 This book examines how narratives of communal conflicts in south India affect Muslims women and the lower castes entrenching complex realities of marginalisation and violence Through extensive empirical research it traces a thread connecting the history of communalism in the south Indian city of Hyderabad with the reality of everyday life in so called riot prone neighbourhoods The chapters move between political discourse and daily life bringing attention to how minority voices navigate and mould the space of interfaith relations and community belonging and emphasising their political significance within a context dominated by narratives of communal conflicts The book concludes with a reflection on the entanglements of dominant conflict paradigms and the lived experience of marginality across multiple axes of difference positioning this interplay as crucial for understanding the multiple dimensions of political violence in contemporary societies This book will be of much interest to students of feminist peace research political violence Asian studies and International Relations

The State of Algeria Malika Rebai Maamri, 2015-10-12 Algeria s current politics are influenced by its colonial period under the French to an extent not seen in other North African and Middle Eastern states Indeed Malika Rebai Maamri argues that Algeria s postcolonial history and politics are in fact a series of attempts to come to terms with the dire consequences of this colonial past With over half a century having passed since independence the country is still struggling to create a unified Algerian identity and any discussion on the concept highlights how all too frequently the concept of identity can serve as a form of exclusion Exploring a wide range of issues in Algerian society such as the political cultural social economic and gender relations Rebai Maamri shows how belonging and citizenship are produced and perceived In doing so she offers in depth analysis of a country which is often side lined in the study of the Middle East and North Africa and yet is a vital component in the search for a post colonial identity and state in the region

Feminists, Islam, and Nation Margot Badran, 1996-04-01 The emergence and evolution of Egyptian feminism is an integral but previously untold part of the history of modern Egypt Drawing upon a wide range of women s sources memoirs letters essays journalistic articles fiction treatises and extensive oral histories Margot Badran shows how Egyptian women assumed agency and in so doing subverted and refigured the conventional patriarchal order Unsettling a common claim that feminism is Western and dismantling the alleged opposition between feminism and Islam the book demonstrates how the Egyptian feminist movement in the first half of this century both advanced the nationalist cause and worked within the parameters of Islam

A Social History Of Women And Gender In The Modern Middle East Margaret Lee Meriwether, 2018-02-12 Synthesizing the results of the extensive research on women and gender done over the last twenty years Margaret L Meriwether and Judith E

Tucker provide an accessible overview of the scholarship on women and gender in the nineteenth and twentieth century Middle East The book is organized along thematic lines that reflect major focuses of research in this area gender and work gender and the state gender and law gender and religion and feminist movements and each chapter is written by a scholar who has done original research on the topic Judicial Power and National Politics, Second Edition Patricia J. Woods, 2017-02-21 In Judicial Power and National Politics Second Edition Patricia J Woods returns to an issue that has only grown in relevance since the first edition's publication in 2008 the religious secular conflict in Israel The first edition focused on the role that courts and justices play in deeply charged political battles In the last quarter of the twentieth century social groups turned to the judicial arm of the state in an effort to force the state to change its laws and policies on religious personal status law or family law Through an extensive case study of the interactions of the women's movement with the High Court of Justice Woods argues that the most important determining factor explaining when why and how national courts enter into the world of divisive politics is found in the intellectual or judicial communities with whom justices live work and think about the law The interaction among members of this community over time culminates in new legal norms This second edition takes into account what has happened in the past decade with public debate over religion and the state moving away from the court and into the realm of popular politics on the Knesset floor in the media in shopping malls and on the streets Included for the first time is the dataset for the author's national survey of women's movement volunteers Routledge Handbook of Gender in South Asia Leela Fernandes, 2021-11-15 This new edition of the Routledge Handbook of Gender in South Asia provides a comprehensive overview of the study of gender in South Asia The Handbook covers the central contributions that have defined this area and captures innovative and emerging paradigms that are shaping the future of the field It offers a wide range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives spanning both the humanities and social sciences focusing on India Pakistan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka This revised edition has been thoroughly updated and includes new chapters thus adding new areas of scholarship The Handbook is organized thematically into five major parts Historical formations and theoretical framings Law citizenship and the nation Representations of culture place identity Labor and the economy Inequality activism and the state The Handbook illustrates the ways in which scholarship on gender has contributed to a rethink of theoretical concepts and empirical understandings of contemporary South Asia Finally it focuses on new areas of inquiry that have been opened up through a focus on gender and the intersections between gender and categories such as caste ethnicity sexuality and religion This timely study is essential reading for scholars who research and teach on South Asia as well as for scholars in related interdisciplinary fields that focus on women and gender from comparative and transnational perspectives
