Democratic Education as Inclusion Nuraan Davids, Yusef Waghid, 2022-02-18 Political and social expectations are often stymied and distorted by individual and communal identities creating vastly incongruent and unrelated lived experiences often within the same context Democratic Education as Inclusion explores how the existence and enactments of diversity continue to present ubiquitous epicenters of misreading misrecognition and missed opportunities for peaceful co existence whether in established or nascent democracies Nuraan Davids and Yusef Waghid study how the public sphere has never held the same meaning to all individuals or groups As such there are deep implications for differentiated experiences of citizenship between those who are included in the center of the sphere and those who are excluded on the margins This book explains the dyadic relationship between inclusion and exclusion and how it is not limited to the public sphere or to broader conceptions of democratic citizenship It is as apparent in educational settings presenting under explored complexities not only for teaching and learning but for the life experiences of participants in teaching learning Often the foundational norms put into place during educational initiations become the primary determinants of how young people conceive of themselves as citizens and how they conceive of themselves in relation to others

Women's Rights in Islam Asmaa Shehata, 2023-11-20 The issue of Muslim women's rights never seems outdated and has become trendy in the post 9 11 environment That is the mainstream media and Western politicians often view Muslim women as victims of male patriarchy and frequently justify Western involvement in the Middle East and in other Muslim majority countries at least in part to rescue women Within this realm Nawal El Saadawi is a famous Egyptian writer whose writings focus on the struggle of Muslim women and are widely read in the Middle East and many Western societies as well Because of her bold feminist views on politics religions and gender she is described as the Simone de Beauvoir of the Arab world After the death of El Saadawi in 2021 a flurry of arguments and criticism in the Egyptian press and women's press around the world is created in which different social media platforms were filled with numerous comments and discussions of her writings and arguments Whereas some mourned El Saadawi and her dedication to women s issues others celebrated her death wishing her the worst punishment in the afterlife for what they described as her destructive thoughts This monograph genuinely analyzes her views on five controversial issues marriage polygamy divorce inheritance rights and veiling in light of Qur anic exegeses offered by two classical scholars i e Muhammad ibn Jarir Al Tabari and Ismail ibn Umar Ibn Kathir and two contemporary Muslim feminists i e Amina Wadud and Azizah Al Hibri By taking a critical look at her views the book contributes not only to this ongoing debate but adds value to assessing El Saadawi s work and helps readers gain a greater understanding of her writings as well It also enables readers to comprehend the current tension between feminism and Islam by understanding the perspectives of both sides Since El Saadawi s writings are available in the Western countries the book would appeal to academics researchers on Islam and gender and Middle Eastern women as well as to lay audiences interested in women and gender in Muslim societies of color The Handbook of Comparative Communication Research Frank Esser, Thomas Hanitzsch, 2013-06-19 The Handbook of Comparative Communication Research aims to provide a comprehensive understanding of comparative communication research. It fills an obvious gap in the literature and offers an extensive and interdisciplinary discussion of the general approach of comparative research, its prospect and problems as well as its applications in crucial sub fields of communications. The first part of the volume charts the state of the art in the field, the second section introduces relevant areas of communication studies where the comparative approach has been successfully applied in recent years, the third part offers an analytical review of conceptual and methodological issues, and the last section proposes a roadmap for future research. Speaker Nancy Pelosi and the New American Politics Ronald M. Peters, Jr., Cindy Simon

Rosenthal, 2010-04-16 When the Democrats retook control of the U S House of Representatives in January 2007 after twelve years in the wilderness, Nancy Pelosi became the first woman speaker in American history. In Speaker Nancy Pelosi and the New American Politics, Ron Peters, one of America's leading scholars of Congress, and Cindy Simon Rosenthal, one of America's leading scholars on women and political leadership, provide a comprehensive account of how Pelosi became speaker and what this tells us about Congress in the twenty-first century. They consider the key issues that Pelosi's rise presents for American politics, highlight the core themes that have shaped and continue to shape her remarkable career, and discuss the challenges that women face in the male-dominated world of American politics, particularly at its highest levels. The authors also shed light on Pelosi's political background, first as the scion of a powerful Baltimore political family whose power base lay in East Coast urban ethnic politics, and later as a successful politician in what is probably the most liberal city in the country, San Francisco. Peters and Rosenthal trace how she built her base within the House Democratic Caucus and ultimately consolidated enough power to win the Speakership. They show how twelve years out of power allowed her to fashion a new image for House Democrats, and they conclude with an analysis of her institutional leadership style. The only full-length portrait of Nancy Pelosi in print, this superb volume offers a vivid and insightful analysis of one of America's most remarkable politicians. DIY House Shows and Music Venues in the US David Verbuč, 2021-09-29 DIY House Shows and Music Venues in the US is an interdisciplinary study of house concerts and other types of DIY do-it-yourself music venues and events in the United States, such as warehouses, all-ages clubs, and guerrilla shows, with its primary focus on West Coast American DIY locales. It approaches the subject not only through a cultural analysis of sound and discourse, as it is common in popular music studies, but primarily through an ethnographic examination of place, space, and community. Focusing on DIY houses, music venues, social spaces, and local and translocal cultural geographies, the author examines how American DIY communities constitute themselves in relation to their social and spatial environment. The ethnographic approach shows the inner workings of American DIY culture and how the particular people within particular places strive to achieve a social ideal of an intimate community. This research contributes to the sparse range of Western popular music studies, especially regarding rock punk and experimental music that approach their subject matter through a participatory ethnographic research
