Gendered States Feminist Revisions Of International Relations Theory:

Conscious Acts and the Politics of Social Change Robin L. Teske, Mary Ann Tétreault, 2000 Feminist Dialogues on International Law Gina Heathcote, 2019-01-17 In the past decade a sense of feminist success has developed within the United Nations and international law recognized in the Security Council resolution 1325 on women peace and security the increased jurisprudence on gender based crimes in armed conflict from the ICTR Y and the ICC the creation of UN Women and Security Council sanctions against perpetrators of sexual violence in armed conflict Contributing to the development of feminist and gender scholarship on international law Gina Heathcote provides a feminist analysis of the central pillars of international law noting the advances and limitations of feminist approaches Through incorporating into mainstream international legal studies specific critical and feminist narratives this book considers the manner in which feminist thinking has changed international law and the manner in which international law has remained impervious to key feminist dialogues It argues for a return to structural bias feminism that engages the foundations of international law and uses gender as a method for challenging post millennium narratives on fragmentation the role of international institutions the nature of legal authority sovereignty and the role of international legal experts Power, Postcolonialism and International Relations Chowdhry Geeta, Sheila Nair, 2013-10-15 Chowdhry and Nair along with the authors of this volume make a timely vital and deeply necessary intervention in international relations one that informs theoretically enriches our knowledge of the world through its narratives and forces us to confront the differentiated wholeness of our humanity Readers will want to emulate the skills and sensibilities they offer Naeem Inayatullah Ithaca College This work uses postcolonial theory to examine the implications of race class and gender relations for the structuring of world politics It addresses further themes central to postcolonial theory such as the impact of representation on power relations the relationship between global capital and power and the space for resistance and agency in the context of global power asymmetries Women, the State, and Political Liberalization Laurie A. Brand, 1998 Brand focuses on three countries Jordan Tunisia and Morocco with special attention to issues such as access to contraception and abortion labor pension criminal legislation protection against harassment and violence and the degree of women's participation in government Global Democracy, Social Movements, And Feminism Catherine Eschle, 2018-03-08 In Global Democracy Social Movements and Feminism Catherine Eschle examines the relationship between social movements and democracy in social and political thought in the context of debates about the exclusions and mobilizations generated by gender hierarchies and the impact of globalization Eschle considers a range of approaches in social and political thought from long standing liberal republican Marxist and anarchist traditions through post Marxist and post modernist innovations and recent efforts to theorize democracy and social movements at a global level The author turns to feminist theory and movement practices and particularly to black and third world feminist interventions in debates about the democratization of feminism itself Eschle discusses the ways in which such debates are increasingly played out on a global scale as feminists grapple with the implication of globalization for movement organization The author then concludes with a discussion of the relevance of these feminist debates for the theorization of democracy more generally in an era of global transformation

Critical Theories in International Relations Tayyar Ari, 2023-04-04 This edited book focuses primarily on contemporary debates and the critical and postmodern theories to be considered a significant contribution to the field This book shows that critical international relations theories which are incomprehensible and challenging are easy and understandable The book analyzes the Frankfurt School constructivism post colonialism feminism critical geopolitics political economy Copenhagen School Aberystwyth School Paris School and Ontological security Critical Theories in International Relations argues that neither identity nor security can be considered a fixed and objective issue can change according to time and space and depend on historical and sociological factors Nothing is given for critical approaches and they are produced and reproduced in ever changing conditions that lead to new truths and meanings These are the results of reflexive and non linear interactions In this context it is made pedagogically understandable to the readers within this framework

Gender and the Military Helena Carreiras, 2006-09-27 Women in the military and their relationship with war often provoke controversial reactions that reveal entrenched stereotypes and cultural values central to many societies This is the first comparative cross national study of the participation of women in the armed forces of NATO countries

After the Globe, Before the World RBJ Walker, 2010-04-05 This book explores the implications of claims that the most challenging political problems of our time express an urgent need to reimagine where and therefore what we take politics to be It does so by examining the relationship between modern forms of politics centred simultaneously within individual subjects sovereign states and an international system of states and the natural God given or premodern world that has been excluded in order to construct modern forms of political subjectivity and sovereign authority It argues that the ever present possibility of a world outside the international both sustains the structuring of relations between inclusion and exclusion within the modern internationalized political order and generates desires for escape from this order to a politics encompassing a singular humanity cosmopolis globe or planet that are doomed to disappointment On this basis the book develops a critique of prevailing traditions of both political theory and theories of international relations It especially examines what it might now mean to think about sovereignties subjectivities boundaries borders and limits without automatically reproducing forms of inclusion and exclusion or universality and particularity expressed in the converging but ultimately contradictory relationship between international relations and world politics

Writing Security David Campbell, 1992

Gendered States V. Spike Peterson, 1992-01-01 While IR theorists are increasingly critical of neorealist assumptions about the state and the international system few have explored the gendered construction of the state and its implications for IR Recognising this the authors of this collection explore how core concepts of political and IR theory the state sovereignty power are reframed through feminist lenses

Rethinking Caribbean Difference P. Mohammed, 1998

The Restructuring of International Relations Theory Mark A. Neufeld, 1995-09-14 Arguing for a theory of international politics committed to human emancipation this text suggests that international relations theory must move in a nonpositivist direction It explores recent developments in the discipline including critical Gramscian postmodernist feminist and normative approaches

Rethinking the Politics of Globalization Iain Watson, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002 Placed within the broad fields of International Relations and International Political Economy this book specifically focuses upon the conceptual and strategic debates concerning the relationship between social movements and the politics of globalization Outlining current theories concerning the activity and interaction of social movements and globalization Watson reconsiders this debate by mapping an alternative conceptual and strategic account of the politics of resistance to globalization Considering the responses of neoliberal institutions the book also assesses the implications of struggles for understanding the site and nature of political power and authority in the present and future global political economy This text is an important addition to the collections of those involved in issues that impact on international politics international political economy the politics of development and democracy third world politics and sociology

Barack Obama and Twenty-First-Century Politics Horace G. Campbell, 2010-08-06 Barack Obama has been called a transformative and transcendental political figure this book shows us just how significant the movement behind him was in reshaping the politics of the United States Horace Campbell examines the networks that made the 2009 electoral victory possible and discusses the importance of self organization and self emancipation in politics Developing a theory of politics that starts with the humanist principles of Ubuntu and draws in ecological spiritual anti racist and anti sexist principles Campbell suggests we move away from old forms of vanguardism reconceptualising political organisation and recognising that new social forces are at play

Fragments of Development Suzanne Bergeron, 2009-01-22 A bold and challenging consideration of questions of development economic globalization communities and subjectivity from a unique feminist perspective A must read book for those who wish to understand restructuring and resistance in this era of intensified globalization Isabella C Bakker York University Bergeron s pathbreaking analysis challenges orthodox development theories questions current feminist economic thinking and highlights crucial new gendered challenges to globalization Jane Parpart Dalhousie University Cutting edge scholarship Bergeron deftly engages the complexity of current debates while retaining clarity improving analyses and illuminating alternatives V S Peterson University of Arizona By tracing out the intersection between the imagined space of the national economy and the gendered construction of expert knowledge in development thought Suzanne Bergeron provides a provocative analysis of development discourse and practice By elaborating a framework of including excluding economic subjects and activities in development economics she provides a rich account of the role that economists have played in framing the contested political and cultural space of development Bergeron s account of the construction of the national economy as an object of development policy follows its shifting meanings through modernization and growth models dependency theory structural adjustment and contemporary debates about globalization and highlights how intersections of nation and economy are based on gendered and colonial scripts The author s analysis of development debates effectively demonstrates that critics of development who ignore economists nation stories may actually bolster the formation they are attempting to subvert Fragments of Development is essential reading for those interested in development studies feminist economics international political economy and globalization studies

Turkey-Syria Relations Özlem Tür, 2016-02-17 In 1997 Turkey and Syria were on the brink of war engaged in a very real power struggle Turkey was aligned with Syria s main enemy Israel and there were seemingly intractable differences on the issues of borders the sharing of river waters and trans border communities In less than a decade relations were transformed from enmity to amity Border issues and water sharing quarrels were moving towards amicable settlement and the two states policies toward the Kurdish issue converging Turkey undertook to mediate the Syrian Israeli conflict and close political and economic relations were developing rapidly between the two states Yet with the Syrian Uprising relations returned to enmity What explains these remarkable changes Given that Turkey and Syria are two pivotal states in the region what are the implications of this changing relationship for the international politics of the Middle East the balance of power and regional stability In this internationally collaborative work co edited by Raymond Hinnebusch and zlem T r British Syrian and Turkish scholars address these questions and examine the various domestic and international drivers in this key regional relationship They discuss what theories best help us understand these seismic realignments and explore the impact of economic interdependence identity changes and power balances on the evolving relationship between these two key regional powers

Women and War in Rwanda Georgina Holmes, 2013-10-25 Focusing on television media reporting of the 1994 genocide in Rwanda and its aftermath this book explores how African states directly involved in conflict western states with geopolitical interests in Africa s Great Lakes region militia groups human rights activists and NGOs use gendered media narratives strategically often engaging in politics of revisionism and denial to change the behaviour of other actors in the international system Critically analysing BBC documentary films and news features and drawing on interviews with British Rwandan and Congolese journalists filmmakers political commentators and human rights activists Georgina Holmes argues that documentary films and political discussion programmes are postcolonial contact zones wherein competing actors perform in an attempt to influence international political decision making on military and humanitarian intervention and public perceptions of genocide and war The book breaks new ground in understanding how Rwandan and Congolese women actively engage in producing and shaping international public discourse on genocide and war despite being depicted as silent passive victims of conflict This book is essential reading on the gendered dynamics of media reporting on conflicts and will appeal to anyone with an interest in Feminist Security Studies Political Communication Media and Film Studies African Studies Genocide Studies and International Relations Interrogating Caribbean Masculinities Rhoda Reddock, 2004 Annotation This anthology of new Caribbean scholarship on masculinities establishes masculinity studies as an important new area of research and theorizing in the Caribbean The content of this volume reflects a range of disciplinary approaches including anthropology history international relations literary criticism and art and installation The book is of interest for those teaching masculinity studies women and gender studies and for policy makers interested in gender relations in the Caribbean and the Caribbean diaspora BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Development in an Insecure and Gendered World Jacqueline Leckie, 2016-04-22 The Millennium Declaration was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in 2000 and explicit targets were set to eradicate key problems in human development by 2015 This collection focuses specifically on the goals relating to gender issues that are problematic for women The most relevant and contentious is that of promoting gender equality and empowering women The book provides an overview of this and investigates literature that considers how gender is central to achieving the other goals The contributors distinctively consider gender in the context of human security or insecurity the reduction and elimination of conflict would seem to be central to achieving targets One of the major themes of this collection is whether gender insecurity has been exacerbated in an increasingly insecure world The book considers not only military and civilian conflict in the contemporary era but also security in the broader sense of human development such as environmental reproductive and economic security Meanings of War and Peace Francis A. Beer, 2001 When the stakes of public words and actions are global and permanent and especially when they involve war and peace can we afford not to seek their meaning For three decades Francis Beer has pioneered the effort to discover describe and connect pieces of the complex puzzle of war peace their interrelationship and their causes In this volume Beer joined by colleagues as co authors of some chapters examines the cognitive behavioral and linguistic dimensions of war and peace Language he shows is important because it mediates between thought and action It expresses beliefs about war and peace and affects the perceptions of potential adversaries about one's own intentions Using multiple perspectives and methods he explores the uses of communication in international relations and the development of meaning for war and peace In this unique and innovative post realist analysis Beer examines how language transmits and creates meaning through interaction with specific audiences His case studies include the Somalian intervention Sarajevo and the Balkan conflict and the Gulf War Moving

beyond the discrete words of war the book takes a broader view of how political participants interact in war and peace through continuous streams of communication that reflect and construct worlds of meaning This stimulating and challenging volume brings together insights and evidence from political science cognitive psychology linguistics history and rhetorical studies and applies them in a focused way to the problem of war and peace
