Gender, Conflict, and Development Tsjeard Bouta, 2022 Gender, conflict and development
Bridget Byrne, 1996 Gender, Conflict and Development: Overview Bridget Byrne, 1996 Gender, Conflict and Development Project group Gender, Conflict and Development, 1995 Gender, Conflict and Development Bridget Byrne, 1996 Gender, conflict and development Bridget Byrne, Rachel Marcus, Tanya Powers-Stevens, 1996 Gender, Development, and Humanitarian Work Caroline Sweetman, 2001

While the difficulties of integrating gender equity goals into interventions are acknowledged the authors argue that gender blind responses can further endanger the survival of women and their families and their long term position in society and also deny them the opportunity of exercising their potential as peace builders

Conflict and Development Roger Mac Ginty, Andrew Williams, 2009-03-24 Over the past decade a new awareness of the relationship between conflicts and development has grown Developmental factors can act as a trigger for violence as well as for ending violence and for triggering post conflict reconstruction This book explores the complexity of the links between violent conflict usually civil wars and development under development and uneven development It emphasizes the connections between stable developed economies and civil wars in other parts of the world and examines how structural factors such as the organization of the global economy virtually condemn some regions to conflict and under development This valuable introductory text explains reviews and critically evaluates this complex relationship It focuses on intra state conflicts and complex political emergencies that combine transnational and internal characteristics Attention is also given to inter state conflicts Chapters emphasize how the relationship between conflict and development traverses many scales macro meso and micro and dimensions economic political and cultural Furthermore it explains how different developmental challenges and opportunities emerge along the full life cycle of conflict Specifically the role of poverty state market civil society globalization humanitarian aid refugees gender and health within conflict dynamics are examined The book also investigates specific developmental issues emerging during conflict management and post conflict reconstruction Both authors have a background in conducting research in deeply divided societies and argue that many of the processes connected with war and peace making deliberately write people out of the equation This book attempts to write people in By drawing on contemporary theoretical debates and examining current policies and events the text unpacks the difficult and complex aspects of the relationships between armed conflict and development and makes them accessible interesting and policy relevant It considers how peace making peace building and post war reconstruction are usually more sustainable and successful if politicians policy makers entrepreneurs and those working for international NGOs take on board local opinion and capacity Written in an accessible style the book considers the main contemporary theories and arguments on conflict development and the interactions between the two The text is illuminated throughout with case studies drawn from Africa the Balkans Asia and the Middle East

Conflict, Peace, Security and Development Helen Hintjens, Dubravka Zarkov, 2014-08-13 Whilst classical approaches linked development with peace security has become central to understandings of both war and peacetime This book uniquely reflects on how to deal with the convergence of war and peace in the context of global economic and geo political development It addresses methodological challenges in contemporary approaches to conflict violence security peace and development Two dominant contemporary approaches are selected for debate on methodologies and ethical choices rational choice and identity based theorizing The chapters are arranged as dialogues around contending approaches to better understand how the inter locking fields of violent conflict peace development and security can be researched and understood The book considers how theoretical and methodological approaches relate to different ethical and political choices including around engagement and intervention in the four interwoven fields Theoretical methodological and ethical issues emerge from the critical reviews of academic discourses and case study based chapters from across the world including Sri Lanka Ghana Colombia and Rwanda This book is an invaluable resource for postgraduate students and researchers in Development Studies Conflict Studies Peace Studies and Security Studies

Post-conflict Reconstruction and Development in Africa Theo Neethling, Heidi Hudson, 2013-10-01 Some of the bloodiest conflicts occur on the African continent An Afrocentric perspective is therefore a suitable starting point for research into the possible strategies for post conflict peacebuilding The authors of this book consider the problems around the concept of post conflict and the blurring of military and civilian roles analysing the UN roles in the DRC and Sierra Leone as well as the African Union Mission in Burundi The main context of the book however is the South African Army s strategy for PCRD in Africa which was developed with the African Union s 2006 Post Conflict Reconstruction and Development Needs Assessment Guide in mind This book emanates from this plan It therefore also explores South Africa s policy imperatives to integrate development projects and peace missions involving the military as well as civilian organisations While this book is not intended as an instruction manual it hopes to ignite an understanding of the particular processes required to develop a sustainable and cohesive post conflict peacebuilding strategy within the African environment

Heathcote, D. Otto, 2014-09-01 This book examines how the Security Council has approached issues of gender equality since 2000 Written by academics activists and practitioners the book challenges the reader to consider how women's participation gender equality sexual violence and the prevalence of economic disadvantages might be addressed in post conflict communities Demilitarisation and Peace-Building in Southern Africa Peter Batchelor, 2018-12-17 First published in 2004 this work is based on a collaborative research project this trilogy considers the dynamics of demilitarisation and peace building in southern Africa in the aftermath of major violent conflicts The overall aim of the research is to support and facilitate the achievement of sustainable peace and human development in southern Africa by analysing demilitarisation and peace building processes in the region and identifying policy options and interventions for peace building The central focus of the research is the extent to which demilitarisation following the termination of wars has contributed to broad processes of peace building in the affected region Has the military in southern Africa downsized and refocused towards new roles Has there been a peace dividend allowing more investment in economic and human development thereby dealing with some of the root causes of conflict Volume I provides a conceptual framework for the analysis of demilitarisation and peace building processes applicable particularly in the southern Africa context This volume argues that a broad concept of peace building has to take into account economic political social and cultural factors at the local national and regional level Gendered Insecurities, Health and Development in Africa Howard Stein, Amal Hassan Fadlalla, 2012 The concept of security has often narrowly focused on issues surrounding the protection of national borders from outside threats However a richer idea of human security has become increasingly important in the past decade or so The aim is to incorporate various dimensions of the downside risks affecting the generalized well being or dignity of people Despite this rising prominence the discourses surrounding human security have neglected to address the topic of gender particularly how issues of poverty and underdevelopment impact women s and men s experiences and strategies differently Since its introduction in the 1994 UNDP Human Development report the idea of human security has become increasingly influential among academics and international development practitioners However gendered dimensions of human security have not attracted enough attention despite their vital importance Women are disproportionately more vulnerable to disease and other forms of human insecurity due to differences in entitlement empowerment and an array of other ecological and socio economic factors These gendered insecurities are inextricably linked to poverty and as a result the feminization of poverty is a growing phenomenon worldwide The contributors to this volume rely on a gender focused analysis to consider a number of issues central to human security and development in Africa including food security environmental health risks discrimination within judicial and legal systems gendered aspects of HIV AIDS transmission and treatment technologies neoliberalism and poverty alleviation strategies and conflict and women s political activism The gender focus of this volume points to the importance of power relationships and policy variability underlying human insecurities in the African context The insights of this book offer the potential for an improved human security framework one that embraces a more complex and context specific analysis of the issues of risk and vulnerability therefore expanding the capacities of the human security framework to safeguard the livelihoods of the most vulnerable populations The Production of Gendered Knowledge of War Annika

Björkdahl, Johanna Mannergren, 2025-04-04 This edited volume critically investigates women s knowledge about war and explores the epistemic agency of women in a range of contemporary settings across the globe Women are deeply affected by war participate in war and resist war At the same time knowledge production often ignores and marginalizes women s experiences and gendered ways of knowing war From Colombia to Israel and Palestine Liberia Mali Myanmar Nepal North America Northern Iraq and Ukraine the chapters in this book illuminate gendered knowledge production in and about different conflict affected sites By taking the embodied and narrative epistemic agency of local knowers seriously new insights are thereby presented about the role women play in producing knowledge about war This book proposes new theoretical vantage points in order to understand how epistemic power and epistemic violence are closely related Bringing the topic of knowledge production into the so called Women Peace and Security WPS agenda it analyses how knowledge of the gendered nature of war and security is produced and circulated and argues that the WPS agenda is a system of knowledge with its own omissions and silences By theorizing gendered knowledge production and amplifying the voices of women as epistemic agents this book advances scholarship on gender and war This book will be of much interest to students of feminist studies peace studies war and conflict studies and International Relations The Introduction Chapter 3 and Chapter 9 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license Chapter 6 and Chapter 7 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Women, Gender Equality, and Post-Conflict Transformation Joyce P. Kaufman, Kristen P. Williams, 2016-10-04 The end of formal hostilities in any given conflict provides an opportunity to transform society in order to secure a stable peace This book builds on the existing feminist international relations literature as well as lessons of past cases that reinforce the importance of including women in the post conflict transition process and are important to our general understanding of gender relations in the conflict and post conflict periods Post conflict transformation processes including disarmament demobilization and reintegration DDR programs transitional justice mechanisms reconciliation measures and legal and political reforms which emerge after the formal hostilities end demonstrate that war and peace impact and are impacted by women and men differently By drawing on a strong theoretical framework and a number of cases this volume provides important insight into questions pertaining to the end of conflict and the challenges inherent in the post conflict transition period that are relevant to students and practitioners alike
