Gendered Colonialisms In African History:

Women in African Colonial Histories Jean Allman, Susan Geiger, Nakanyike Musisi, 2002-04-01 How did African women negotiate the complex political economic and social forces of colonialism in their daily lives How did they make meaningful lives for themselves in a world that challenged fundamental notions of work sexuality marriage motherhood and family By considering the lives of ordinary African women farmers queen mothers midwives urban dwellers migrants and political leaders in the context of particular colonial conditions at specific places and times Women in African Colonial Histories challenges the notion of a homogeneous African women s experience While recognizing the inherent violence and brutality of the colonial encounter the essays in this lively volume show that African women were not simply the hapless victims of European political rule Innovative use of primary sources including life histories oral narratives court cases newspapers colonial archives and physical evidence attests that African women s experiences defy static representation Readers at all levels will find this an important contribution to ongoing debates in African women s history and African colonial history

Women in African Colonial Histories Susan Geiger, Jean Allman, Nakanyike Musisi, 2002-04 While recognising the inherent violence and brutality of the colonial encounter the essays in this anthology show that African women were not simply the hapless victims of European political rule

Gender and Colonialism Lorena Rizzo, 2012 Deals with colonialism in a Namibian periphery and considers both the German colonial period as well as South African rule in the country The main is to develop an understanding of the dynamics and vectors of change in the Kaoko s African societies gradually being placed under colonial rule With a focus on socio economic processes the thesis explores the continuous reconstitution of gender roles and relations and anchors its argument on an integrated analysis of archival written and visual sources as well as on oral knowledge

The Oxford Handbook of Modern African History John Parker, Richard Reid, 2013-10-10 The Oxford Handbook of Modern African History represents an invaluable tool for historians and others in the field of African studies This collection of essays produced by some of the finest scholars currently working in the field provides the latest insights into and interpretations of the history of Africa a continent with a rich and complex past An understanding of this past is essential to gain perspective on Africa s current challenges and this accessible and comprehensive volume will allow readers to explore various aspects political economic social and cultural of the continent s history over the last two hundred years Since African history first emerged as a serious academic endeavour in the 1950s and 1960s it has undergone numerous shifts in terms of emphasis and approach changes brought about by political and economic exigencies and by ideological debates This multi faceted Handbook is essential reading for anyone with an interest in those debates and in Africa and its peoples While the focus is determinedly historical anthropology geography literary criticism political science and sociology are all employed in this ground breaking study of Africa s past

Gender in History Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, 2011-06-24 GENDER IN HISTORY Praise for the first edition Wiesner Hanks accomplishes a near impossible feat a review of what is known about the construction of gender and the character of women's lives in all known cultures over the course of human history. Theoretically sophisticated and doing justice to the historical and cross-cultural record yet assimilable by students. Choice. Gender in History brilliantly explores the influence of gender constructs in political, social, economic and cultural affairs. The remarkable cultural, geographical and chronological range of Wiesner Hanks' research is matched only by the sophistication, nuance and clarity of her analysis. This book offers a rare and valuable global perspective on gender roles in human history. Jerry H. Bentley, University of Hawaii. Over the past two decades, considerations of gender have revolutionized the study of history. Yet most books on the subject remain narrowly focused on a specific time period or particular region of the world. Gender in History: Global Perspectives, Second Edition, continues to redress this inequity by providing a concise overview of the construction of gender in many world cultures over a period stretching from the Paleolithic era to modern times. Thoroughly updated to reflect current developments in the field, the new edition features entirely new sections which address primates, slavery, colonialism, masculinity, transgender issues and other relevant topics. As in the well-received first edition, material is presented thematically to reveal the connections between gender and structures such as the family, economy, law, religion, sexuality and the state. Wiesner Hanks also investigates precisely what it meant to be a man or woman throughout history, how these roles were shaped by various institutions and how they in turn were influenced by gender. The author presents material within each chapter chronologically to highlight the ways in which gender structures have varied over time. The new edition of Gender in History: Global Perspectives offers rich insights into all that is currently known about gender roles throughout world history. Writing African History John Edward Philips, 2006. A comprehensive evaluation of how to read African history. Writing African History is an essential work for anyone who wants to write or even seriously read African history. It will replace Daniel McCall's classic Africa in Time Perspective as the introduction to African history for the next generation and as a reference for professional historians, interested readers and anyone who wants to understand how African history is written. Africa in Time Perspective was written in the 1960s when African history was a new field of research. This new book reflects the development of African history since then. It opens with a comprehensive introduction by Daniel McCall, followed by a chapter by the editor explaining what African history is and is not in the context of historical theory and the development of historical narrative in the humanities and social sciences. The first half of the book focuses on sources of historical data, while the second half examines different perspectives on history. The editor's final chapter explains how to combine various sorts of evidence into a coherent account of African history. Writing African History will become the most important guide to African history for the 21st century. Contributors: Bala Achi, Isaac Olawale, Albert Diedre, L. Badjo, Dorothea Bedigian, Barbara M. John Edwards Philips is professor of international society Hirosaki University and author of Spurious Arabic Hausa and Colonial Nigeria Madison University of Wisconsin African Studies Center 2000 Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Iris Berger, E. Frances White, 1999 These four volumes in this major series provide a single source reference to the status of the field of women's history and to ways that the field can be expanded A basic set for all academic libraries Library Journal Academic Newswire Berger and White focus on Sub-Saharan Africa tracing women's history from earliest times to the present By exploring their place in social economic political and religious life the authors highlight the changing societal position of women through shifts over time in ideas about gender and the connections between women's public and private spheres

Encyclopedia of African History 3-Volume Set KEVIN SHILLINGTON, 2005 The Palgrave Handbook of African Colonial and Postcolonial History Martin S. Shanguhya, Toyin Falola, 2018-01-28 This wide ranging volume presents the most complete appraisal of modern African history to date It assembles dozens of new and established scholars to tackle the questions and subjects that define the field ranging from the economy the two world wars nationalism decolonization and postcolonial politics to religion development sexuality and the African youth experience Contributors are drawn from numerous fields in African studies including art music literature education and anthropology The themes they cover illustrate the depth of modern African history and the diversity and originality of lenses available for examining it Older themes in the field have been treated to an engaging re assessment while new and emerging themes are situated as the book's core strength The result is a comprehensive vital picture of where the field of modern African history stands today Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Kathleen Sheldon, 2016-03-04 African women's history is a vast topic that embraces a wide variety of societies in over 50 countries with different geographies social customs religions and historical situations Africa is a predominantly agricultural continent and a major factor in African agriculture is the central role of women as farmers It is estimated that between 65 and 80 percent of African women are engaged in cultivating food for their families and in the past that percentage was likely even higher Thus one common thread across much of the continent is women's daily work in their family plot This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on individual African women in history politics religion and the arts on important events organizations and publications and on topics important to women in general marriage fertility employment and to African women in particular market women child marriage queen mothers This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the Women in Africa A History of Modern Africa Richard J. Reid, 2019-10-16 The new fully updated edition of the acclaimed textbook covering 200 years of African history A History of Modern Africa explores two centuries of the continent's political economic and social history This thorough yet accessible text help readers to understand key concepts recognize significant themes and identify the processes that shaped the modern history of Africa Emphasis is placed on the consequences of colonial rule and the links between the precolonial and postcolonial eras Author Richard Reid a prominent scholar and historian on the subject argues that Africa's struggle for economic and political stability in the nineteenth century escalated and intensified through the twentieth century the effects of which are still felt in the present day The new third edition offers substantial updates and revisions that consider recent events and historiography Greater emphasis is placed on African agency particularly during the colonial period and the importance of the long term militarization of African political culture Discussions of the postcolonial period have been updated to reflect recent developments including those in North Africa Adopting a long term approach to current African issues this text Explores the legacies of the nineteenth century and the colonial period in the context of the contemporary era Highlights the role of nineteenth century and long term internal dynamics in Africa's modern challenges Combines recent scholarship with concise and effective narrative Features maps illustrations expanded references and comprehensive endnotes A History of Modern Africa 1800 to the Present 3rd Edition is an excellent introduction to the subject for undergraduate students in relevant courses and for general readers with interest in modern African history and current affairs Africa After Gender? Catherine M. Cole, Takyiwaa Manuh, Stephan Miescher, 2007-02-07 Africa After Gender looks at Africa now that gender has come into play to consider how the continent its people and the term itself have changed Leading Africanist historians anthropologists literary critics and political scientists move past simple dichotomies entrenched debates and polarizing identity politics to present an evolving discourse of gender Gender and imperialism Clare Midgley, 2017-03-01 This book marks an important new intervention into a vibrant area of scholarship creating a dialogue between the histories of imperialism and of women and gender By engaging critically with both traditional British imperial history and colonial discourse analysis the essays demonstrate how feminist historians can play a central role in creating new histories of British imperialism Chronologically the focus is on the late eighteenth to early twentieth centuries while geographically the essays range from the Caribbean to Australia and span India Africa Ireland and Britain itself Topics explored include the question of female agency in imperial contexts the relationships between feminism and nationalism and questions of sexuality masculinity and imperial power The Twentieth Century Judith Margaret Brown, 1999 This text looks at the growth of vibrant often new national identities movements and new nation states that reshape the political map of the late 20th century world Gendering the Settler State Kate Law, 2015-11-06 White women cut an ambivalent figure in the transnational history of the British Empire They tend to be remembered as malicious harridans personifying the worst excesses of colonialism as vacuous fusspots whose lives were punctuated by a series of frivolous pastimes or as casualties of patriarchy constrained by male actions and gendered ideologies This book which places itself amongst other new imperial histories argues that the reality of the situation is of course much more intricate and complex Focusing on post war colonial Rhodesia Gendering the Settler State provides a fine grained analysis of the roles of white women in the colonial enterprise arguing that they held ambiguous and inconsistent views on a variety of issues including liberalism gender race and colonialism

Landscape, Environment and Technology in Colonial and Postcolonial Africa Toyin Falola, Emily Brownell, 2013-03-01 This volume seeks to identify and examine two categories of colonial and postcolonial knowledge production about Africa These two broad categories are environment and landscape and both are useful and problematic to explore Discussions about African environments often concentrate on Africans as perpetrators of their own land causing degradation from lack of knowledge and technology Landscape defines the category of knowledge produced by foreigners about Africa where Africans remain part of the scenery and yield no agency over their surroundings To flesh out these categories and explore their creation and how they have been deployed to shape colonial and postcolonial discourses on Africa this volume investigates the technological pastoral the points of convergence and conflict between Western notions of pastoral Africa and the introduction of colonial technology scientific ideas and commodification of land and animals Gendered Colonialisms in African History Nancy Rose Hunt, Tessie P. Liu, Jean Quataert, 1997-07-07 Focusing on African and European women and men five articles explore generational conflict connections between representation and violence the incorporation of gendered power into state formation memory and forgetting and consumption and commodity cultures Women and the Colonial Gaze Tamara L. Hunt, Micheline R. Lessard, 2002-06 Women and the Colonial Gaze is the first collection to present a broad chronological and geographical examination of the ways in which colonial powers have represented women in colonized native societies exploring the ways in which both colonizers and colonized have been affected by these perceptions
